CONSULTATIVE PACT IS DRAWN UP BY U. S. SEA PARLEY ENVOYS

Delegation Makes First Definite Step Toward Agreement.

TALK OF POLITICAL TREATIES SHUNNED

Four Separate Accords Will Be Signed if Work Succeeds.

AMERICANS PREPARE FOR CONTINGENCIES

Willing to Tell, When Asked, Just How Far Nation Will Proceed.

London, March 27 (A.P.).—A committee of the American delegation to the naval conference tonight completed a definite plan for American participation in a consultative pact among the naval powers if one is finally adopted by the conference. The nature of this plan was not disclosed.

This is the first move of a definite nature by the Americans in the direction of a consultative agreement. It is in accord with Secretary of State Stimson's suggestion that his colleagues should prepare their ideas on such a treaty as soon as possible.

Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, Senator Joseph T. Robinson and Ambassador Hugh Gibson worked for almost the whole afternoon and intermittently again in the evening to complete the plan.

This is only one among several suggestions that the delegation will have before it for consideration early next week.

Policy Is Shaped.

Decidedly out of the picture of conference activity during the negotiations between France, Great Britain and Italy, the Americans have been bending all their efforts to shaping a definite policy toward a consultative pact.

Ambassador Gibson and Senator Robinson devoted great attention to the question of what type treaty would be suitable. Mr. Gibson, a trained diplomat and long acquainted with such work in connection with the League of Nations, and Senator Robinson, who is one of the mainstays of the delegation on questions relating to domestic American politics, are expected to work closely together during the next few days on the whole problem of political pacts.

It was obvious in American circles tonight, however, that the delegates were very loath to discuss political agreements in any form. Most of them felt that too much American discussion might convince others the United States was ready to place before the other delegations the kind of political arrangement that was actually farthest from their intentions.

Contingencies May Arise.

In working on the subject, however, the Americans have in mind the possible necessity soon of meeting all sorts of contingencies relating to political agreements. They feel their principal duty now is to be prepared immediately to answer, at any time, the question is brought up, just how far the United States is willing to go when the various types of treaties are submitted for the Americans' consideration.

In order that there should be a sharp line of demarcation between such security and consultative agreements as may be devised at London, the Americans have practically decided to stand for the complete separation of any political pact from the limitation treaty.

In this way, as atthe Washington conference in the case of the four power Pacific pact and the submarine treaty, each pact could be signed and ratified by those nations that desired to associate themselves with it, leaving the United States free to refuse to accept any security pact, but able to associate itself with a consultative pact that met its desires.

Four Treaties Possible.

If the Americans gain their point, the London conference will almost inevitably produce four separate and distinct treaties—naval agreement, humanization of submarine warfare, a security pact for the Europeans, and a consultative pact for the Europeans and the United States.

The general impression is that Japan would be willing to sign a consultative pact on the same basis as the United States.

Just how long the negotiations to complete the work of the conference, if successful, will take could only be speculated upon tonight. While the three-power agreement was in the air, the conference was expected to end within a fortnight. Recent developments, however, wit hthe inclusion of wider political considerations, incline observers to believe that it will last for another month.

Text of U. S. Delegates' Statement on Position

The American delegation at London yesterday, according to the Associated Press, gave out the following statement as an outline of the American position:

"No responsible member of the American delegation has at any time the British or the French delegates urged or proposed to either gates any suggestion as to the solution of their problems at the naval conference. It is thoroughly recognized in the American delegation that problems must be solved by delegates directly concerned, and neither in the past nor in the future have or will the delegates attempt to intervene as between France and Great Britain.

"It therefore follows that reports regarding the activity of any particular American delegate in this sense are fictitious. Obviously the American interest in the conference and its success is vital, and in this period of uncertainty and conjecture one can not do better than reproduce the following extracts from the Hoover-MacDonald communique issued on the Rapidan:

"'The part of each of our governments in promotion of world peace will be different, as one will never consent to become entangled in European diplomacy and the other is resolved to pursue a policy of active cooperation with its European neighbors, but each of our governments will direct its thoughts and influence toward securing and maintaining the peace of the world.'"

SENATE FIGHTS PLAN PUSHED BY STIMSON

Body Will Not Consent to Political Consultative Pact, Is View.

HOOVER OPPOSITION SEEN

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Secretary Stimson's plan to revive the London naval conference by committing the United States to join Europe in a political consultative pact was met in advance here yesterday by unmistakable evidence that the Senate will never agree to any such proposition. Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee, took the lead in riddling the Stimson suggestion, and it is already apparent that Mr. Stimson has no authority to state that the American Government is open minded and willing to consider a consultative pact in conjunction with an offer of a security pact by Great Britain to France.

There is no indication that President Hoover has indorsed Secretary Stimson's inexplicable statement of Tuesday night concerning the readiness of the American delegation to yield in the matter of a consultative pact. Information from White House quarters was to the effect that the President did not expect the Stimson statement. But in any event the advance warnings served by senators yesterday make further efforts by Mr. Stimson along that line of little practical value so far as binding the United States is concerned.

Besides Senator Borah, there are Republicans, Democrats, Progressives and even Farm-Laborites irrevocably opposed to any sort of political pact, consultative or otherwise, no matter

Huge Obstacles Rise to Agreement of French and British.

FRANCE DEMANDS CUT IN FLEETS OF OTHERS

Britain Asserts It Can Slash No More Than Already Proposed.

COMMITTEE NAMED ON LEAGUE ARTICLE

Big Five Hold First Full Meeting in Weeks and Set Plenary Session.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, March 27 (N.Y.W.N.S.)—Tremendous difficulties arose today in the way of Great Britain and France obtaining mutual satisfaction from each other in regard to the latter's demand for security and the former's insistence that the French fleet should be radically cut in return for such a guarantee.

Two obstacles to reconciliation of the British and French views emerged at a meeting at the foreign office between Foreign Minister Artistide Briand and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson.

The French foreign minister stated that if France cuts her announced naval program, she will expect the other participants in the London naval conference to reduce their fleets "proportionately." At the same time Mr Henderson made it clear that the British government can assume no military commitments in excess of those it already has. It is difficult to see how these two conflicting objectives can be reconciled.

U. S. Entrance Understood

The discussion between M. Briand and Mr. Henderson of the possibility of a security pact which would enable the powers to reduce their tonnage figures was based entirely on the understanding that the United States will join in a consultative capacity. The outcome of their talk was appointment of experts to commence the work of drawing up an agreement giving precision to the obligations imposed in the event of danger of war under Article XVI of the League of Nations covenant.

The experts named are Sir Robert Van Sittart, permanent undersecretary of state for the foreign office; Robert Leslie Craigie and H. W. Malin, also of the foreign office, and Rene Massigio, chief French technical adviser.

Despite American initiative, which is the only reason the five-power parley still lives, the clash between British and French views was so clearly evident today that the position can not be described as hopeful. The experts start their labors subject to British instructions that any military commitments on the part of Great Britain in excess of those already assumed are to be ruled out.

Conflict With Briand's Goals.

This formula is difficult to dovetail with the two objectives which M. Briand has put forward since his return to London. First, he wants a treaty whereby Article XVI of the covenant is converted from the optional application of penalties at the request of the league council to the binding obligation of the signatories to carry out the decision of the league council against an aggressor. This will be difficult, probably impossible, to impose on the British,

District Committee Chiefs, Budget Head, Civilians and Commissioner Asked.

A permanent commission to solve the thorny problem of fiscal relations between the Federal Government and the District Government was proposed yesterday in a bill introduced in the House by Representative R. Walton Moore (Democrat), of Virginia.

The present fiscal policy, whereby the Federal Government contributes a lump sum of $9,000,000 a year toward the cost of running the city, Representative Moore said, is nothing more than "guess work," a year-by-year conjecture."

The commission, proposed by Mr. Moore, would be composed of nine men—the chairmen of the Senate and House District committees, the chairmen of the Senate and House appropriations committees, a Commissioner of the District of Columbia, the director of the bureau of the budget, and three local residents to be appointed by the President.

Moore Explains Bill.

"The bill contemplates," Mr. Moore said, "that the commission shall from time to time make a thorough investigation, and every four years, beginning in December, 1931, when the Seventy-second Congress will meet in regular session, report its recommendations to Congress touching the division of expenditures.

"It is also authorized to make other recommendations to Congress relative to legislation and administration pertaining to the local government.

"The work of the commission would not involve any large cost, which is to be shared equally by the Federal and District governments, and it is at least conceivable that it would make for coherence and improvement in the existing status."

Constant Agitation Cited.

INVITATION PLANNED FOR WET REBUTTAL

Enforcement Commission's Padlock Recommendation Reported Favorably.

Toronto, Ontario, March 27 (A.P.). Premier Howard Ferguson, of Ontario, indicated today that he would decline if an invitation were tendered him to appear before the judiciary committee of the United States House of Representatives in its investigation into prohibition conditions.

"I am sure the committee will realize," he said, "that it is undesirable that the prime minister of this province should attempt to influence the trend of legislation in a friendly foreign country."

Representative Linthicum (Democrat), of Maryland, wet block leader, had said he would invite Mr. Ferguson as a rebuttal witness to former Premier E. C. Drury, a confirmed prohibitionist.

Linthicum Backs Invitation.

Mr. Ferguson said, however, that if the committee wished to send "an officially accredited representative" to Ontario to gather data the government would "give any information we may have that he thinks will be of value."

(Associated Press.)

The government control of liquor in Canada will be defended by Premier George Howard Ferguson, of Ontario Province, if he accepts an invitation from the wet forces to testify before the House judiciary committee in answer to charges by former Premier E. C. Drury, of Ontario, that the system "is an absolute failure."

Plans to invite Ferguson were announced late yesterday by Representative Linthicum (Democrat), Maryland, in charge of wet witnesses. He also said that Pierre S. Du Pont, of Wilmington, Del., industrial magnate, also would be a rebuttal witness to answer charges of dry advocates who assailed him in the hearings.

$300,000 Item for Mart Is Retained After Vote of 86 to 40.

$45,333,117 TOTAL OF FINAL MEASURE

Act as Finally Approved Includes Virtually All Major Riders.

SIMMONS DECLARES TAX BOOST COMING

Schools, Police and House of Detention Placed Under Fire.

After a bitter fight over the $300,000 item for a Farmers Produce Market in Southwest Washington, the House passed the District of Columbia appropriation bill for 1931 yesterday and sent it to the Senate.

A motion to strike from the bill the $300,000 for the market was voted down 86 to 40, following a lively debate in which one member apologized to another one for his remarks.

As passed by the House, the appropriation bill carries a total of $45,333,117, just $1,200 less than the bill called for originally. It is by far the largest appropriation bill in the history of the city.

In opening debate on the bill, Representative Robert G. Simmons (Republican), of Nebraska, chairman of the appropriations subcommittee that wrote it, warned that a tax boost was coming and accused school officials of "wanton extravagance."

Police Are Criticized.

Representative William Holaday (Republican), of Illinois, ranking member of the subcommittee, criticized police officials and the judges and again scored the House of Detention for extravagance in buying food supplies.

When the bill passed shortly after 6 o'clock virtually all the major items and legislative riders were intact, although several were subjected to a fight.

The fight against the $300,000 item for the Farmers Produce Market was opened by Representative Underhill (Republican) of Massachusetts, who moved that the item be stricken from the bill. The expenditure, he said, was unnecessary and unjust, for neither the farmers nor the consumers wanted the market.

Charges of "Interests."

Charges that the appropriation was in the interest of certain railroads and certain real estate interests were made in the debate that followed, and for a time it looked like the Underhill motion might be carried.

Chairman Wood, of the appropriations committee, got into the debate eventually, and declared that to strike out the $300,000 item would be a breach of faith on the part of the House, and a refusal to carry out the mandate of a previous Congress which passed the bill authorizing the appropriation.

Chairman Simmons, of the District subcommittee, took issue with his chief, saying that the appropriation would be a waste of the taxpayers' money. He had been against the item when the bill was being drawn, he said, but had been overruled by Chairman Wood and the full committee.

South Backs Market.

Representatives Holaday (Republican), of Illinois; Gambrill (Democrat), of Maryland; Cochran (Democrat), of Missouri; Hudson (Republican), of Michigan, joined in the fight against the market appropriation, while Representatives Murphy (Republican), of Ohio; Stalker (Republican), of New York; Byrnes (Democrat), of Tennessee; Hall (Republican), of Indiana; Hare (Democrat), of South Carolina, and Quin

MICHIGAN PARK FIRE CAUSES NEW PLEAS

Company Needed in eHart of Section, Is Assertion as House Burns.

LOSS BY DELAY IS CITED

Michigan Park residents last night renewed their appeals to District officials for additional fire protection in the northeast section of the city following a blaze which practically destroyed a frame house on Sargent road near the District line.

As a result of the fire, William M Deviny, president of the Michigan Park Citizens Association, charged that inadequate facilities and time required for the nearest companies to reach the scene caused the heavy loss, whereas a fire company located in the heart of the section might have been able to save the house.

The house, owned by Mrs. I. S. Frazier, but unoccupied when the blaze was discovered, had the upper floor completely burned away while one side wall collapsed during the fire.

Firemen encountered considerable difficulty in getting water onto the blaze with Mr. Deviny was responsible for the statement last night that it was 8:56 before a line reached the house, whereas the local alarm on the fire was received at 8:35 o'clock.

On the local or telephone alarm Engine Company No. 17, located and Monroe streets northeast and Truck No. 4, New Jersey avenue and M street northwest, responded. Engine 17 is equipped with only 2,000 feet of hose, fire officials reported, and as the burning home was nearly a mile

GRUNDY ENTRENCHED IN RACE FOR SENATE

DAVIS STILL OPPONENT

Philadelphia, March 27 (A.P.).—Senator Joseph R. Grundy, candidate for election to the United States Senate seat he now holds by appointment, is still in the field for the Republican nomination.

It was authoritatively announced tonight that the senator's petitions for the Republican nomination would be filed in Harrisburg next Monday, the last day for taking such legal action.

If the senator had any intention of withdrawing from the race as a result of the action of his running mate, Samuel S. Lewis, in getting out of he contest for the gubernatorial nomination, he has changed his mind.

There were widespread rumors that the Pennsylvania senator, dissatisfied with the support he was receiving from State leaders, might announce his withdrawal from the senatorial contest. Color was given to this when Warren P. Doane, one of Mr. Grundy's representatives, was quoted last night as saying the senator would issue a statement today.

Late this afternoon Mr. Doane announced there would be no statement and tonight it was given out that the senator's nominating petitions would be filed.

It was authoritatively made known that Mr. Grundy was in touch all day with political and business friends in

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., March 27.—Death stalked in the wake of a family quarrel and claimed the lives of four sisters ranging in age from 16 months to 8 years here today. They were asphyxiated while playing with what they believed to be a novel toy, a gas kitchen range.

The dead, all daughters of Lester and Mrs. La Rue Shields, of Boyds, Montgomery County, are Mary Lucille, 8 years, old; Myrtle Estelle, 5 years old; Elsie Yvonne, 3 years old, and Helen, 16 months old.

Mrs Shields, who is 35 years old, and her husband quarreled yesterday morning; so the wife took their children and fled to her sister, Mrs. Joseph H. Bussard, at Frederick, in search of sympathy. Mr. Shields sought refuge for his ruffled feelings on his farm.

Justice of the Peace Sherman P. Bowers, as acting coroner, after a conference with Sheriff William C. Roderick, announced that he was convinced the deaths had been accidental and that no inquest was necessary. He said that while he did not link the husband with the tragedy, he was seeking the man to question him briefly, following the woman's statement that Shields had hit her with clubs and stones in a chase at Boyds.

When Mrs. Shields and the girls reached here at 10 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Bussard, unaware of the impromptu visit, was attending a church conference in town. As is the custom, however, she left her front door unlocked, so Mrs. Shields and her children walked in and made themselves at home.

Wishing to learn the whereabouts of her sister, Mrs. Shields locked the door and left the girls shortly afterward to call on a neighbor, Mrs. Agnes Grimes, for about 20 minutes. When she returned the Bussard residence was filled with gas, and the children lay stretched lifeless on the kitchen floor.

Mrs. Shields explained that she locked the door of the room occupied by the children to prevent her husband from entering and taking them away, in case he should have followed them.

Frantically, the mother carried their limp bodies to the back porch and fresh air, while she screamed for help. The Frederick Fire Co. and four physicians responded to the alarm broadcast by neighbors, but their efforts were futile. A pulmotor was brought into play, but finally the doctors announced resuscitation work was useless.

Nurses and doctors of the Frederick City Hospital, which is near the Bussard home, assisted in the attempt to revive the girls. Oxygen was obtained from Hagerstown. Some hope was held for a while for the oldest girl, and physicians worked with her for several hours before pronouncing her dead.

Mrs. Shields collapsed as her husband and sister were notified of the tragedy.

Investigation showed that all the gas jets on the kitchen stove had been turned on by the children at play. Mrs. Bussard explained later that the children, unfamiliar with the danger because of their rearing on a farm, had never before been permitted to touch the stove.

Funeral arrangements had not been made early last night, but it is probable that the bodies will be returned to Boyds for burial.

Artist Tells of Relations With Squaw Model on Trial

Buffalo, N. Y., March 27 (A.P.).—Henri Marchand, artist, took the witness stand today to tell of an intimacy without love with Lila Jimerson, Seneca Indian on trial for plotting the murder of his wife.

His relations, he told the jury and a packed courtroom, were established and maintained in the name of "professional necessity;" they constituted his method of geeting a reluctant model to pose for his Indian Museum groups.

The method, Marchand testified, had been used with other Indians in other places, notably on a Canadian reservation.

He did not know, he told the court, that Lila, disappointed when his attentions ceased, had plotted, as charged by the State, to have old Nancy Bowen, Cayuga Indian, kill Straw Ballot Indicates Majority Against Dry Law.

The District of Columbia is definitely in the wet column and desirous of either repeal or modification of the eighteenth amendment and Volstead law in the Literary Digest's Nation-wide straw vote, according to the third week's tabulation of more than a million votes, which will appear in Saturday's issue of the periodical. Out of a total of 5,672 votes cast, 2,694 were for repeal; 1,636 for modification, and 1,341 for enforcement.

(Democrat), of Mississippi, lined up in support of it.

Of the 86 members who voted against the Underhill motion, many were Southern Democrats who held that the Southwest market would benefit their farmer constituents at home. Representative Green, of Florida, declared that to kill the item would be to take $100,000 a year away from his farmers.

Chairman Simmons told the House that he had planned to remain silent when the market item was reached, but he said he could not let pass a remark that had been made by Representative Murphy, of Ohio. The latter had said that there seemed to be something "subtle" about the opposition to the market. Simmons said he resented this and was concerned only about the expenditure of the taxpayers' money.

Fight Not Yet Over.

Mr. Murphy told Simmons that in using the word subtle he had not meant to cast any reflections on any members.

The fight on the market item is not yet over, for Senator Tydings (Democrat), of Maryland, plans to make another attempt to eliminate it when the bill reaches the Senate.

When that section of the bill requiring rookie policemen to have an eighth-grade education was reached yesterday, Representative Cochran, of Missouri, sought to have it eliminated, but his motion was defeated. He claimed that not even Sergt. Alvin York, the World War hero, could get a job on the local force if this provision was enacted, but Representative Holaday insisted on its retention, saying that it would improve the efficiency of the department.

Taxi Measure Defeated.

Representative Cochran also was defeated when he sought to graft onto the bill the McLeod bill to require taxicab owners to show that they can satisfy claims for damages.

The provision in the bill to reduce the number of kindergarten teachers and use the surplus teachers in other grades was retained in the bill in different language after Representative Hull (Republican), of Wisconsin, had knocked out the original provision on a point of order. The substitute offered by Chairman Simmons immediately afterward will have the same effect as the original.

Simmons Outlines Taxes.

Among the amendments to the bill approved was one to provide for the paving of streets around the E. V. Paul Junior High School. The provision authorizing the expenditure of $20,000 for additional equipment for the Bryant street pumping station was stricken out on the motion of Chairman Simmons.

In his speech opening the debate on the bill, Chairman Simmons had this to say about future taxation in the District:

"The District of Columbia must face the facts. If the standard set in this bill is to be followed next year it will be necessary for the Commissioners to fix a tax rate of $1.90. (The rate now is $1.70 on $100 of assessed value.) Actually the District is at that rate now, but the tax bill will not reflect it until next year. Here again the passage of the police and firemen salary bill will bring the annual rate to about $2 if the standards set in this bill are to be followed."

Officials "Hog Wild."

In his excoriation of the school officials, Chairman Simmons said they have run "hog wild" in buying supplies for the schools.

"There has been wanton extravagance in the expenditure of school funds," he said. "The rights of the taxpayer and the rights of the child in the schools have alike been ignored, while educational luxuries and needless accessories have been purchased for the use of a favored few and to please the vanity of those who serve in Washington schools."

For that reason, he said, the committee had provided in the bill that future expenditures for school supplies would have to get the approval of the District Commissioners. There was some objection to this provision in the debate, but it still is in the bill.

Wants Elective Board.

Chairman Simmons said that either the Board of Education should be elected by the people here, or should be abolished and the schools operated as a department of the city government, with the superintendent and other employes answerable to the Commissioners.

Representative Hall (Republican), of Indiana, reminded Chairman Simmons that there is now before his subcommittee of the House District committee a bill to provide for the popular election of the school board.

Representative Holaday read to the House a sort of "honor roll" of city officials, and in doing so deliberately left out the names of the Commissioners, Maj. Henry G. Pratt, chief of police, and Albert Harris, the municipal architect.

Lists "Capable Men."

"I will mention but a few of the many capable and efficient men in the various departments of the District government," Holaday said, and he listed these:

Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, the auditor; William P. Rochards, the assessor; Maj. Donald A. Davison, Maj. L. E. Atkins, and Capt. Hugh P. Oram, the Assistant Engineer Commissioners; Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, of the highway department; J. B. Gordon, the sanitary engineer; Dr. George F. Bowerman, the librarian; Dr. W. C. Fowler, health officer; George S. Wilson, director of the public welfare; and Fire Chief George S. Watson.

Representative Holaday said that one reason the Police Department has been in trouble is because the outgoing Commissioner in charge of that department (Proctor L. Dougherty) "has not had a proper conception of his duty."

Relies on Crosby.

Representative Holaday said he had complete confidence in the ability of Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, who has been nominated to succeed Commissioner Dougherty, and he pledged him the support of the appropriations subcommittee.

As for the public school system, Mr. Holaday said that it was the "least efficient" of the major departments in the local government.

Although he denied that the local Police Department was the "worst in the world," Representative Holaday declared that it was not what it should be and can be made. The unsatisfactory conditions that exist, he said, were caused by the low qualifications set for candidates for the Police Department, lack of proper organization, lack of scientifically trained men and adequate equipment, and delay in the trial of criminal cases in the courts.

Detention House Hit.

"We find men in key positions," he said, "with reputations that are incompatible with efficient public service."

The House of Detention, he said, "is the most extravagant and inefficient unit of the entire District government," and he told how it had stored large supplies of food in a local police station.

Mr. Holaday charged that the courts here are from six months to two years behind with their work. Notwithstanding this, he said, the four judges of the Police Court hold court an average of 3 hours and 24 minutes a day.

The five judges of the Municipal Court, he said, sit 2 hours and 6 minutes a day, and the judges of the District Supreme Court, 2 hours and 53 minutes a day. In addition, he said, they take a vacation of three months each year.

Advocates Court Improvement.

"This condition in our courts can be improved," he said, "by a change in the law enlarging the jurisdiction of the Municipal Court. The appointment of judges will not bring about complete remedy for the existing condition; it must come through a new conception of public duty on the part of some of the judges now sitting."

Representative Linthicum (Democrat), of Maryland, evidently was not greatly impressed by Mr. Holaday's contention that local taxpayers here get more for their dollar than those in other cities of comparable size, and said so quite frankly.

Representative Abernethy (Democrat), of North Carolina, said that he believed the District would fare better if the citizens and the newspapers here stopped "picking on Congress."

Senator Hiram Bingham (Republican), of Connecticut, chairman of the Senate appropriations subcommittee that will consider the District bill, conferred with District Auditor Donovan yesterday, and afterward announced that hearings on the bill would start at 10 o'clock Monday morning. The hearings will be held behind closed doors.

TUNNEY VINDICATED IN $500,000 ACTION

GENE, WIFE IN CAR CRASH

Bridgeport, Conn., March 27 (A.P.). For the first time in nearly a year James (Gene) Tunney, retired world's heavyweight boxing champion, was free tonight of the court litigation in which he became involved last year with the filing of two $500,000 suits against him.

John S. Fogarty, of Fort Worth, Tex., in Superior Court, today withdrew his $500,000 alienation of affection suit, filed last May against the retired champion. Recently, a judgment in favor of Mr. Tunney was breach of promise suit brought against him last July by Mr. Fogarty's wife, Mrs. Catherine King Fogarty. The withdrawal of Mr. Fogarty's suit was accepted by Judge Edward M. Yeomans. Counsel for Mr. Tunney said in court that no monetary settlement had been made.

Depositions taken in various parts of the country by counsel for Mr. Fogarty in preparation for the action and other records in the case were ordered impounded by Judge Yeomans through a stipulation of the agreement and will be kept under seal by the clerk of the court.

Mr. Fogarty, in his suit, charged that his wife, now a resident of Boston, had started divorce proceedings against him in Fort Worth at Mr. Tunney's behest. The retired champion, Mr. Fogarty further charged, had promised to marry Mrs. Fogarty if she obtained the divorce.

Stuart, Fla., March 27 (A.P.).—Gene Tunney, former world's champion heavyweight boxer, and his wife, the former Polly Lauder, were in an automobile collision near here last night, but both escaped injury.

Elderly Man Is Injured During Chase After Hat

Undetermined injuries to the head and face were received by Samuel Croop, 74 years old, of Clarkston, Mich., when he fell on a roadway in the Monument Grounds at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon while running for his hat which had blown from his head.

He was taken in a passing taxicab to Emergency Hospital, where attendants reported that he was in a condition sufficiently serious to warrant him staying there possibly for several days, or longer.

URGES LIBRARIES FOR BLIND

Miss Helen Keller (right), who brought herself out of the darkness and silence of total blindness and deafness, appeared yesterday before a House committee to urge that branch libraries for the blind be established throughout the country, as sought in a bill introduced by Representative Ruth Pratt, of New York (left).

INCOME TAX TOTALS PASS HALF BILLION

PLAN MANY PROJECTS

(Associated Press.)

Receipts from the first quarter's payment of the tax on 1929 incomes were shown yesterday to have reached $542,432,341 on last Tuesday.

This was taken at the Treasury as an indication that the estimates of the department of a total of more than $5[illegible]0,000,000 for the month would be borne out.

The collections on March 25 were $9,783,624, which left the [illegible] $36,000,000 less than collected in the same number of days in [illegible] at March and the indicated aggregate for the month approximately $50,000,000 less than the $601,000,000 collected in March last year.

At the time the tax reduction was decided upon Treasury experts had predicted that there would be a surplus of $225,000,000 at the end of the 1930 fiscal year. The tax reduction, however, was estimated to amount to $[illegible]0,000,000, half of which would come out of the 1930 fiscal year and the other half out of the 1931 fiscal year. This left an indicated surplus of $145,000,000. Since then the Farm Board has been given $100,000,000, but there is a possibility that this money will not be expended until after next June 30.

With an indicated surplus of $45,000,000 if the Farm Board appropriation is used this year any unexpected appropriations by Congress would endanger the balance and a large expenditure might wipe it out. If tax receipts for the second quarter, however, come up to the expectations aroused by the first quarter's receipts the Government will end the fiscal year with its budget balanced.

Regardless of the outlook for balancing the budget the Government's building program will be carried on for the remainder of the year at an increased speed. The money to provide for this will come out of the Treasury over a period of years and will not affect the present year, for which appropriations already have been made.

In addition to starting new projects under the terms of the Keyes-Elliott bill passed this week the Treasury plans to spend $50,000,000 or more from former appropriations in carrying on this work, which will include 50 to 100 projects authorized before but not started.

Capital Is Honor City In Prevention of Fires

Washington is listed with five other large "honor" cities in fire prevention activities for 1929 in the national interchamber fire waste contest won by Philadelphia, according to announcement by the National Fire Waste Council in a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Philadelphia in winning the grand prize also received first place among class I cities of more than 500,000 population by showing a greater decrease for the year in the number of fires with losses above $1,000. With Washington among honor cities in this group were Milwaukee, Detroit, Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

FISCAL BOARD ASKED FOR DISTRICT IN BILL

question as to how the cost of conducting the government of the District of Columbia should be divided—what part should be paid from the Federal revenue and what part from the District revenue. At that time a 50-50 ratio basis was in effect. Later the ratio basis was modified so as to impose 60 per cent on the District and 40 per cent on the Treasury. Still later, some five or six year ago, when the District appropriation bill was under consideration, the Holman rule being invoked, the ration basis was abandoned and the annual contribution of the Federal Government fixed at $9,000,000, and that figure is still used, with the result that at this time the Federal contribution is said to be less than 22 per cent of the total. Nine million is the amount carried in the present bill.

"Those who opposed the ratio plan argued, among other things, that it was illogical and wholly unwarranted in view of the fact that conditions vary from time to time, so that in some years a heavier liability and expense are cast on the District Government because of the value and care of the property belonging to the Federal Government than in some other years.

"Accordingly, they contended that any inflexible ratio plan is incapable of being defended. On the other hand, it was contended that the ratio plan had long received the approval of Congress and that it has the effect of insuring stability and relieving the situation of uncertainty.

Arbitrary Sum Unwarranted

"I do not see how those who oppose that plan as too rigid and as possibly sometimes imposing on the Federal Treasury a greater liability than it should bear, can deny that their argument applies with the same force to the lump sum appropriation method. A contribution of $9,000,000 is arbitrary.

A few years ago it might have been more or it might have been less than the Federal Government should pay. Today there are many who assert that the amount is too small, and perhaps there are some in the House who asert it is too large.

There is thus a controversy which can not be appreciably quieted so long as the view of any one member of the House or Senate, however able and well informed, or the view of any small subcommittee of the House committee on appropriations, however able and well informed, is to be accepted as final.

The character and processes of the government of the District are determined exclusively by Congress, in which the people of the District are unrepresented, and it must be admitted that it is the duty of Congress to make the government as satisfactory as possible and to remove if it can any ground for continual doubt and agitation in respect to a matter of major importance.

Agency Advcie Needed.

"In order to proceed in that direction I entertain the opinion, which I have long held, that Congress should have the benefit of the opinion and advice of some agency constituted and equipped to investigate all of the facts and periodically recommend to Congress at limited intervals what the division of expense in fairness and justice should be.

"My belief is that there is no other way of properly meeting the attack upon the present policy which is hardly more than a year by year conjuncture as to the proportion to be paid out of the Federal Treasury and the proportion to be paid out of the District revenue—an extraordinary guessh work kind of legislation. It seems to be that there is no other method of tranquilizing a situation which is marked by a great deal of confusion.

"I am today introducing a bill to which I invite the serious attention of the District committee."

Chamber Head Lauds Bill.

Charles W. Darr as president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce last night sent to Representative Moore a letter thanking him for introduction of the bill, and expressing indorsement of the organization.

"This proposal is one of special interest to the Chamber of Commerce," declared Mr. Darr. "About two years ago our committee on District finance, after careful study, recommended several changes in the local tax system, chief among which was the creation of a properly constituted fiscal relations commission.

"This body, it was urged, should make a thorough investigation with the aid of expert assistants of the local tax situation and then recommend to Congress such changes as may be warranted by the actual facts."

Hoover Receives Report Of Haitian Commission

DEMOCRATS FAVOR SENATE RULE SHIFT

Committee of Whole to Be Abolished if Minority Has Its Way.

ALLEGED ABUSES CITED

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Still smarting under the breakdown of their tariff cause, Senate Democrats plan to make a fight for a change in Senate rules as soon as the tariff is out of the way.

The purpose is to do away with the committee of the whole by which the Senate considers every measure that comes before it twice. Heretofore, formal Senate consideration has been a perfunctory procedure, but in the case of the tariff it proved to be the vehicle by which the coalition forces were overturned and the bill virtually rewritten in the fini days of its consideration.

Senators Harrison and Swanson are the ones who are marshaling the forces for the fight to eliminate the committee of the whole from Senate procedure. In their opinion it serves no useful purpose but does permit of just such occurrences as in the case of the tariff.

Difference in House Cited.

The committee of the whole, it is pointed out, is essential to transaction of business by the House in that 100 instead of 435 members is a quorum and also a different parliamentary procedure governs debate. Sitting as a committee of the whole permits of a freer consideration of any measure.

But in the Senate there is no limit on debate at any time except by agreement or application of cloture, and the latter is seldom used. The identical procedure prevails when that body is sitting as a committee of the whole as it does when sitting as the Senate proper.

Indeed, the Vice President or the president pro tem of the Senate presides over the committee just as he does over the Senate.

How Committee Reacted.

In the tariff consideration just concluded the Senate had voted against increase in the sugar levy, against a tariff on lumber and also against one on cement. But in the second votes taken after the Senate proper had taken up consideration of the bill these previous votes were overturned.

If the committee of the whole is eliminated, the only way by which a second vote can be had would be by a move to reconsider.

The Republican regulars will very probably fight the move, if for no other reason than that the present rules served a good purpose in the fight just ended. The belief, however, is that the Progressives will join with the Democrats.

Statement by Swanson.

In a statement issued through the Democratic national committee yesterday Senator Swanson declared that under the present rules, no matter can be considered settled in the Senate until there have been four roll calls. He explained that there is a vote in the committee of the whole and then a vote to reconsider and an exact duplication of this procedure in the Senate proper.

"The glaring foolishness of this method of procedure was illustrated in the tariff bill just passed," he said. "Most items were considered five or six times in the Senate before being finally disposed of. No legislative body in the world has such a clumsy, inconsistent method of disposing of legislation. In addition the present rules give an opportunity, when a matter is considered in the Senate, for all kinds of trades and combinations, which is very undesirable."

In the meantime, a way seems to have been worked out by the House leaders by which Democrats and agricultural Republicans, particularly the latter, can save their face and yet scuttle the debenture. It is proposed to bring in a rule Monday, when the tariff is taken up, which will permit of separate votes on sugar, lumber and cement.

Plan Held Agreeable to All.

The strange thing, or maybe it is not so strange, is that this plan seems agreeable to all sides. Yet separate votes on lumber and cement mean hardly a thing in the world. The difference between the House and Senate rates is so narrow that the "demand" of the agricultural Republicans and Democrats for separate votes on them before the bill is sent to conference seems to be but a gesture, something with which they can go to their constituents and say: "Look what our demands got for you."

If by the separate vote on sugar the House conferees are instructed to accept the Senate rate of 2 cents on raw Cuban sugar an accomplishment of a sort may be claimed.

The significant thing is that there is no demand being made for a separate vote on the debenture.

Taxi War Looms, Union Men Assert

35-Cent Rate Carriers Are Causing Drivers to Lose Jobs.

Competition from a growing number of 35-cent "city proper" taxicabs, and their alleged employment of nonunion drivers at lower percentages has driven many meter cabs from operation and may cause a taxicab war of far-reaching proportions, union officials stated yesterday.

Although several operators of meter cabs denied that they were forced to keep cabs idle, the local taxicab drivers' union reported 300 meter cabs out of operation as a direct result of inroads made by the four 35-cent cab lines now in operation here.

E. C. Hayford, business agent of the chauffeurs' union, the local organization affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, said that nonunion drivers of the 35-cent lines would be blacklisted if the lines refused to employ union men. Operators of these companies, he declared, are paying their drivers only 30 per cent of their daily fares, while the meter cab drivers are getting 40 per cent. Action by Congress, Mr. Rayford said, will be necessary before the row can be satisfactorily settled.

Libraries in Capital Praised by Dr. Ryan

Washington has what is probably the finest and most complete library system in the United States, if not the world, the Right Rev. James A. Ryan, president of Catholic University, told members of the Cosmopolitan Club yesterday at their weekly luncheon at the Carlton Hotel.

Mgr. Ryan said the Library of Congress is one of the finest in the world and that in addition there were from 30 to 40 private libraries of note in the city. He referred to the Catholic University Library, which has 400,000 volumes, many of them unduplicated in this country.

LOBBY GROUP PLANS QUIZ ON PROHIBITION

TO BE LAST OF HEARINGS

(Associated Press.)

Methods employed by dry and wet organizations in supporting or opposing the prohibition laws, together with the amount of money expended, will be investigated by the Senate lobby committee.

Chairman Caraway, of the committee, said yesterday the inquiry would begin as soon as the investigation of persons and organizations interested in Muscle Shoals is completed. W. B. Bell, president of the American Cyanamid Co., who has been called for next Tuesday, is expected to be the last Muscle Shoals witness.

Meanwhile, a report on the Muscle Shoals investigation is being prepared for submission to the Senate when it reconvenes April 1 after a brief vacation. The report, Senator Caraway said, will discuss the activities of Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee and former president of the Tennessee River Improvement Association, which had advocated the Cyanamid Co.'s proposal to lease the power and nitrate plant.

No Resolution Planned.

Senator Caraway added that his committee would not introduce a resolution of censure for Mr. Huston's action in collecting money from the Union Carbide Co. for the Tennessee association and depositing it in his personal brokerage account. He said he had heard reports, however, that such a resolution would be presented by some one not a member of the committee.

It was testified before the committee that the money in Huston's brokerage account was used as margin for purchasing stocks.

"All the committee will do," Caraway explained, "is to report the facts to the Senate."

The lobby chairman said the prohibition inquiry in all probability would include the Antisaloon League and the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. He indicated that representatives of other organizations also would be called, but definite plans have not been made.

Some of the committee members are out of the city and a program will not be mapped out until they return. Senator Caraway said the committee would not inquire into the merits of prohibition, but would seek to learn only the methods employed by the organizations and how much money they spent.

Tinkham First Witness.

Representative Tinkham (Republican), Massachusetts, a wet, probably will be the first witness. He has asked permission to appear before the lobby committee to advocate an investigation of the Federal Council of Churches and the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals.

Whether these organizations will be investigated by the committee will be decided after Representative Tinkham has testified.

Senator Caraway said he hoped the prohibition inquiry would terminate the activities of the lobby committee, which has been holding hearings for more than five months. He estimated the prohibition investigation would not require more than two weeks.

"The committee was appointed to make an investigation of lobbying," he explained. "I think we have brought to light the activities of lobbyists and I don't see any use of prolonging the investigation. We could remain in session indefinitely, but I don't see any use of it."

Neville Is Resting Following Stroke

Maj. Gen. Wendell C. Neville, commandant of the Marine Corps, was reported resting comfortably at the Naval Hospital last night after suffering "a very slight stroke" Wednesday morning.

The Navy Department withheld the information until yesterday afternoon, when Acting Secretary Ernest Lee Jahncke issued a belated report that the commandant had entered the hospital, quoting an official statement of Rear Admiral Charles E. Riggs, Medical Corps, U. S. N., surgeon general and chief of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery of the Navy.

"Maj. Gen. Neville had a very slight stroke yesterday morning, and was transferred to the Naval Hospital about noon," the report read. "This morning he is improved, and there remains only a small amount of loss of function of the right hand and foot. It is expected that he will remain at the hospital about two or three weeks."

Visitation Campaign Head Here Tomorrow

The Rev. A. Earl Kernahan, of Chicago, will arrive in Washington tomorrow to take charge of the evangelical visitation campaign for the next two weeks. He will be met at the train by members of the religious survey general committee.

Radio engagements, talks and instruction meetings will engage Dr. Kernahan's entire time while in the city. A schedule of not less than 30 brief talks have already been arranged for him on Sunday. The religious census among colored churches has been closed, and more than 6,000 family cards have been turned over to the 30 cooperating pastors.

SENATE.

Not in session.

Chairman Caraway, of the lobby committee, said an inquiry into the methods employed and the amount of money spent by dry and wet organizations supporting or opposing the prohibition law will be started as soon as the Muscle Shoals investigation is completed.

HOUSE.

Met at 12 and adjourned at 6:20 to 12 today.

Passed and sent to the Senate the District of Columbia appropriation bill, carrying a total of $45,333,117.

Speaker Longworth said that no definite agreement had been reached on the rule under which the House will consider the tariff bill.

Accepted Senate amendments on the Elliot bill authorizing $230,000,000 for public buildings.

Representative Moore (Democrat), West Virginia, introduced a bill establishing a permanent commission to recommend to Congress the amount the Federal Government should contribute to the expenses of the District of Columbia annually.

Representative Linthicum, leader of the wet bloc, announced he would invite Premier G. Howard Ferguson, of Ontario, Canada, to answer the statement of E. C. Drury, former premier of Ontario, before the judiciary committee that government control of liquor had failed.

Postoffice subcommittee approved the Kendall bill providing a 44-hour week for postal employes.

Helen Keller appeared before the library committee and urged that branch libraries for the sightless be established all over the country.

Judiciary committee favorably reported the Christopherson bill authorizing service by publication of padlock injunctions on absentee owners of speak-easies and other nuisances.

Representative Dickstein (Democrat), New York, introduced a bill exempting from quota restrictions, immigrant husbands of American citizens.

Representative O'Connell (Democrat), New York, stressed the importance of friendly trade relations with South America and the maintenance of a large modern American merchant marine.

Representative McSwain (Democrat), South Carolina, introduced a bill giving veterans, who are listed in the War Department records as deserters, compensation benefits until the United States had furnished proof of the offense before a grand jury.

600 Inspectors Dropped From Drive on Fruit Fly

(Associated Press.)

The dropping from the rolls of approximately 600 inspectors engaged in Mediterranean fruit fly work, and the discontinuance of the entire field inspection branch of the fruit fly service was made known yesterday at the Agriculture Department.

Lee A. Strong, chief of the plant quarantine section of the department, said elimination of the field work and the inspection force had been made necessary to conserve the dwindling funds available for the fruit fly work.

NEW RIOT QUELLED IN MISSOURI PRISON

STERN WARNING ISSUED

Jefferson City, Mo., March 27 (A.P.).—An uprising of more than 1,200 convicts in the Missouri Penitentiary today, the second within 24 hours, was speedily put down with the use of tear bombs and clubs to subdue about 400 of the most rebellious prisoners, and drastic disciplinary measures were put into effect tonight to prevent further disorders.

Twenty convicts were injured, none seriously, in the melee, which took place at noon in the main prison dining room after 750 convicts had refused to leave the hall. Prison guards and State militiamen dislodged about 400 of them after the others had filed outside under threat of an attack.

Earlier in the day a strike against work by more than 500 convicts had forced suspension of operations at prison factories and about 80 per cent of the penitentiary's population had been locked in cells.

No shots were fired during the riot, but machine guns were trained on the prison court, scene of the disorder. The convicts had no weapons.

Situation Well in Hand.

Warden Leslie Rudolph said tonight the situation was well in hand, but he was uncertain as to whether the backbone of the mutiny, in evidence for some time, had been broken. He said no effort probably would be made to operate factories tomorrow.

In a ringing address late today in the main prison court yard to 600 to 800 convicts who did not take part in today's disorders, Warden Rudolph laid down a new and drastic set of penitentiary rules designed, he said, to make this a real prison instead of a kindergarten.

"We are through with methods of leniency," the warden shouted as he paced up and down in front of the silent group within earshot of cell houses containing the rebellious convicts. "We are going to clamp down and run this penitentiary on a hard-boiled basis. We are going to grant no special privileges."

Convicts Quit Work.

Today's clash climaxed a rebellion which started immediately after breakfast when 50 convicts refused to go to work in the chair factory, and which spread rapidly to five other factories where convicts, with no threat of violence, simply quit work.

The riot in the main dining room was started by the same 750 who yesterday mutinied for two hours without violence because they objected to stew that was fed them for lunch. Today they ate their food, but when the signal to leave was given, they stubbornly refused to move from their tables until routed.

Later in the day Warden Rudolph received reports from convicts that the outbreak was planned overnight as a general strike with a possible attempt to burn two or more of the factories so as to get out of work. Investigation into these reports was ordered.

Brickbats & Bouquets

By JAMES HAY, JR.

MUCH to the surprise of the political seers, the ladies who are leaders among the extremely arid "drys" neither tore their hair nor gnashed their teeth when they read that Mr. Wickersham, in his statesman-like testimony before the Senate judiciary committee, had qualified his prohibition-enforcement optimism with a flock of "if's," "but's" and "when's."

In the matter of dryness, the rabidness of many of these ladies is of the purest ray serene. They applaud the Jones "five and ten" law, and they would shed few, if any, tears upon being informed that hereafter bootleggers are to be shot at sunrise.

Why, then, didn't Mr. Wickersham's position strike them as treasonable lukewarmness demanding punishment and annihilation?

The explanation, as given by their leaders and sentinels assembled here on the Washington scene, is a fine example of the brain-baffling way in which the rabid lady dries neglect now and then to launch the lightning of their condemnation upon an offender's head.

They argue that, if the fate of prohibition really rested in Mr. Wickersham's hands, they would have to subject him to the claw-and-fang rule.

* * * *

BUT, they assert, the former Attorney General is a figure of comparatively little importance in the situation. They have never trusted his dryness, and they do not trust it now.

But they do rely, with all the ardor characteristic of admiring and confiding women, upon the dryness of Judge Kenyon, who, as a reformer in general and a dry reformer in particular, is a star of the first magnitude.

They feel that as long as he is a member of the Hoover law enforcement commission, prohibition will be in safe hands.

But they have still another ace in the hole. The commission, they believe, will do whatever the President wants it to do. He created it. He dominates it. Also, "he has invested so much political capital in prohibition"—the phrase is from the ladies' lips—that, on the showdown, he will feel obliged to take the commission by its collective nose and lead it on to the glory of a perfected, ineffable and everlasting aridity.

* * * *

SO, THEY say with a hint of disdain, let Mr. Wickersham enjoy his own lukewarmness as best he may. Like all our little children, men, he likes to parade a mythical independence. But when the psychological moment chimes, the crusading Judge Kenyon and a sincerely dry President will land him in the net of our demands.

Thus, upsetting all the dope, Mr. Wickersham goes unscathed, while lesser men, if even suspected of dry faint-heartedness, are soundly thrashed with the whip of feminine contempt and sorely scourged with the lash of womanly wrath.

MISSIONARIES' FATE IN CHINA UNCERTAIN

WOMEN REPORTED SLAIN

Shanghai, March 27 (A.P.).—Fears for the safety of sixteen American Catholic missionaries at Kanchow, Kiangsi Province, continued tonight in missionary circles here, notwithstanding reports from Canton and Nanking that bandit and Communist armies besieging the city had been dispersed by Nationalist government troops.

Mission headquarters here also were anxious regarding three Finnish women missionaries, captured by Chinese bandits February 3 in northern Kiangsi, and reported as killed.

Supporting the belief that Communist forces still surrounded Kanchow, missionaries here said their Kanchow colleagues informed them a month ago that they would report the dispersal of the reds whenever it took place. Telegraph wires have been controlled by the besiegers, cutting off communication with Kanchow.

The three Finnish women missionaries, it was explained, were captured more than seven weeks ago, and, although the Finnish government had pressed the Chinese government for information concerning them, none has been supplied. From central Kiangsi came a missionary report that the women were murdered after bandits seized them aboard a native boat in the Kan River, between Kianfu and Changshu. Natives told missionary investigators who found women's clothing on the bank of the stream that the women had "been in the river three days."

Communist or bandit disorders which have scourged Kiangsi, Fukien and a part of Kwangtung Provinces for many months were reported today to be continuing in Kiangsi.

MEDAL IS AWARDED TO HUGO ECKENER

ciety's president, Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, presented the medal to Dr. Eckener "for his contributions to aviation and science, and the epochal flight of the Graf."

The Marine Band played Germany's national anthem as the doctor accepted the medal, which is the eleventh voted by the society in its 42 years of existence. Frau Eckener and the doctor's son, Knut, who accompanied his father on the flight, looked on from a box. The stage was decorated with the German and American flags, joined by the National Geographical Society banner which Peary took to the North Pole.

In presenting the medal, Dr. Grosvenor said that only the late Count Zeppelin rivaled Dr. Eckener's contributions to dirigible development. "We honor Dr. Eckener tonight," he said, "for the years of experiment, inventive genius and patient research which culminated in his astounding achievement. Dr. Eckener's circumnavigation of the earth in the Graf was more than a marvelous feat in aerial engineering and navigation. It symbolizes the advance of science, which tends to bind peoples more closely in friendship and understanding."

"It is in the name of this world membership that the society has authorized me to bestow upon Dr. Eckener its gold medal to commemorate the great contributions to geographic knowledge made by his air cruise around the world." Before handing the medal to Dr. Eckener Dr Grosvenor read a congratulatory radiogram received by the Graf's commander from Rear Admiral Richard E. Byd's expedition.

Speaking in a pronounced accent, not assisted by the amplifiers erected about the hall, Dr. Eckener briefly reviewed the Graf's trip and described some of the scientific data that he had gathered. Prolonged applause greeted his announcement that the flight could not have been made without the assistance of the United States Navy Department.

He predicted a day when aerial argosies would traverse the oceans with the safety and dependability of steamships, adding that the Graf's trip had convinced him that dirigibles had passed the experimental stage. In closing he paid a tribute to members of his crew, and presented Dr. Grosvenor with a collection of pictures taken on the Graf's globe-encircling trip.

A feature of the presentation was the showing of a 30-minute sound picture giving a palmost complete chronicle of the flight from Lakehurst to Tokyo and return. The huge audience sat enthralled as those present followed in fancy the impressions of the crow, which they joined in gazing down on the broad stretches of the Atlantic, at towns in Germany, the wastes of Siberia and Russia, the mountains of Japan, chimerical cloud formations over the Pacific, and, finally, the topography of America and the skyscrapers of San Francisco, Chicago and New York.

Diplomatic representatives of 28 nations, senators, representatives and high Government officials were among the audience. Every seat was filled, and many stood in the aisles and around the doorways.

Dr. Eckener's program yesterday included calls on President Hoover, Postmaster General Brown, Secretary of War Hurley, and Acting Secretary of the Navy Ernest Lee Jahncke. Today he will visit other Government departments in connection with the next flight of the Graf Zeppelin, and tomorrow he expects to visit Baltimore to inspect a proposed terminus for a contemplated transatlantic dirigible line. Other proposed terminal sites from Baltimore to Virginia may also be inspected before he leaves Washington.

Dry Crusader Arrested For Transporting Rum

Pampa, Tex., March 27 (A.P.).—Miss Beulah Allred, self-styled dry crusader, today was indicted for transporting liquor which she claimed she was taking before a grand jury as evidence. She was arrested yesterday while showing the liquor which she said was bought to prove her assertion that officers were protecting the liquor traffic.

Officials said her case would be treated as any other in which liquor was seized on persons not legally authorized to carry it. Miss Allred remained in jail, refusing to make $500 bond. She said she was awaiting word from the State Women's Christian Temperance Union, which she claimed to represent.

INTERNATIONAL BANK ATTACKED NI SPEECH

SAYS YOUNG PLAN VOID

(Associated Press.)

Attacking the Bank for International Settlements and the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., Chairman McFadden of the House banking committee, in a radio address last night, warned the American people against absorbing German reparation bonds, which he charged were illegal securities.

Speaking under the auspices of the Daughters of the American Revolution on a coast-to-coast network, the Pennsylvania representative asserted that the International Bank had been formed "to head up the financial division of the League of Nations" and for the purpose of mobilizing American financial resources with those of Europe and "through the sale of billions of dollars' worth of German reparation bonds to our people here in exchange for our gold.

"They know that these entangling alliances," he said, "will eventually drag us into the World Court, the Bank of International Settlements and eventually into the League of Nations."

Seeks State Department Advice.

Mr. McFadden said he was calling upon the State Department to advise the American investors as to "whether or not these commercialized German reparations bonds are legal.

"The agreement signed by Germany, he said, "under the Dawes and Young committees, is held by good authority to be void in law."

He added that while the Young committee was sitting in Paris last April "there was an extraordinary flow of gold out of the German Reichsbank to Paris, New York and London. So great and rapid was this outflow that a currency panic manifested itself in Germany and a flight from the mark like that of 1923 was threatened."

Says Schacht Had No Choice.

As a result, he said, President Schacht of the Reichsbank announced there was no alternative but to sign the agreement and "it was to prevent catastrophe in Germany that the German delegates signed the Young report."

Mr. McFadden asserted that the house of Morgan, besides being fiscal agents in this country for Great Britain, France, Belgium and Italy, had under State Department "edict" assumed American representation in the International Bank. "The action of the State Department in forbidding any further participation by the Federal Reserve banking system in the bank for international settlements," he said, "turns over to the Morgan firm one of the most valuable franchises which any private banking house in the world has ever possessed."

Mr. McFadden charged that the Federal Reserve system had lent itself to a "scheme of the foreign bankers to get a further grip on our banking resources," in 1927 by changing its policy, lowering rediscount rates and "causing the release of a large volume of credit which resulted in the export of over $500,000,000 worth of gold to Europe."

NEW PLEAS FOLLOW MICHIGAN PARK FIRE

from the nearest hydrant, at Thirteenth and Upshur streets northeast, the box at that point was turned in, bringing additional companies.

Engines 26, 12 and 24 and Truck 6 responded to the box alarm and combined hose of the several companies finall reached the scene. The box alarm was turned in at 8:41 o'clock.

Mr. Deviny reported also that after water had been turned on the blaze, a section of hose broke. "When a volunteer ran to the pumper to ask the man in charge to shut off the water for a moment so that a new section of hose might beinserted in the line, the fireman replied he could not shut off the water until ordered to do so by his district chief," Mr. Deviny said. "As a result of this much of the water flooded the street instead of reached the fire."

According to the president of the citizens association, this house is the third in that area to be practically destroyed by fire within the last nine months. Repeated appeals for a new engine house in the region have met with no response from District officials, Mr. Deviny declared. He pointed out that the nearest truck company has to run from New Jersey avenue and M northwest to North Capitol, out North Capitol to Michigan avenue, and around the bend to Thirteenth street and then out that street to Upshur, all of which requires considerable time and might enable a fire to get such a start that the arrival of additional companies would be useless.

GRUNDY STILL SEEKS G. O. P. NOMINATION

different parts of the State and that he was strongly urged to stay in the field.

In some political quarters it was felt there may be further withdrawals in the effort to bring about party harmony and not jeopardize the solid Republican delegation from Pennsylvania in Congress. While next Monday is the final day for filing nomination papers, withdrawals may be made up to April 8.

Several political leaders, who have been preserving a neutral attitude, asserted tonight that they were convinced the Mellon-Grundy and the Vare factions of the party would finally patch up a harmony agreement under which Grundy would be the senatorial candidate and Francis Shunk Brown the gubernatorial selection. Such an agreement would call for the withdrawal of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, senatorial running mate of Brown on the ticket supported by William S. Vare and the Philadelphia Republican organization.

There was no confirmation in either camp that such a suggestion had been made or was contemplated. Plans for the Davis-Brown campaign went forward with renewed vigor.

Secretary Davis is expected to come here tomorrow from Washington to sign the nomination petitions which have been circulated in his behalf.

SYNOPSIS.

The young collegian, after a discouraging start as a free-lance saxophonist, finally organizes an orchestra and makes a hit from the start.

CHAPTER VI.—PLEASING THE MAJORITY.

Perhaps my most difficult personal feat is directing the band while broadcasting.

I have often stepped up to the microphone to sing, and while in the midst of a song have had to figure out first, just how many more tunes we could cram in before the station announcement; second, who was to take the next chorus; then I had to give the directions behind my back with my hands to that individual, meanwhile I was thinking of melody and lyrics, trying to phrase the song with feeling, and lastly, to control the volume.

To top it off there have been those well-meaning but noisome people who persist in dancing by and either talking to me or asking questions while all the rest of this is on my mind. These people forget, or maybe are only too well aware of the fact that their loud conversation is being broadcast and is no aid to our program!

I am happiest before the microphone, and although all of this responsibility and effort might be a tremendous strain to some, I am more at ease during an hour of broadcast than I am in making one master of a record.

Our deaf and dumb system is a great aid to us in broadcasting, especially in any of the impromptu affairs at which we sometimes play, because the boys have only to watch me for the routine.

Saxophone Is Favorite Instrument.

Although I enjoy playing the saxophone so much that I would be unhappy not to be playing with the band, yet my load will be much lighter on the day when I can stand before a larger band with my hands and vocal organs free to do nothing else but secure from the band the best and most unusual effects.

To believe in the myth of 100 per cent satisfaction in entertainment is the quickest way to insanity. Nothing has ever turned out perfectly right, and in the field of dance music and stage work, to expect that it is possible to please everybody, is a pipe dream. There will always be those extremists on either side of the great majority who can make life very tragic for the one who listens too closely to them.

I pay very little attention to those who with a sweeping gesture of dogmatic finality condemn our efforts as being terrible, or to the type that gushes always in superlatives and makes everything "just gorgeous," "too wonderful," or "too perfect." Very rarely does anything merit these statements, for everything has some redeeming features as well as some bad ones.

Rather do I watch the vast majority, and when I see clearly indicated either by their applause or their silence what they like or dislike, then do I change, and not until then.

I have found from past experiment that my taste is pretty much average taste. By that I mean I have heard tunes and have picked them as being prospective hits, and the subsequent success of my choices has shown me that what I like I may safely predict will be enjoyed by this majority. If I were to listen to every suggestion—and it seems that every one is only too anxious to offer them, especially in the matter of what to wear and what to play—I would have committed suicide long before this. Bearing in mind the universal truth that after all nearly everything is a matter of taste, individual taste at that, scattered individual opinions should not make one unhappy. They roll off me like water off a duck's back.

Conscientiousness of Management.

One management was the most conscientious I ever played for and placed such a close ear to earth in the attempt to satisfy every patron who entered our supper club that I was in misery. It did not matter to them that in their attempt to secure the patronage of what they would term the aristocrat (although heaven knows just what that species is!) they had antagonized a great many very fine people by making their establishment accessible only to the crowd they were catering to. But to those within our doors they certainly did attempt to give everything that their pennies had paid for.

They and I could never agree on certain various points, among them the length of the dance.

I go on the assumption that the crowd dancing on the floor is composed of happy couples. It is pretty safe to assume that in a majority of cases the man and the girl dancing together came to the club to dance (except for certain parties where there is a courteous exchange of partners, so that every woman has danced with every man). But even that custom is losing out to the custom called "cutting in," which has several advantages over any other form of interchange.

Custom of "Cutting In" Dances.

At the smartest country club and society affairs the cutting-in dance is the accepted mode. One of its disagreeable features is the fact that there are always plenty of those cheap stags who, rather than entertain a girl themselves, delight in coming and "cutting in" on every attractive woman they see, whether they have met her or not, thus having a good time at the expense of the other fellow.

Of course, at a more formal affair where the stags must be introduced before they cut in, it is not so bad. Although, if a dance couple is approached by a man fairly sober and respectable in appearance, he is usually permitted to "cut in" by the couple that is dancing because each assumes that the other knows him. In any case, rather than cause a scene, the smart thing to do is to permit him to have his way. When young college men are home on vacation and are entertained by society, it is often announced that every one may assume that all introductions have been taken care of and that every one is free to cut in.

But to get back to our supper club. A long continuous dance is perfect where the majority is "cutting in." But even where there are no stags, but only evenly matched couples or parties of four or six people who exchange partners for one dance, I go under the assumption that the man is dancing with the girl he likes, and enjoys dancing with her, and that the feeling is reciprocal.

Views on Dance Etiquette Cited.

For that reason I assume, if I may judge from my own dancing experience, that the dance is a pleasure every minute, a fleeting moment of bliss that ends all too soon. The couples that do not enjoy dancing are, I believe, a negligible minority, and to sacrifice the length or type of dance for a small minority is to spoil the pleasure of those who are thoroughly enjoying themselves.

One manager tried to tell me that it is embarrassing for a man who is tired of dancing to suggest sitting down to the woman he was dancing with, or vice versa. I took issue with him on this point because I believe that there is very little false modesty in these situations.

I have generally found that the woman is the first to suggest sitting down; it is her privilege because, after all, a woman's likes and dislikes are always to be considered first, and no man is going to be offended when a lady suggests, as she fans herself or breathes a little sigh of fatigue, that she would like to sit down. Neither should the woman feel hurt if the man remarks that he is tired, even though the dance may have just begun; although in the latter case, I really believe that the man should be somewhat of a martyr and continue, in spite of his fatigue, until he feels that she has had a reasonable share of dancing.

Fixed Rules Hoped to Follow.

It has been suggested that a safe rule is to make the dances very short, with very short intermissions. But this rule can not be followed too closely because often a man who takes a keen delight in dancing will have a partner who cares very little about it.

She will seize the opportunity of the first intermission to get back to her seat, leaving the man quite vexed at the brevity of his dance with her. And so, while pleasing her, you antagonize him. And, after all, there is no reason why, at certain times, the woman should not also be somewhat of a martyr.

Of course with the young folks, the dance for them is always too short; they could dance forever, and if the music is good, they are always reluctant to return to their seats.

(The seventh installment will appear tomorrow.)

MARCHAND REVEALS AFFAIR WITH SQUAW

Clothilde Merchand. He did not know, he testified that Lila had used letters to convince the Indian that the artista's wife was a "white witch" who had placed a curse on Chief Charlie Sassafras, Nancy's husband, and killed him, and would do the same to her.

He did not know, he averred, when he was motoring with Lila Jimerson on the afternoon of March 6, that old Nancy was at the moment beating down with a hammer and smothering with a drug the woman he had married 33 years ago. Never at any time in the ten or twelve years he had known the defendant, Marchand said, had there been any word of marriage.

"What had you done last fall to make it seem you were cold toward her, as this letter says?" the district attorney asked, holding up a letter previously read the jury.

"I called her down because she was a liar," Marchand explained. "She sent me letters in a different handwriting with another name."

"How many times did you talk to her about this?" Moore pressed.

"Just that one time," said Marchand, and then with a smile continued: "We had quite a session; I told her I was through with her."

The artist had testified he had given her money on several occasions with which she paid doctor bills for treatment of tuberculosis. Court adjourned with Marchand on the stand.

Throughout his recital of his private life his four children sat in the courtroom, the two girls with heads bowed, the elder son staring fixedly before him and 12-year-old Henri, jr., sketching pictures on a pad of paper. One sketch made yesterday is a fine likeness of old Nancy Bowen, made as she huddled in the witness chair, testifying to how she killed his mother.

KIWANIS HEAR TALK ON SCHOOL PROGRAM

Vocational Guidance Topic of Discussion by Board President..

TRAINING NEED STRESSED

Vocational guidance in the public schools of the District was discussed at yesterday's luncheon of the Kiwanis Club at the Washington Hotel with Charles F. Carusi, president of the Board of Education, as the principal speaker.

Other school officials who were present included Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent; Stephen E. Kramer, assistant superintendent; Miss Helen E. Samuel, president of the Vocational Guidance Association and the following principals of junior high schools: Mrs. A. I. Kinnear, Langley; Miss Bertie Backus, Powell; Chester H. Holmes, Columbia; H. P. Safford, MacFarland; Claus J. Schwartz, Stuart; R. W. Strawbridge, Jefferson; H. E. Warner, L. G. Hine and F. A. Woodward, Gordon.

The program was arranged by William N. Freeman, chairman of the vocational guidance committee of the Kiwanis Club, and Mr Freeman introduced the guests of honor.

Mr Carusi emphasized the need for training the youth of today to replace business leaders as they grow older and declared that the objective of the Board of Education was to prepare boys and girls for their part in the swift-moving machinery of the world with the least possible loss of time, energy and efficiency.

Dr. Ballou in a brief address thanked the Kiwanians for their program of vocational guidance and also for their aid to crippled children.

The gold movement at the port of New York for the week ended March 26, comprised imports of $253,000, all of which came from Latin America. There were no exports and no change in the amount of gold earmarked for foreign account.

Woodrow Dermody Critically Injured Near Charleston as Car Is Wrecked.

FRIEND ALSO IN HOSPITAL

One Washington youth was seriously injured and his companion, also of this city, suffered lesser hurts yesterday when the automobile in which they were returning to this city from Jacksonville, Fla., was wrecked near Charleston, S. C.

Woodrow Dermody, 16 years old, son of Mrs. John J. Dermody, of 4424 Ninth street northwest and student at St. John's College, received a fracture of the skull and othre injuries. His condition last night was reported as critical at St. Francis Xavier Infirmary, in Charleston.

Clifton R. Willingham, 18 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Willingham of 7502 Alaska avenue northwest, suffered severe shock and minor hurts of the knees and the shoulders. He was taken to Roper Hospital, in Charleston, where attendants declared that his condition was not regarded as serious.

The accident was said to have occurred when the machine overturned in a ditch while attempting to pass another car on the highway near Charleston. The automobile caught fire and was destroyed. The youths left Washington together last Friday for the brief outing.

The car bore a congressional tag and was the property of young Willingham's brother, C. H. Willingham, jr., clerk of the House committee on education.

Last year the lad attended Central High School and later the Y. M. C. A. school.

LIFE TIME FURNITURE

NICHOLAS F. BRADY, UTILITY HEAD, DEAD

Donor of $1,000,000 to Vatican Succumbs to Attack of Arthritis.

HELD PAPAL DECORATION

New York, March 27 (A.P.).—Nicholas F. Brady, chairman of the board of the New York Edison Co., director of numerous other corporations and a prominent Catholic layman, died at his home here today following upon an attack of arthritis complicated by heart disease. He was 51 years old.

An extensive contributor to Catholic charities, he was known as one of the leading Catholic laymen of the United States. He held numerous decorations from Rome, the latest being Ordine Supreme Del Christo of the first class.

In 1926 Mr. Brady gave Pope Pius $1,000,000 for use in the Catholic Church and made numerous other Catholic contributions. In recent years he spent much of his time on his Italian estate situated just beyond the boundaries of the Vatican state.

In the World War he served on the Italian front for almost a year with the American Red Cross with the title of major.

Mr. Brady was born in Albany, N. Y. He was graduated from Yale University in 1899. Then came his entrance into the public service activities founded by his father, Anthony N. Brady, who had begun his business career as a neighborhood merchant in Albany. Young Brady joined the New York Edison Co., eventually succeeding his father as president.

His widow, the former Genevieve Garvan, of Hartford, Conn., and two sisters survive him.

Harry C. C. Stiles Funeral Rites Set

Former Leader of Photo-Engravers' Group to Be Buried Tomorrow.

Funeral services for the former president of the American Photo-Engravers Association, Harry C. C. Stiles, 58 years old, will be conducted at the All Souls' Memorial Episcopal Church, Cathedral avenue and Woodley road, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Glenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Stiles had been active in many organizations, including a number of affiliations of the Masonic fraternity, the Washington Board of Trade, District of Columbia Chamber of Commerce, Advertising Club and the City Club.

The deceased was widely known in this city, where his many interests threw him into constant contact with leaders of the business and financial fields. His death from pneumonia came as a surprise to his many friends and associates.

Surviving Mr. Stiles is his widow, Adele Miller Stiles; two sons, Donald and Richard Stiles; a daughter, Miss Marjorie Stiles, and a sister, Miss Florence Stiles.

RITES FOR E. L. WITTSTATT.

Funeral services for Edward L. Wittstatt, who died yesterday at the Washington Sanitarium, will be held at the Wittstatt residence at 4707 Eighth street northwest tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mr. Wittstatt was a native of Washington. He was formerly employed at the Ford Motor Co.'s Washington branch before establishing a business of his own on Fourteenth street.

Surviving Mr. Wittstatt is his widow, three daughters, Miss Virginia, Miss Jeannette and Miss Mary Ellen Wittstatt, and a brother, John T. Wittstatt, police sergeant. Burial will take place at Prospect Hill Cemetery.

JAMES B. FRIZZELL RITES SET

Retired Capital Traction Employe to Be Buried Tomorrow.

Funeral services for James B. Frizzell, 68 years old, of 3566 Thirteenth street northwest, will be conducted from his late residence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Moses Lovell will have charge of the funeral services, and interment will be in Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

Mr. Frizzell was for 45 years connected with the Capital Traction Co., and retired in June, 1928. His death was caused by heart failure.

RITES FOR JOHN T. RICKS.

Services for Gaithersburg Man Will Be Held Today.

Funeral services for John T. Ricks, 64 years old, of Gaithersburg, Md., will be conducted from the chapel of Pleasant View Cemetery at Gaithersburg Sunday at 1 o'clock.

Mr. Ricks died suddenly Thursday at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Martha Johnson, at Gaithersburg.

Surviving Mr. Ricks is his wife, Mrs. Susie Totten Ricks; seven children, Thomas E. and William F. Ricks, Mrs. Ella B. Hall, Mrs. Alcinda Jackson, Mrs. Eva J. Harris, Harry S., Goldsborough S., and Lawrence S. Ricks. Also five sisters and other relatives.

Funeral services at the chapel and the grave will be conducted by the Rev. Charles Washington, of Gaithersburg.

Secretary Shoots Man And Then Ends Life

Harrisburg, Pa., March 27 (A.P.).—Dr. M. Reisheil Goho was shot and fatally wounded in his shoe store on North Third street today, allegedly by his secretary, Mrs. Margaret Bitner, of Shiremanstown, who then shot herself through the heart.

Dr. Goho, shot twice through the body, rushed out to a nearby physician's office and was taken to a hospital where he died. The woman was found dead in a chair in the store. Dr. Goho was an orthopedic physician and he also operated the shoe store in which the tragedy occurred.

Coastbound Airplanes Snow-Bound in Michigan

Selfridge Field, Mount Clemens, Mich., March 27 (A.P.).—Pilots of the 22 planes of the First Pursuit group who hope to participate in the Army air maneuvers at Sacramento, made two unsuccessful attempts to get through snowstorms today on the first leg of their westward flight. Early this morning they got as far as Adrian and were forced back.

Another attempt this afternoon was similarly unsuccessful, the planes turning back less than an hour after leaving here. Maj. Ralph Royce, flight commander, plans to try again tomorrow.

Highlights of the War

As Related by Veterans Themselves

Good Judgment

It is a pleasure to read war stories or to hear them told, but not so pleasant to be a part of the story. For instance, during our first night in the woods of the Chateau Thierry battle front. Getting into the woods after dark we found the shell holes so thick that it seemed the ground had just been plowed. It was too dark to pitch a pup tent, so my buddy and I just put our blankets on the ground and used what seemed to be an old stump for a pillow. The next morning we found that the "stump" was part of a dead horse.

We hiked all the following day to take up our position on the front line and about an hour after our arrival received the command to advance in skirmish formation to take a farmhouse on top of a hill which had not been destroyed by shellfire but which we thought was full of German machine guns. We had advanced about 500 yards when a Boche plane came over and dropped flares to give the range to their artillery. Within a minute we were in the midst of a barrage in which my buddy, Pat Frickson, lost his leg. It is such occurrences that make one feel angry and resolve to make the enemy suffer.

We achieved our objective and the next morning, wandering around in the woods I became lost from my company and strayed beyond the front line. Suddenly I discovered that I was standing in front of several enemy machine guns and so scared that I couldn't run nor even hurry. But I did have sense enough to turn around and start walking the other way, although I constantly expected to be filled with lead.

The only explanation that I can think of, to which I owe my life, was that, as noticed on other occasions, the Germans would seldom waste ammunition on individual soldiers.

Finally getting back to my company I saw one of our fellows leaning up against a tree with a canteen in his hand staring at a shell hole beside him. I asked him what was the matter, but he couldn't speak—he only pointed to the fox-hole in which he had been lying until he got up to fill his canteen with water. Square in the middle of it was a big "dud" shell.

1 Mule—5 Boche

Our Mule, Ginger, was the only mule in history, I believe, who, single-handed, charged the enemy and effected the capture of a machine gun crew.

It was in the Argonne, on the plain above Monterey, on September 27. The mule train had been brought up to the front to enable the machine gunners to keep as close on the heels of the infantry during the day's push as possible.

Ginger was hitched to the lead cart and was on the very front line. The fog was so dense that vision was restricted to about 50 feet. Zero hour was 5:30 o'clock. Just before that hour orders came up not to attack because the artillery was stuck back in the trenches. Just then the fog lifted and the Germans began a heavy bombardment with shells and machine guns. We couldn't advance or retreat, and had no trenches to hide in.

A shell hit Ginger's cart killing the mule skinner, cutting the mule along the back and tearing up the cart. Ginger charged straight forward, running as though possessed with devils, with the loose ends of the cart making a great noise. At the same time German machine gun bullets were taking a heavy toll among us.

About 50 yards ahead Ginger charged a clump of brush. Just after he rushed in five Germans popped out, hands in the air, shouting, "Kamerad!" We beckoned them to us and took them prisoner.

Later we found Ginger lying over the machine gun—dead.

Why the Guns?

This happened at general headquarters, Chaumant, France. We were in an Adrian Barracks, in "Pneumonia alley," lying still, trying to hear the big guns booming in the Toul sector. It was near midnight, and suddenly three rifle shots rang out, and from just outside of our barracks, sounded a strange bugle call. And such a bugle call! It started with a wild shriek and seemed to yell, "Look out—grab your guns and come on!" All over the place the sergeants were yelling, "Fall in, fall in." The lights flashed on as we tumbled from our bunks and started pulling on our uniforms; the sergeant yelled, "Put out those lights; do you want those blankety, blankety Fritz airmen to start dumping things on us?" We had been informed that there were just enough rifles in camp to go around among the guards and that was the first thing to strike my mind. Then I began to wonder just how far I could go on an empty stomach. Before we got out of the barracks we learned that it was only a small fire.

Detroit Housekeeper, Who Was Awarded $450,000, Still Unpaid.

Detroit, Mich., March 27 (A.P.).—There's many a slip 'twixt the breach of promise verdict and the cash payment, and you can take Bertha B. Cleavenger's word for it.

It is now four months since the law awarded Miss Cleavenger $450,000 in her suit against John H. Castle, wealthy real estate man—the largest amount of this sort on record. And the law, which Miss Cleavenger says is a funny thing, to date has prevented her from receiving a single penny of the amount. More than that, the amount has been reduced to $150,000 through a judge's decision, but still there has been no payment to Miss Cleavenger.

The trouble, Miss Cleavenger's attorneys say, seems to be that bailiffs, deputies, process servers and investigators who have been working every day on the case have failed to find any property owned by Mr. Castle upon which to levy writs of execution. Legal actions on Mr. Castle's part, they say, have placed his property out of reach for the present.

Meanwhile, Miss Cleavenger, who told reporters after the trial that she planned "a lot of nice things" to do with the $450,000, hasn't given up her job as a housekeeper.

Six Killed by Collapse Of Earth Dam in Hawaii

Lihue, Island of Kauai, T. H., March 27 (A.P.).—Three Japanese and three Filipinos, laborers, were killed on Kauai Island today when an earth dam on the McBryde plantation broke, burying them under tons of earth.

The dam was 95 feet high. Although the mud from its collapse was carried 4 miles downstream, residents of the area below the dam were not in danger.

Mellon to Discuss Changing of Sites

Archives and Department of Justice Buildings Affected by Plan.

A proposal to switch sites in the Triangle area for the Archieves Building and the Department of Justice Building will be discussed for possible action today by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon with the Treasury Department Board of Architectural Consultants.

Under the plan, the redesigned Archives Building would be erected on the site of Center Market, while the Department of Justice structure, originally intended for that location, would be reared on the original Archives Building site, immediately west of the market area, bounded by Ninth and Tenth streets, B street and Pennsylvania avenue.

Architects have redesigned the Archives Building to remove certain objections in height for location on its original site, or for the Center Market site. The new model yesterday was placed in position with the other models of the Triangle area development on the first floor of the Treasury Building.

To "Point-Up" Appetite Just Stimulate Bowels

Whenever the end of the day finds you out-of-sorts; food doesn't tempt you and won't digest; breath is bad; tongue coated, just chew a candy tablet before bedtime. Tomorrow you'll be a new person!

A candy Cascaret clears up a bilious, gassy, headachy condition every time. Puts appetite on edge. Helps digestion. Activates bowels.

Cascarets are made from cascara, which authorities say actually strengthens bowel muscles. So, take these delightful tablets as often as you please; or give them freely to children. All drug stores sell Cascarets for a dime, and no dollar preparation could do better work.

Japanese Maidens Will Thank Hoover

Four comely Japanese maidens are on their way to the United States and Washington to express formally to the American people the gratitude of the citizens of Tokyo and the rest of Japan for their assistance in the reconstruction of the city, just completed March 26, following the disastrous earthquake and fire of 1923.

Landing at San Francisco the party will make its way across the continent to the Capital, arriving here April 14 for a five-day stay. The envoys will pay their respects first to President Hoover, then to the following in the order named: John Barton Payne at Red Cross Building, The Washington Post, the Washington Star, the United States Daily, the Washington News, the Japanese Embassy, War Department, Navy Department, Department of Commerce, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. and the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Later they will tour the principal cities of the East, Middle West and West Coast. They expect to call on former President Coolidge also. The envoys are the Misses Kimi Ashino, Sumiko Tokuda, Yoshiko Sato, Yoshiko Matsudaira, all of whom can speak English and are of prominent Japanese families.

Gov. Ritchie Will Address Utilities Convention Today

Thorpe and Dougherty Also to Make Speeches to Association.

Addresses by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, Merle C. Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business, and Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty will feature the eighth annual convention of the Maryland Utilities Association today at the Willard Hotel.

Morning, afternoon and evening sessions are scheduled, the last named consisting of a banquet and dance for members and friends. R. Paul Smith will preside over the electric group; L. H. Ware over the gas group, and J. H. Stephens over the transportation group.

H. A. Brooks, president of the association, will be in the chair for the afternoon session at which Mr. Thorpe will speak. His subject will be "Fiat Lux." Other speakers on the afternoon program will be W. W. Wheeler, of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. and Henry Spurr, editor of Public Utilities Fortnightly.

Gov. Ritchie's address will be delivered at the banquet tonight.

Lambert to Take New U. S. Position

Attorney Quits as Assistant to Rover For Post Under Glassie.

Arthur G. Lambert, assistant United States attorney, who for the past year has been in charge of land condemnation cases resigned yesterday, according to announcement by United States Attorney Leo A. Rover.

Mr. Lambert announced that on April 1, when his resignation becomes effective, he will become assistant to Henry H. Glassie, assistant United States Attorney General, and will assist in the condemnation of property in the proposed Government developments between the Avenue and the Mall. Mr. Lambert succeeds A. Leftwich Sinclair, who recently left the condemnation work to become auditor of the District Supreme Court.

Mr. Lambert is the son of Wilton J. Lambert, prominent attorney, and Mrs. Elizabeth Gorman Lambert, and is 33 years old. He is a graduate of the Hill School at Pottstown, Pa., and Princeton University, and a law graduate of Harvard University. He became a member of the District bar in 1926 and was appointed an assistant United States attorney in March, 1929.

No successor has been made by Mr. Rover.

THE WORDS on the back of the package still mean what they say. No "extras," which do not contribute to the quality of the smoke, are included in the price of Camels. Just the utmost smoke-enjoyment that modern science can put into a cigarette.

That statement was on the first package of Camels manufactured and has been on every one of the billions of Camel packages sold from that day to this. When it was first written, other cigarette manufacturers were giving away flags, pictures of actresses, pictures of ball players—almost anything that would make the smoker think he was getting something extra for his money. The makers of Camels believed the smoker wanted a cigarette sold strictly on its merits, with all of its cost put into quality—a cigarette made of such excellent tobaccos—so perfectly blended—so mellow—so fragrant—that it would win its own way.

The vast popularity of Camels is a tribute to that four-square policy.

Don't look for premiums or coupons, as the cost of the tobaccos blended in CAMEL Cigarettes prohibits the use of them.

DETECTIVE TO FACE POLICE BOARD TRIAL

Burke to Be Charged With Unbecoming Conduct in "Shakedown" Case.

OTHER CASES HELD OVER

Detective William F. Burke, of the Third Precinct, will face the Police Trial Board next Wednesday to answer charges developing out of the police "shakedown" scandal, it was announced yesterday.

Specifically, Burke is to be tried for "conduct unbecoming an officer" based upon allegations of undue familiarity with women of the underworld.

Although the board is ready to consider charges against Policeman S. F. Gravely, of the Third Precinct, and Ardie C. Swortzel, of the Fourth Precinct, at the same time, it is expected that their cases will be postponed until after completion of Police Court actions now pending against them.

Burke's appearance before the Trial Board is the result of his alleged intervention with the district attorney's office in behalf of Rose Marie Foster, inmate of a house on First street northwest, who charges Swortzel and two civilian companions with attempting to "shake her down" for $30 "protection money."

As a result of the girl's accusations, Swortzel has been arraigned in Police Court on a charge of conspiring to extort, and he will be judged by the Police Trial Board on a charge of conduct prejudicial to the good order and reputation of the Police Department. The grand jury now is deciding whether or not to indict Swortzel and his two companions on the conspiracy charge, having heard twelve witnesses Tuesday.

Gravely also faces two charges, one before the Trial Board and one in Police Court. The departmental body will try him on a charge of misuse of his service revolver, and he is awaiting Police Court trial on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Both charges against Gravely were brought after he had shot and seriously wounded James Crotts, young carnival showman, who was a companion of Swortzel and John C. Elgin on a visit to the First street house early on March 19, the occasion of the alleged "shakedown" attempt.

Burke and Gravely were together at the time of the shooting, which resulted when the Foster girl is said to have told them of the alleged "shakedown" and appealed to them for aid. Although the house is in the Eighth Precinct, and Burke and Gravely were both from the Third Precinct, Burke said he had been assigned by police headquarters to investigate a robbery which had occurred there on March 16.

Military Schools Approve Research

Col. Landon Is Elected as Next President of Association.

Inauguration of an extensive research program designed to improve the scholastic attainments of youths enrolled in military institutions of learning was voted yesterday by the Association of Military Colleges and Schools in the closing session of its annual meeting at the Hotel Mayflower.

Col. T. D. Landon, of Bordentown Military Institute, Bordentown, N. J., was elected president to succeed Col. Thomas H. Russell, of Staunton Military Academy. Col. Roy Farrand, of St. John's Military Academy, Delafield, Wis., becomes vice president, and Lieut. Col. A. M. Mitch, of Kemper Military Academy, Boonville, Mo., was reelected secretary-treasurer.

Capital Couple Plans New York Wedding

A marriage license was issued yesterday in New York to Harry R. Reed, 32 years old, an inspector of the Western Electric Co., of 323 East Capitol street, and Miss Helen Howard, 25 years old, of 1419 R street northwest. They said they would be married there tomorrow.

Mr. Reed, the son of Charles and Nellie Philips Reed, was born and reared here. He was divorced from Mrs. Edith L. Reed in Baltimore December 14, 1927. Miss Howard, the daughter of William S. and Mary Howard, was born in Blacksville, W. Va.

Gen. Greely Honored Upon 86th Birthday

Harris & Ewing.

Two Cakes Illuminate Parties for Venerable Explorer.

Two large birthday cakes, each bearing 86 candles, were cut yesterday for Maj. Gen. Adolphus W. Greely, veteran Arctic explorer, author and the first private soldier of the Civil War to attain the rank of brigadier general. Gen. Greely resides with his daughter, Miss Rose Greely, at 3131 O street northwest.

In the early afternoon he attended a party given in his honor by Mrs. Minnie Pilling, an old friend, living at 2407 California avenue northwest. Later in the day he was entertained by his son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John N. Greely, at their home in Allen place.

Gen. Greely has laid telegraph lines and submarine cables in China, Cuba, the Philippine Islands, Alaska and other parts of the world. On the recommendation of the Hamburg International Geographical Congress, he was placed in charge of a polar expedition sponsored by the United States Government in 1881. With his party of 25 he discovered new land north of Greenland, and worked his way to the Polar Sea. The party later was lost, and only seven survived.

In 1911 Gen. Greely represented the United States at the coronation of King George V in London. He has been awarded medals by the Royal Geographical Society of England and the French Geographical Society, and has written a number of authoritative treatises on meterological subjects. At 86 he enjoys good health, and evinces a keen interest in politics and current events.

House Doors Wait as Young Tender Is Held as Speeder

Ellison H. Pfeiffer, 21 years old, who presides over the doors leading into the House of Representatives chambers at the Capitol was not on the job to open the doors Wednesday when the House convened. The reason was disclosed yesterday when Pfeiffer appeared in Traffic Court on a speeding charge.

The youthful doorman pleaded that he was hurrying to open the doors for the representatives, but Judge Gus A. Schuldt imposed a $10 fine. Pfeiffer then pleaded that he had no money, and but for the fact that Frank Varney, president of the Policeman's Association, chanced to be in the courtroom and paid his fine he probably would have been late to work again.

Policeman R. V. Sinclair told the court that he arrested Pfeiffer at 11:58 o'clock Thursday on New Jersey avenue northwest. The man was traveling at a 45-mile-an-hour clip, Sinclair said.

The policeman stated that Pfeiffer had told him also that he had to be at the Capitol to open the House doors at noon, but that he believed the doors "could wait" and took the prisoner to the station house. From that place he telephoned to a friend, who opened the House doors for him, just a little late.

High School Girls Asked To Play Day at G. W. U.

George Washington University women students will hold a play day for Washington high school girls Saturday from 11 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., at the Y. W. C. A. Administration Building, under the auspices of the department of physical education for women of the university. Invitations have been extended to twenty girls from each of the Washington high schools to join with the George Washington students in the program of sports.

The list of events includes games, relays, stunts, bowling, swimming, folk dancing, deck tennis and volley ball. A luncheon will be served to participants at 12:30 o'clock. At 4 o'clock announcement of results and the awarding of ribbons to teams winning first, second and third places, will take place.

Cyclist Hurt in Accident.

Cleveland Tenelli, 18 years old, of 213 Fifteenth street northeast, suffered minor lacerations of the left leg and knee at noon yesterday when the bicycle he was riding collided at Pennsylvania avenue and East Executive avenue with a truck operated by Richard N. Turner, 25 years old, of F street near Third street northeast. He was treated at Emergency Hospital and dismissed.

New Kind of Salts Taking Country By Storm

They Revitalize the System—Induce Youthful Activity—Keep Body in Splendid Condition—Free From Fat.

It doesn't take long for Americans to wake up to a good thing—only a few months ago Kruschen Salts were introduced into this country and the welcome news of their superior goodness and swift rejuvenating power traveled so fast that at one time the supply was many carloads behind the demand.

All of which goes to prove that Americans know good salts when they take them and want their friends to benefit also.

Kruschen Salts are taken for their health building value all over the world—they are the largest selling medicinal salts in Great Britain today.

Kruschen Salts are different from other salts—Kruschen is six salts in one—the very same six salts that nature put into the human body at the beginning of creation and demands you keep them there or your health won't be as good as it should be.

Unlike most salts Kruschen isn't simply a laxative—if that's all you want any old kind of salts with any kind of a label will do—but is that all you want?

When you take Kruschen Salts you not only stimulate your bowels, liver and kidneys to function naturally and perfectly, but you supply every internal organ, gland, nerve and fiber in the body with nature's own revitalizing and rejuvenating minerals.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85c at Peoples Drug Stores, or any drug store in America—take one-half a teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—in just a few days indolence changes to activity and life grows brighter.

Before the bottle is empty you'll feel years younger—eyes will brighten—step grow sprightlier—nerves steadier—you'll sleep sound, enjoy your meals and after a hard day's work you'll be ready for wholesome recreation—one million Americans know all this—ask your druggist.

LONE VICE CRUSADE PROVES BOOMERANG

Sizemore Jailed in Assault Charges After Trying to "Clean Up District."

HIS VICTIMS ARE FREED

David O. Sizemore's solo crusade to abolish vice in the District proved a boomerang yesterday when he became his own and only victim.

Arraigned in Police Court on two charges of simple assault, growing out of his alleged attempt to wield a hatchet on his former employer, Fred Myers, at the latter's store on H street near Second street northwest, on Tuesday, Sizemore pleaded not guilty, demanded a jury trial and was jailed in default of bonds placed at $1,500.

A colored woman, whose arrest he had caused on the charge that she had sold him liquor, was released. Two men whom he also had caused to be arrested on charges of begging had previously been freed.

Bond was fixed yesterday in amount of $1,000 on the assault charge brought by Myers, and of $500 on Miss Jane Richardson's complaint. She went to the assistance of her employer and claims Sizemore tried to strike her.

Deputy Chief of Staff Addresses Yale Club

Opportunity for service by college men in the Army was stressed by Maj. Gen. Preston Brown, deputy chief of staff, in an address to members of the Yale Club at their luncheon in the Cosmos Club.

University men, Gen. Brown said, are not taking as active a part in national affairs in the United States as in some European countries. He compared undergraduates of his day in Yale with the present group, pointing out that men today receive far superior training. Gen. Brown was graduated from Yale in 1892.

Four Cases of Smallpox At Wake Forest College

Raleigh, N. C., March 27 (A.P.).—There are four cases of smallpox in the student body of the Wake Forest College, Dr. A. C. Bulla, of the Wake County health department, announced today.

"There is no epidemic of smallpox in Wake Forest and no likelihood of an epidemic," he said. Two other smallpox cases in Wake County have been reported, Dr. Bulla stated.

Driver Arrested After Collision

Charles A. Grace, Kenyon street northwest, near Thirteenth street, was arrested yesterday by Montgomery County Policeman Joseph Nolte on a charge of reckless driving after a collision with another machine. Grace was released on $100 bond, to appear in county police court March 31, by Justice of the Peace Ward W. Caddington.

According to police, two women and a man in the Grace car left the scene of the accident with the announced purpose of taking one of the women to the hospital for injuries she said she had suffered. They did not give their names or addresses. Grace denied that he had been driving the car and said that one of his companions was driving. He claimed that he did not know their identity.

The Grace car crashed into a car driven by Halsey D. Rogers, of Linden, Md., on the Colesville pike near Four Corners, the Washington car turning over.

Cumberland Woman Dies.

Cumberland, Md., March 27 (Special).—Miss Bertha E. Blonskey, 28 year old, stenographer to the clerk of the Allegany County Circuit Court, died yesterday. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Blonskey. She is survived by one brother and five sisters, including Misses Lula M. and Alice L. Blonskey, teachers in the city schools. She was a member of St. Luke's Lutheran Church and the Ladies Shrine Club.

Jury Panel Is Drawn.

Annapolis, Md., March 27 (Special).—Judge Robert Moss in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court today drew a panel of 47 jurors for the April term which begins April 21. He designated John Claytor, Harwood farmer, First District, foreman of the grand inquest. Other members of the inquisitorial body will be segregated on convening day.

Court Fight Won By Tax Objections

Property Owners of Silver Spring Oppose Levy for Street Paving.

Property owners in Silver Spring, Md., who are suing to restrain the county commissioners and the county treasurer of Montgomery County from putting into effect an assessment for street paving on their property, have won a partial victory in the announcement by Judge Robert B. Peter at the Rockville Circuit Court that he has overruled the demurrers filed in the petition of Carl E. Burre.

The judge has taken similar action in other cases involving the same suit, in which the property holders allege that they are being assessed 100 per cent for the street improvements. Temporary injunctions restraining J. Forest Walker, county treasurer, from collecting the tax will be issued, it was indicated, pending hearing of the suits on their merits.

The property owners contend that the assessment should have been divided into halves, half to be paid by the property owners and half by the entire suburban district. The commissioners contend that the property owners agreed to the assessment at a public hearing.

Staunton Priest Dies At Hospital in Norfolk

Staunton, Va., March 27.—The Rev. Father John McVerry, pastor of St. Francis Catholic Church in Staunton from 1871 to 1900, under whose ministry the present handsome edifice was constructed, died this morning in St. Vincent's Hospital, Norfolk. Shortly before his death he expressed the wish that his body be buried here, and this wish will be respected.

The body will leave Norfolk tomorrow morning and on reaching Staunton will be taken directly to St. Francis Church, where it will lie in state before the main altar. The body can be viewed from 8:15 p. m. to 10 p. m. tomorrow and from 7 to 9 Saturday morning. The burial services will begin at 9 o'clock Saturday morning with the chanting of the office of the dead, immediately followed by the singing of the pontifical requiem mass. The Right Rev. A. J. Brennan, D. D., Bishop of Richmond, will sing the mass. Interment will be beside St. Francis Church.

Thugs Dynamite Safe At Rockville, Get $50

Breaking a glass from the rear window, robbers early yesterday entered the store of the Rockville Fuel & Feed Supply Co. and dynamited the safe. About $50 in currency was taken, it was reported to Rockville police headquarters.

Sergt. Guy L. Jones, county fingerprint expert, was called to the scene and took prints of several fingerprints which it is hoped will aid in the search for the robbers. Checks totaling $300 also were reported missing.

ITCHING ENDS WHEN ZEMO TOUCHES SKIN

—thousands say. It's wonderful the way soothing, cooling Zemo brings relief to skin which itches and burns. Even in most severe cases, itching disappears almost as soon as Zemo touches the tender and inflamed surface. To draw out local infection and help to clear away unsightly blemishes, we know of nothing better than invisible Zemo. Always keep this family antiseptic on hand. Use it freely. It's safe as can be. 35c, 60c and $1.00. All dealers.

BUYING AN AGREEMENT.

President Hoover has repeatedly declared his adherence to the American tradition that forbids foreign political entanglements. The joint statement emanating from Rapidan reiterated his determination to avoid such commitments. It is therefore impossible for him to instruct the American delegation in London to agree to a pact that would do away with American neutrality in the event of a foreign war.

Notwithstanding President Hoover's known position, Secretary Stimson has announced that in certain circumstances the delegation would receive with an open mind a proposal to make the United States a party to a "consultative pact," with the understanding that no material or moral obligation would be incurred by the United States in agreeing to consult with certain other nations in the event of threatened war.

This about-face by Secretary Stimson has been seized upon by the other delegations as an assurance that the United States is now ready to entertain a proposal to pledge itself to sit in a conference of "the powers," for the purpose of preventing war. An agreement by the United States to cooperate with the powers would warrant Great Britain in pledging itself to employ its navy in blockading a nation blacklisted by the League of Nations, since there would be no danger of running afoul of the United States Navy. The United States would have committed itself to cooperation with the powers; hence it could not claim the right to trade with a nation declared by them to be a violator of the covenant of the League of Nations and of the Kellogg pact. With Great Britain's engagement to enforce the blockade France would be warranted in reducing the naval program that now blocks the London conference. Thus, America's agreement to cooperate with the powers in conference would enable the London conference to frame a five-power treaty limiting naval construction.

The foreign delegations, in short, now assume that the United States is ready to purchase a naval treaty by surrendering its right to freedom of the seas.

Secretary Stimson is playing with dynamite when he permits the powers to believe that the United States will pledge itself to cooperate with four other nations to stop a threatened war. He knows that no such pledge will ever be given—that the people and the Senate will not countenance an alliance with any foreign powers. A pledge to confer is a pledge to cooperate, and a pledge to cooperate is a pledge to go to war if necessary to stop a war. This is an alliance. It might be hedged about with reservations, but the obligation would stand out naked and imperative whenever the powers were threatened, and they would promptly demand that the pledge be fulfilled. The United States would be compelled to fight or break its word of honor.

The intimation put forth by Mr. Stimson is unwarranted. It is apparently made without the consent or knowledge of the President. It affronts American public sentiment and American tradition. It holds out a hope to the other powers that can never be materialized.

The United States is determined to avoid foreign quarrels. It will not take sides with some nations against others. It will not undertake to cooperate in putting down any war. It has expressly given notice that a violation of the Kellogg pact does not call for any action by the United States, unless the violator attacks this country. No moral obligation to require other nations to observe their pledge to renounce war has been undertaken by the United States, but on the contrary such an obligation has been expressly disavowed by the Senate.

Americans were promised naval parity by Prime Minister MacDonald. The powers, in accepting the invitation to London, declared their desire to reduce naval armament. Now it is proposed that the United States shall buy a treaty by mortgaging American independence of action and neutrality in the next war. Mr. Stimson has no right to negotiate on this basis. The other American delegates have no right to concur with him in such a move. Any treaty made on this basis will destroy its signers.

STARVING WASHINGTON.

Representative Simmons, of Scottsbluff, Nebr. (population, 1920 census, 6,192), painted a picture of woe for District taxpayers in presenting the 1931 appropriation bill to the House. "The District must face the facts," he said. "If the standard set in this bill is to be followed next year it will be necessary for the Commissioners to fix a tax rate of $1.90 or, if the police and firemen's pay raise bill is enacted, of $2. Those in Washington who are willing to pay a rate of $2 or higher may ask for continued increases in expenditures. Those who do not desire that increase should cease to be a party to demands for increased and often unwarranted expenditures."

What unwarranted expenditures have citizens of the District demanded? It has been pointed out on various and sundry occasions that recent appropriation bills have represented compromises with necessity. The District has been on a starvation financial diet for years, as a result of which it is developing not as the Capital City should develop but in keeping with the development of a crossroads hamlet. Representative Simmons and other self-constituted watchdogs of the Treasury insist on comparing Washington with other American cities of half a million-odd population. Washington can not be compared with other municipalities, inasmuch as it is America's only national city, directly under the control of Congress and the seat of the Federal establishment.

What other city is expected to have a park system as comprehensive as Washington's? The development and maintenance of parks is expensive, and areas set aside for recreative purposes must be withdrawn from taxation. What other city must maintain an oversized police and fire department? Federal property must be protected. In what other city does only 59 per cent of the water flowing through the mains produce revenue? The District has to furnish water free to the Government, the volume amounting to 41 per cent of the total. In return for the services and facilities the Government demands of the District and in recognition of the fact that it has appropriated for its buildings large areas of otherwise taxable land, it makes an annual contribution of $9,000,000. Representative Simmons says that this is a "fair" contribution, but by his own ingenious analysis it amounts at the very utmost to but 25 per cent of the budget, whereas other more disinterested experts have computed the proportion at less than 20 per cent.

The District, unquestionably, is in a financial jam. The 1931 budget, the largest in history, does not make full provision for even the essentials and it can be met only by digging into the emergency fund that is deposited to the District's credit in the Treasury. The present tax rate is high; it can not be raised without producing genuine suffering. But the remedy does not lie in forcing the District to stagnate and holding back its development. Relief lies with Congress; the remedy is the adjustment of the fiscal relationship so that the Nation shall pay a fair share of the cost of its Capital.

THE FLEXIBLE PROVISION.

The most important tariff issue remaining before Congress is the flexible provision. The American system of protection is incomplete without some means whereby emergency adjustments can be made in tariff rates. Industry and commerce are changing rapidly. A single new invention or discovery may upset completely the protection that is afforded domestic industry, agriculture and labor. It is unthinkable that Congress would pass the bill or the President sign it without a flexible provision.

The present method of executive adjustments has worked well. During the eight years that the flexible provision has been in operation only 32 changes, an average of four each year, have been made. There is not the slightest chance that any President would abuse this power to extend protection where it is not needed, or to withdraw it where it is needed, because he must act after a scientific investigation has been made by the Tariff Commission. There is no excuse whatever for changing the present arrangement, unless it is to extend the flexible provision to include items on the free list.

The coalition wrote into the Senate bill a substitute provision under which Congress would undertake to legislate on single items in need of emergency protection. Senator Vandenberg has brought forth a proposal that the flexible provision be administered by Congress when in session and by the President at other times. He would make adjustments by the President subject to veto by Congress when it reassembled.

Senator Vandenberg's proposal eliminates but one of the glaring defects of the coalition plan. A distressed industry would not have to wait for Congress to reassemble, but should it apply for relief during a session it might be ruined while Congress debated the matter and wrote a new tariff bill. The ingenious Senator Norris invented a plan to keep Congress from considering anything not germane to the items or schedules included in Tariff Commission reports. But if Congress should adjust a duty on thread, it could not escape adjustments on cotton, then cloth, then finished clothing and every product which is made from cotton. A change in the duty of hides would make it necessary for Congress to appease the leather, shoe, harness and other industries. A general revision would be threatened each time and business would be kept in a state of uncertainty.

Executive adjustments must be based on recommendations of the Tariff Commission, but there is no assurance that Congress would pay any attention to the commission's findings. Congress can not be bound. Each time a tariff debate arose, the coalition would have an opportunity to renew its war on American industries. If the saner elements of the Senate should be caught off guard, incalculable damage might be done. Senator Vandenberg sees in his plan a means of avoiding future general revisions of the tariff. Rather it would involve Congress in a never-ending wrangle over duties, and leave business in a state of turmoil.

Flexibility in the hands of Congress is impossible. Any hodge-podge compromise with the coalition's muddled theories will destroy the effective method that now insures American enterprise against ruinous foreign competition. The House should choose conferees who will not yield on this vital provision. To send the bill to the White House with the flexible principle emasculated would be to invite a presidential veto.

NEW CONSTRUCTION.

The Senate has passed the Keyes-Elliott public buildings bill. Certain minor amendments were added in committee, making it necessary to send the bill to conference, but an early agreement may be expected. The measure adds $115,000,000 to the public building program for the National Capital and authorizes an appropriation of $115,000,000 for the construction of postoffices in the States. Of the total authorized for the District, $15,000,000 would be for the purchase of land and $100,000,000 for building construction.

The Keyes-Elliott bill is one of the most important from the standpoint of the effect it will have upon the development of Washington that has ever been before Congress. It is the intention of the Treasury when the bill becomes law to proceed immediately with the construction of new quarters for the Public Health Service and the Interstate Commerce Commission, and to embark without delay upon the project of remodeling the State, War and Navy Building. The Public Health Service and the Interstate Commerce Commission are functioning at great disadvantage in their present quarters. Not only will the new buildings afford these important agencies long-needed relief, but they also will bring closer to final realization the dream of a re-created Pennsylvania Avenue-Mall triangle.

Remodeling of the State, War and Navy Building should have been undertaken long since. The building, structurally, is a twin of the handsome and impressive Treasury Building, but its facade is an architectural nightmare. It should be remodeled into a building of dignity and beauty.

JOBS VS. MACHINERY

From the New York Times.

In the discussion of unemployment one is always encountering "technological" unemployment. This is a sonorous name for men thrown out of work by the introduction of machinery and, to a lesser extent, by improvement in management methods. Concerning unemployment in general we depend in this country largely on guesswork, with extra vagueness about technological unemployment. It is safe to say, however, that current notions about what machines have done to men since the war are grossly exaggerated, and this error is not confined to laymen. There are specialists who speak of the "revolution" which has taken place in American industry since the war. The scale upon which automatic machinery has supplanted man-power is described by "enormous" and similar impressive adjectives. This would not be quite the view of the authors of the Hoover volumes, "Recent Economic Changes," to judge from their direct discussion of the subject or their figures on employment in the United States.

Between 1920 and 1927 there was a decline of something less than 600,000 in the number of factory employes. That would be the maximum number of men conceivably displaced by machines; every other nonagricultural occupation showed an increase of employment. But before we hasten to say that machines threw out of work 600,000 men we must note one important fact. Of this decline not less than 450,000 jobs disappeared in a single year, 1921. During the next six years the total decline was 150,000. Now, it is certain that in the space of twelve months the introduction of labor-saving devices could not have sped forward at such a rate as to displace 450,000 workers and then virtually come to a stop. What really happened was a let-down from the extraordinary effort of war times, in manufactures as in other fields. In the factories demobilization came a year or two later than in the camps. The workers released in 1921 were not the victims of the machine but the sign of a return from a war to a peace footing. That accomplished, we note that from 1921 to 1927 the decline in factory employment is 150,000, a trifling percentage of about 11,000,000 factory workers. The machine would thus be responsible for nothing like an "enormous" displacement of workers after the war.

On the other hand, the machine has made jobs for many times the number of workers it displaced. "Recent Economic Changes," in assuming an increase of 600,000 unemployed in 1927 over 1920, derives the estimate from 5,100,000 new workers over the age of 16 entering the field and 4,500,000 new jobs provided. For that army of new jobs the machine—chiefly the automobile—can claim the principal credit. Estimates of employment created by the automobile run as high as 3,000,000 men in production, selling and service. Another machine, the radio, has done its bit. It is a point that would not need stressing if not for the easy acquiescence with which the machine as an agent of unemployment is discussed. Local and temporary dislocation it does produce. Workers in a particular field thrown out of work by a new machine can not be expected to find comfort in the ultimate advantage of the community. But that the advantage exists is a commonplace of industrial history. The machine increased England's population several fold in a single century. To the machine every country turns for relief from the pressure of population—Germany half a century ago, Japan and Russia a generation ago, China and India today.

PRESS COMMENT.

Greatness Is Far Away.

Wood County News: It takes 30 gallons of sap to make one gallon of maple sirup. Would it be remarkable, then, if it were to take 30 generations of saps to make a great man?

She's Got Her Degree.

Cincinnati Enquirer: Maybe women don't suffer in silence, but any wife who has nursed a husband through a mild attack of flu can write a book on the other side of that story.

Difference of Sexes.

Warren Chronicle: You can sell a woman most anything if you throw in a dish for a premium. The same can be said of a man if you let him play his money in a slot machine.

Hard on Conference.

Boston Transcript: Added to other interesting questions of the day is that of the number of French governments a lone naval conference may be expected to survive.

Safe Prediction.

Publisher's Syndicate: Just to get in ahead of Mr. Babson, we predict that the next time stocks get unreasonably high they will eventually come down.

Not Much Use.

Minneapolis Journal: The Kansas House of Representatives, in special session, was opened without prayer. There is a general feeling of late years that it is rather hopeless to pray for legislatures.

Probably.

Detroit News: No doubt Rip Van Winkle would find the tavern still in operation, if he dropped around today, after 20 years. But he might be taken for an undercover agent, with that beard.

Rudy and Mary.

Atchison Globe: Rudy Vallee did not display any more egotism and conceit in his autobiography than does Mary Garden in her autobiography appearing in the Ladies' Home Journal. No one could ever tell Mary anything about music; she knew it all from the first. She did not learn to read music; said she could feel it. Mary Garden says from the time she was a child tame thoughts could not get into her mind. She was living in a world of great events and adventure, and she was the heroine of them all.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE CURE.

When I was young and very proud,
Before disdain my head had bowed
Or failure floored me flat;
Before I'd gathered commo. sense
From many a sad experience
Or learned where I was at,
I fancied none on earth could be
Superior to little me.

With such high notions in my head
I wooed the girl I later wed,
Serenely self-assured.
I'd still to know the jolt and jar
By which most youthful boasters are
Of self-importance cured.
Nor had it yet occurred to me
That I had faults which some might see.

One evening late I begged of Nell
Her father's views of me to tell,
And what of me he'd said.
She gave me back a falsehood white;
"I'm sure he thinks that you're all right,
And bound to get ahead."
Then snuggling closer to my side;
"I'm sure he likes you," she replied.

At midnight, when the world was still
Her father came, as fathers will,
To haste his daughter on.
And thinking I was on my way
In thundering voice I heard him say:
"Has that young idiot gone?"
I left as quickly as I could,
But I had learned just where I stood.

The Village Cut-Up Is Popular, But He Never Is Chosen to Lead a Cause.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

EMERSON, most popular of American philosophers, influenced the character and the destiny of a generation by teaching men to think themselves akin to their Creator and themselves divine.

Men so taught are proud men, with a keen sense of personal dignity—independent, self-reliant and adventurous men, who make their own opportunity and expect no aid.

There are such men still, but there is another class much larger in number—a class frankly conscious of inferiority, without pride of independence.

It is this class, more than any other influence, that is destroying State rights and strengthening a centralized Government.

As a man surrenders freedom when he accepts favors, so the people slowly but surely surrender local self-government when they accept Federal aid.

Who holds the purse strings lays down the law, and the Government at Washington gains power year by year because this second class of people—these congenital leaners—think of progress and salvation in terms of a Federal appropriation.

How can you recognize the members of this class?

By their want of personal dignity.

A former President throws away a damp and smelly cigar butt and scores of people race for it—"scramble and scratch, kick and slap," as Arab beggars fight for coppers tossed by American tourists.

A prince visits America and is followed by crowds of people who trample on one another to get a glimpse of him. At a polo match he slips away for a moment of privacy, and peeople pant across a field in hot pursuit like hounds after a fox.

A brave youth, following other brave men who paved the way, flies across an ocean and wears his laurels with becoming modesty. He is honored and admired by everybody, but the prideless thousands press and irritate and shame him as they sacrifice all decency to reach him.

Proper men, looking on, feel again that sense of outraged respectability the land experienced when women of an earlier day formed in line to kiss a naval hero.

Mobilize the men and women who have no sense of personal dignity and you will not find among them one conspicuous success.

They may be good, friendly, charming; but they lack the one essential necessary to triumph.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ARE ANT HILLS NOISY?

The summit of curiosity has been attained by Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, famous curator of mammals and reptiles. The doctor is out to investigate the noises made in an ant hill! Some day this spring or summer he will go into an open lot, sink a sound-recording device into an ant hill and get the truth about major and minor disturbances in ant colonies, or bust.

* * * *

Dr. Ditmars has always been curious about ants. Watching them rush in and out of sand hills on a busy day he has had the idea that they must be proportionately as noisy as a construction gang in a subway.

* * * *

Paraphrasing the poet, he sings:

How doth the busy little ant
Improve each shining hour?
By tearing in and out of hills
With noises loud and sour.

* * * *

The sound-recording device will reveal all. If noises sufficient to annoy ants are found, they will be amplified and put on the talking picture screen to annoy the general public. This is an era when no noise is considered too small or too great to be reproduced as part of an evening's entertainment somewhere between Lillian Gish and the news reel of the whippet races.

* * * *

After the doctor clears up the facts about the home and business life of ants he may ram the device into a dress suit to see what kind of a noise a moth makes when eating his way through the vest and pants.

* * * *

The possibilities are inexhaustible. You may find the following special features on your movie program any time this summer:

1. Special Attraction — Troop of Trained Fleas Dedicate New Home on Newfoundland Dog. With Sound.

2. Added Sensation — Bumblebee Stages Major Disturbance Dragging Load of Pollen Up From Depths of a Tiger Lily.

3. Today Only — Metro-Goldwyn Gives Stenographic Report of Voyage of Potato Bug Through Field of Giant Spuds.

4. Spectacular Super Feature—Little Journeys Through the Open Plumbing With the Cockroach Family (With Dialogue).

5. Coming Soon—The Great Flypaper Symphony. 300 Houseflies. 300 Voices. See and Hear This Epic Number.

TENSHUN!

Mr. Daniel C. Roper calls on all citizens to mobilize in a war on liquor. Well, that would be a good idea, provided the generals and first lieutenants were not allowed to carry suitcases, either.

Mr. Roper says there should be an additional seven-year tryout of prohibition. The idea being to keep whipping it into shape on the road until they get ready to bring it into the big cities.

In a test of the "electric eye," the new burglar-catching device, a dummy figure trying to crawl over a wall was shot and an alarm automatically touched off. Is it being marketed at a price where husbands can afford to get one to place between the bed and the chair holding the trousers?

"STOP—GO."

I.

The traffic lights go green, then red—
But I wish they'd go out instead;
The traffic lights go red, then green
From 8 a. m. till 12:15;
The traffic lights they switch a lot
Just when it seems that they should not;
They never shift, it's understood,
Precisely when you think they should.

II.

The traffic lights, they blink and blink,
They lack decision, don't you think
They flash this color, then flash that
So no man knows where he is at
They turn to green, but just before
You start they turn to red once more:
My hate for such lights is intense—
The darned things don't make any sense!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Remove All Poles From Roadsides and Thus Reduce Number of Accidents.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In Virginia the owner of an automobile annually pays to the State a tax of 70 cents on each 100 pounds weight of his car, and he also pays a tax of 5 cents on each gallon of gasoline consumed. As the money thus received is spent in extending and improving State roads, the automobile owner has a right to expect that these roads will be made, so far as possible, safe for his use.

Practically every road in Virginia—and this applies also to certain roads in adjoining States—is lined on one or both sides with telephone or electric light poles, placed so close to the roadway that a car swerving from the road must necessarily crash into a pole. Tabulation of the deaths and serious injuries resulting from the proximity of these poles to the road would be interesting, if not instructive.

It is a mistake to assume that such accidents are invariably caused by carelessness of the driver. Cars often unavoidably skid off the road. Drunken or "hoggish" drivers often fosce other cars off the road. Cars frequently swerve to avoid one accident, only to come to grief against some pole that is always where it should not be. Occasionally, the steering gear of a car breaks and the car becomes unmanageable, or it becomes unmanageable for some other mechanical reason, at such times the pole is always there to increase the seriousness of the accident a hundredfold.

Is there any good reason why telephone and electric power companies should not be required to place their poles at a safe distance from the roadway? The cost to these public utilities of moving their poles might be considerable, but after all it is the public that pays the cost. Many of the accidents that cause lives to be lost and persons to become temporarily or permanently injured, could be prevented if these poles were removed from the right of way, or at least placed far enough from the roadside to obviate the danger of accident. Literary Digest Poll Cast by "Highbrows," Says Observer, Who Thinks They Ignore Dry Facts.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I fail to see why the drys should worry over the Literary Digest poll, even if the wets do outvote them two, or even three or four, to one. The Literary Digest is really a man's periodical, and its well-to-do subscribers are to a considerable extent highbrows who view public questions from the academic standpoint. In debating a question like that of prohibition they don't bother much about actualities. The words "personal liberty" outweigh in their minds any amount of hard fact proving the evils of intemperance. In a poll of the women's magazines of the country the wets would be snowed under. If the question of repeal of the eighteenth amendment is ever submitted to the people, the working men of the country and their families, familiar as they are with the bright side of prohibition, will make a laughing-stock of the misguided malcontents who gloat over the wet straw of the Digest vote. OBSERVER.

Senate Stands as a Safeguard Against Hasty and Unwise Action.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: For several generations the Senate of the United States has been subjected to constant adverse criticism by tinkering demagogues and get-good-quick reformers. Today as in the past it is a mark for ridicule and moss-covered jokes because it will not weigh grave questions of public policy in a hurry. At the present moment over in London among its disgruntled critics are foreign diplomats aware that its cautious deliberations stand in the way of any effort to entangle the United States in the political strife and hatreds of Europe.

It is in view of such circumstances as this that the great mass of the so-called common people, regardless of what impatient theorists may think, maintain their faith in the Senate. Its influence in respect to the naval conference and its action when it kept us from membership in the League of Nations furnish evidence enough that, in setting it up as a safeguard against undue haste, the framers of the Constitution knew what is good for democracy. FEDERALIST.

Confusing Lights at the Circle Bring Death to Pedestrians.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: At all of the right-angled street intersections where the traffic lights are installed both street traffic and pedestrians go on the green light and stop on the red.

At Thomas Circle the street traffic goes on the green light, but pedestrians, in order to get across at any of the white lines, must cross on the red light, that is, when the street traffic stops.

Reading of the killing of a physician at Dupont Circle on Tuesday causes one to wonder why such unfortunate events are not daily occurences at Thomas Circle. Again, the turning of the lights at that circle for pedestrians is too short by at least 10 seconds—some people say even more. It is too short a time to allow the pedestrian to make the long distance between curbs.

Signs should be placed at the crossings of this circle reading "Pedestrians must cross on the red lights." Since the public is educated in this city to go on the green light and stop on the red light, what can be expected but confusion and accidents at the circles, where the opposite rule prevails? X. Y. MUELLER'S CABINET QUITS AFTER DEFEAT

German Coalition Crashes as Parties Disagree on Insurance Issue.

BRUENING IS MENTIONED

Berlin, March 27 (A.P.).—The coalition government of Chancellor Hermann Mueller, after surviving the stormy seas of postwar German politics for 21 months and recently bringing the Young reparations plan safely through the Reichstag, crashed today on one of the many rocks threatening it in its financial program.

The cabinet resigned when its component parties failed to agree on an unemployment insurance question. President von Hindenburg accepted the resignation, requesting the ministers to remain in office until a new cabinet could be formed.

Dr. Heinrich Bruening, a Centrist member of the Reichstag and one of the outstanding leaders of his party, was reported to have been suggested by Chancellor Mueller for the task of forming a new government.

Trouble for Weeks.

The resignation of the Mueller cabinet was far from being unexpected. Political circles had long believed that all that was holding it together was the necessity of seeing the Young plan through the Reichstag, and consolidating the achievements of the late Foreign Minister Gustave Stresemann in European politics.

The Socialists, who, with the Centrists, Democrats and Populists, and the Bavarian Peoples party, formed the coalition, will withdraw from it, and the new government therefore will have a center of gravity shifted farther toward the center of the Reichstag. The Centrists, probably under Dr. Bruening, will be logical leaders of the new coalition, supported by the Populists, the Democrats, Bavarians, Christian Socialists and the Economic party.

For weeks the financial program of Finance Minister Moldenhauer has been causing trouble for the cabinet, over taxation as well as unemployment insurance. Dr. Mueller failed in his efforts to conciliate the views of the various party leaders.

Compromise Is Rejected.

The question actually at issue was whether the government of the Reich would add the sum of 100,000,000 marks to a subsidy of the Federal Unemployment Institute, which is chiefly supported by obligatory contributions from employers and employes, or whether these contributions should be increased. It was also suggested that the existing scale of unemployment doles should be reduced.

Dr. Moldenhauer, finance minister and member of the Populist Party, opposed the additional subsidy, maintaining it would throw the whole budget out of gear. The proposal to raise the obligatory contributions was opposed by both Socialists and Populists, and the lowering of the doles by the Socialists.

A compromise suggested by the Centrists, virtually postponing the issue until autumn, was rejected by the Socialists.

Dry Agent Faces Murder Charge

Action to Be Filed, Despite Claim Official Fired in Self-Defense.

Clarksdale, Miss., March 27 (A.P.).—Sheriff Lee C. Matthews announced today that a formal charge of murder would be filed against E. S. Chapman, deputy prohibition administrator, who killed J. L. Doggett, farmer, in a pistol battle here Tuesday. The shooting was said by officers to have been the outcome of an argument over liquor case bonding. Doggett was buried today.

Sheriff Matthews added that, regardless of the Federal investigation which was held that Chapman shot in self-defense, the State would charge the defendant with the murder of Doggett.

Government investigators today completed their inquiry into the tragedy. Their report is to be forwarded to Prohibition Commissioner Doran in Washington, who said yesterday that he would not suspend Chapman because of his claim of self-defense. The prisoner was guarded closely in Coahoma County Jail after threats had been made against his life.

CAPITAL VOTES WET IN NATIONAL POLL

Georgia, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota and Washington show more votes in favor of enforcement than for either modification or repeal.

The other ten States, California, Connecticut, Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, and also the District of Columbia, give a vote for repeal greater than for either modification or enforcement.

Georgia, the only Southern State from which ballots have been tabulated, shows 4,061 votes for enforcement out of a total of 10,885, counted.

An additional 541,548 votes are reported this week over the returns last week.

North Dakota is the only State that has changed toward a dryer attitude.

Attention is called by the magazine to the fact that "the drys are voting" as evidenced by a substantial balloting for strict enforcement in known arid centers.

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

A LOGROLLING tariff bill, reeking with trades, has now gone to a conference which will take care that every trade made in good faith is carried out. It goes to the conference with the tacit approval of the Democrats and Progressives, despite all the oratory on the Senate floor and all the effusions from publicity headquarters.

By the time it emerges it may be a comparatively satisfactory bill from the protection standpoint. It is far from all that the really high-tariff folks would like. It denied a tariff to shoes, which the manufacturers and workers as well up in Massachusetts thought necessary to their existence. It denied many others. It grants a far greater measure of protection than such fire-eating opponents as Pat Harrison approved. But, all in all, it is a high-tariff bill.

But the disconcerting fact, if one attempts to measure political consequences, is that eight Democratic senators were lined up for it. Seven of them, including Senator Copeland, of New York, voted for it, and one more was paired for the measure. Also half a dozen out-and-out Progressives voted for it.

Still more interesting, if one attempts to measure the politics, is the fact that the coalition leaders, weeks in advance of the final vote in the Senate, refused an opportunity which would have given them control of the Senate conferees. William E. Borah, regretting in his last explanation of why he would vote for the bill that the conferees would have no friend for the export farm debenture proposal, did not strike a spark on this. No one answered.

* * * *

YET but a short time before it had been eagerly proposed by some of the Democratic senators that the coalition take charge of the Senate when the conferees were named, and substitute Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, in place of one of the regular Republicans who would be appointed if the normal rule of seniority were allowed to hold.

The coalition had the votes, at the time this was proposed, to have carried it out. Had the Democrats and Progressives done this, the result of the conference now about to meet would have been very different. The Democratic senators on the conference, Simmons, of North Carolina, and Harrison, of Mississippi, whenever they chose, could combine with Senator La Follette and control the Senate side of the conference. So nothing could have been agreed upon without their consent.

Shrewd leaders in the Democratic party, however, were horror-struck at the suggestion. They did not want the bill revised in conference to meet the ideas they had been expressing on the floor. Some of them objected because actually they wanted certain rates for their own States to go through, which under a coalition-controlled conference might be revised downward. More of them objected because they thought it would be better politics for the bill to be made "as bad as possible," so that they would have a political issue.

* * * *

IT MAY be a coincidence, but from the day that proposition to put La Follette on the conference committe was rejected, the coalition began to lose its power in the Senate, and one began to hear charges of trades and deals. Previous votes in which the coalition had triumphed were reconsidered, and in many instances the rates were marked up.

In short the cold showing of political motives actuated some of the men who had been most enthusiastic for improving the bill—from the low tariff standpoint—in deciding to get what they could for their States, by trading or however it could be obtained, and the reign of the coalition was over.

A few days later Senator Harrison on the floor was charging that a combination had been made of senators interested in higher duties for lumber, oil, sugar and cement, and that shameless trading was going on. There was no doubt about that. But the only difference between the way this bill was enacted and the way most other tariff bills have been enacted is that in the old days the deals would have been made earlier in the game—at great saving of time and effort, not to mention oratory—but the results would have been approximately the same.

Had the deals been made while the bill was still in committee a lot of senators now embarrassed by having to explain why they changed their votes would have gotten what they wanted without so much publicity.

SENATORS FIGHT STIMSON PLAN TO AID PARLEY

how innocuous or harmless it may appear to be. Senator Swanson, ranking Democratic member of the foreign relations committee, is against it. Senator Fess is on record as saying it was "unthinkable." Senator George, after talking with the President yesterday, said the Senate would not agree to it. Senator Shipstead issued a statement against it yesterday. Senator Borah said:

"It might be helpful if someone in London would define a consultative pact and then place alongside of this definition a further definition of a security pact. A consultative pact is a security pact in disguise. In a security pact you state in the pact what you are going to do after you have consulted. In a consultative pact you conceal what you are going to do after you have consulted, but you will be forced by the logic of the hour to do precisely what you expressly agreed to do in the security pact. A consultative pact in which the parties would not go forward and do whatever would be necessary to be done in accordance with the realities of the situation would be a pious fraud—and a fraud which under the exigencies of the hour would be rejected.

Would Use Force.

"M. Briand declared a few days ago in very plain language what he meant by a consultative pact—he meant a pact under which in case of a threat of war the parties would come together, consult, and, if necessary, use whatever force required to defeat and punish the wrongdoer—and the wrongdoer, of course, would always be the other nation. M. Briand is a realist. And, as he plainly stated, he has no faith in any treaty for peace, not backed up by armies and navies.

"I am not criticizing the French view. That is their view and no doubt sincerely entertained. If the United States wants to agree to use force, to pledge its armies and navies to guarantee peace, that is one thing, but that is the only conception of a consultative or a security pact that the French people entertain. They may be right. I do not think so. But whether they are right or wrong, there is no need of anyone misunderstanding their position."

Senator Shipstead's statement is as follows:

"It is apparent that many of the governments represented at the London conference are more interested in pledging partners for the next war than they are in disarmament. The American delegation has said, 'We will disarm as far as anybody and you can not go too far for us.' The delegates representing other governments are apparently not interested in disarmament. They ask, 'Who will America play with in the next war?' We say, 'We will not play with any one' and so the question now before the conference is, 'Will you agree to consult about it?' To agree to consult is to agree to decide. To agree to decide is to agree to act. To agree to act is to agree that we are going into the next war. They call this the road to peace. That is what they called the triple alliance, and the triple entente, and the quadruple alliance.

Lord Grey Quoted.

"When England agreed to take her fleet out of the Mediterranean and France took her fleet out of the English Channel there was no agreement that in the event of war one would help the other, but they consulted about it. The French government told Lord Grey while there had been no written agreement there was a moral obligation upon England to come to the help of France. In other words, that there was an implied compact of security and Lord Grey said in his memoirs that 'after consultation with the French premier he felt the weight of his argument and promised the support of England to France in the war with Germany.'

"If the conference can only be saved by a pact tying us into the next war the conference ought to die. The way to save the conference is for European governments to disarm with us and in this we are pledged to go the limit.

"If Briand is forced to explain what he means by 'a security pact' he will say that he means military aid when French enters the next war.

"It is plain that an organized effort is being made to blame the United States if no disarmament results from this conference. Let no one be fooled. Our delegates have said that we will disarm as far as any one. Let us stand pat on that."

Grocer Defrauded by Bad Check.

Sidney L. Wyman, manager of the American Store, at 637 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, told police yesterday that he was defrauded of $10 worth of groceries and $8.54 in cash by a stranger. The customer asked that the foodstuffs be delivered to an address in Eleventh street southeast and gave a check for $18.65 in payment. When Hyman later tendered the check at the bank he was informed it was spurious.

ONTARIO PREMIER MAY OFFER RUM TESTIMONY IN U. S. QUIZ

Hill came after the House judiciary committee favorably reported the first of the Law Enforcement Commission's recommendations to strengthen the dry laws by authorizing the institution of padlock proceedings against speak-easies, night clubs and other places where liquor is illegally dispensed. The measure would authorize absentee service of summons through publication and posting.

The judiciary committee also considered the Stobbs bill to modify the Jones law by defining misdemeanors and fixing the maximum penalty for first and slight offenses at not more than six months in jail and a fine of $500. The committee will consider several other measures recommended by the Enforcement Commission to relieve congested Federal courts next Thursday.

Appearing for the dry forces Wednesday, Drury said bootlegging, drinking in the home, liquor consumption and crime had increased in the Dominion under government liquor control. In answer to this, Premier Ferguson said in Toronto, that "the best evidence of satisfaction of the public of Ontario as to the law is shown in the result of the last election."

Repudiation by Ferguson.

"The province repudiated Mr Drury's policy and returned 92 supporters of a government out of a total of 112 members in its Legislature," he said.

The premier added that if the officials at Washington desired accurate information on government control of liquor, his government would be glad to offer every opportunity and assistance in every way to secure data upon which they might reach a conclusion.

Chairman Graham, of the House judiciary committee, said he thought the dry forces would end their argument for prohibition next Wednesday and that his committee would hear the rebuttal about two weeks thereafter. This, he thought, would conclude the hearings on the measures to repeal the eighteenth amendment

Border Patrol Proposed.

As to the remainder of the Wickersham measures, the Pennsylvanian said that the committee was disposed to cooperate with the administration and that he felt that the bills would be enacted at this session.

A move to carry out another recommendation of the law enforcement commission was made late yesterday by Representative Hudson (Republican), Michigan, a dry. He introduced a bill to create a border patrol, combining the Coast Guard, customs and immigration agencies.

The measure also would provide that any vessel or vehicle forfeited to the Government after being seized while transporting merchandise illegally into the country be converted to the use of the patrol.

FRANCO-BRITISH SEA PACT BARRIERS RISE

French Demand Slash in Other Fleets if She Reduces Hers.

BRITAIN STAND IS FIRM

but more pessimism has been caused by M Briand's second proposal. Great Britain all along has taken the view that she will enter into no pacts unless the French naval program is reduced, and hints have come from the French that in exchange for pacts they would reduce.

Now it appears, however, that M. Briand holds that any reductions in fleets consequent upon an increase in mutual security must be mutual; that is, if the French reduce their fleet, other nations must reduce theirs in proportion. The danger lies in the phrase "in proportion," since, according to the British, Great Britain starts from a low level, the United States and Japan from an intermediate level, and France from a high level, so that France ought to reduce more proportionately than the others.

Big Five Meet Again.

The big five met this afternoon at St. James' Palace, their first full meeting with M. Briand present for nearly three weeks. At this meeting the security question, upon which the fate of the five-power conference now depends, was not discussed, but it was agreed to hold a plenary session April 4. M. Briand expressed hope that the compromise on a method of limitation reached six weeks ago can be formally indorsed then, but this depends upon French willingness to compromise on figures according to other delegates.

Former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki then caused surprise by suggesting that the plenary session should confine itself to technical, not political, questions, as the latter might prove too dangerous. Prime Minister MacDonald and Secretary of State Stimson sat silent when this suggestion was made, perhaps not entirely understanding what M. Wakatsuki was driving at—which is, indeed, still obscure—but M. Briand leaped into the breach and soothingly explained to the Japanese spokesman that when political problems are stated objectively and without polemics they are not dangerous.

M. Wakatsuki earlier explained to Mr. MacDonald that the Japanese reply to the American offer, with which the British are associated, will not be forwarded from Tokyo this week.

Waiting Game Is Hinted.

The official explanation is conflict of opinion in Japan, but the view is generally held that Japan desires to play a waiting game to see how the security issue resolves itself and whether a five-power or a three-power treaty is in prospect. The Japanese answer, it is thought, will depend upon what happens to other negotiations, although there is no reason to suppose that Japan will not stick to her demand for a 70 per cent ratio in big cruisers on the basis already explained in dispatches.

The Japanese appear to feel that their demands are more likely to go through at the end of the proceedings when everybody is anxious to pack up and go home than at this present "comparatively early stage of the conference," as one homesick delegate remarked with mordant irony.

It is noticeable that the Italians are not yet called into security pact negotiations and the discussions planned for the week-end are British-Italian and British-French, but not French-Italian. The situation between the two Latin delegations apparently does not permit of political discussions without what M. Briand termed to M. Wakatsuki today "polemics." The Italian spokesman pointed out tonight that if France gets the security she wants, she will, of course, no longer object to parity with Italy.

British Opinion Hardens.

British opinion of the security question, though still largely uninformed, seems to be hardening against giving France any new commitments, but the foreign office is anxious to do so as the only way to save the conference. A blow to a new pact is contained in an editorial today in the Manchester Guardian, Liberal organ of great influence in international affairs, which says in part:

"MacDonald stands on treacherous ground. If he once begins to slide, he may find himself surprisingly quickly at the bottom of the slope. In form, of course, he will consent to no new military or naval obligations to France, but it is difficult to see how he can go beyond the American offer of a purely consultative pact without committing this country to the possibility of having to give France armed support. It is equally difficult to suppose that anything less would satisfy the French.

"The danger, of course, lies in the sanctions of the covenant of the league. If MacDonald accepts them as his starting point and then proceeds to define them with reference to the purely Mediterranean problem he will find himself preparing something very much like a second Locarno. One Locarno is enough."

Kellogg Thinks Parley Will Show Results Yet

New York, March 27 (N.Y.W.N.S.) "I am not at all disheartened. I expect that very substantial results will be obtained at the naval conference," former Secretary of State Frank B Kellogg, one of the authors of the peace pact which bears his name and which forms the basis of the negotiations at London for naval disarmament, declared here today in commenting on the latest developments in the conference.

Mr. Kellogg was interviewed at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, where he arrived today for a speech at Town Hall tomorrow evening. He will address the League for Political Education on "The United States and the Outlook for World Peace."

The former Secretary was cautious in discussing the conference. Asked whether he thought the recently expressed willingness of the United States to consult with other nations in case of a threat of war has brightened the prospects for a limitation treaty, Mr. Kellogg said with a smile:

"It would appear so, from the press dispatches."

He declined to say whether he considered the entrance of the United States into a consultative pact would strengthen the Kellogg pact against war. That question, he said, he will discuss in his speech at Town Hall.

Child's Arm Broken at Play.

Betty Lettie Powell, 10 years old, of 1211 B street northeast, suffered a fracture of the right forearm yesterday afternoon when she fell from a see-saw on the grounds of the Pierce School, Fourteenth street and Maryland avenue northeast. The girl's injury was treated at the Casualty Hospital.

Mexican Aviators Will Try To Clip Lindbergh Records

New York-to-Paris Hop and Washington-to-Mexico Flights Planned.

Mexico City, March 27 (A.P.).—Determined efforts to break Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's two principal flight records will be made by crack Mexican army pilots on about the third anniversary of Lindbergh's flight to Paris.

Col. Gustavo Leon and Col. Roberto Fierro, both well-known international fliers, will figure as the principals in the daring speed attempts designed to lower Lindbergh's New York-to-Paris and Washington-to-Mexico City time, as a means of demonstrating the ability of Mexican aviators.

Col. Leon expects to be ready in late April or early May for an attempted one-stop flight from Mexico City to Paris. The first leg of this flight, Mexico City to New York, never has been made in nonstop flight. Refueling at New York, Col. Leon plans to continue alone to Paris, and in this second leg hopes to shear a few hours off Lindbergh's record of 33 hours for the transatlantic crossing.

Col. Fierro, who already has established his name as a good-will flier, and was a hero in the last Mexican revolution, believes he can cut eight to ten hours off Lindbergh's Washington-to-Mexico City flight made in December, 1927.

With a specially built plane in which he eventually hopes also to reach Europe, Fierro believes he can fly the distance in less than 20 hours whereas Lindbergh required 27 hours, principally because he wasted considerable time at the end of the flight locating Mexico City among the high mountain peaks of the Central Mexican plateau.

Fierro expects to go to California within a month for his ship and will make the try soon afterward. From Mexico City he plans to continue to Havana, Panama, Brazil, South Africa and Europe.

JAPANESE CABINET OPPOSED ON PACT

NAVAL CIRCLES RESTIVE

Tokyo, March 27 (A.P.).—Vigorous opposition to Japan's acceptance of the tentative agreement by Japanese and American delegates to the London Naval Conference halted action today by the Japanese cabinet, the ministers apparently believing that their acceptance would endanger the Hamaguchi cabinet's existence.

The naval general staff, supported by other influential elements, has opposed the inclination of civilian officials to accept the agreement.

The naval faction insisted that while it provided for Japan having a percentage of 69.6 of the total tonnage of the United States the agreement was fatally defective because it did not concede Japan a 70 per cent ratio in big cruisers and provided for but 52,000 tons of submarines instead of 78,000 tons contended for by Japan.

The tentative agreement at London would have permitted Japan 60.2 per cent of the American tonnage in big cruisers.

The meeting of the cabinet scheduled for today to act upon the American proposal made at London was canceled because of the domestic political obstacles to its acceptance. Difficulties have arisen, it was stated authoritatively, to the drafting of instructions to the London delegation. The draft is not expected to be ready for consideration at tomorrow's regular cabinet session, and the reply of the government, accepting or rejecting the tentative agreement, probably will not be dispatched until next week.

Although cabinet ministers are said to be convinced of the wisdom of accepting the agreement, believing that it would insure amity with other powers, they wish to avoid precipitation of a political crisis at home. Therefore, careful deliberations are being continued.

FRANKNESS OF U.S. PRAISED IN PARIS

ISOLATION IS HELD GONE

Paris, March 27 (A.P.).—French opinion tonight lauds the United States for the frankness of he American position in refusing to make guarantees of security to France in order to obtain a five-power naval disarmament treaty at London.

The French admire the honesty of the United States in declining even to appear to be hoodwinking France by inducing the French to reduce their naval program on a basis of supposed American military assistance in case France is attacked.

France thinks the United States now will participate in a general consultative pact. This is agreeable to the French, but they do not deem it enough to warrant this naval reduction.

They desire a Mediterranean treaty with Great Britain, Italy and Spain, perhaps Jugoslavia and Greece also participating, too. They want it to imply real mutual assistance in time of aggression by one of the signatories.

The view was expressed tonight that participation by the United States in a consultative pact will go far toward removing any idea that the United States will remain in an isolated position.

It is held that if the United States at least consents to sit around the table and consult with other nations in time of crisis, this will go a long way toward tightening the fabric of peace.

TARDIEU'S MINISTRY WINS IN TEST VOTES

SUPPORTED BY SENATE

Paris, March 27 (A.P.).—Premier Andre Tardieu won two skirmishes with Parliament today and observers believe his cabinet is safe until after ratification of the Young plan.

In the Chamber of Deputies he twice opposed a question of confidence and twice was sustained—the first time by raised hands and the second by a vote of 319 to 262.

The Senate voted confidence in Tardieu, 148-124 on the question of credits necessary to finance the new undersecretaries of state provided in the new ministries established.

The two votes in the chamber arose over bills for ratification of the Young plan. On the first instance, Louis Marin, nationalist leader, denounced the plan and then moved the previous question, which would call for an immediate vote. When the premier asked for the chamber's support so many hands went up it wasn't necessary to count them.

In the second instance the discussion was bitter. The Radical Socialists moved to defer debate until the return of Foreign Minister Briand from London, and the arguments of the radicals became so bitter the few ministers present left the government benches in sign of protest. But Tardieu emerged with a majority of 57.

Woman Tried in Mate's Poisoning Is Acquitted

El Dorado, Ark., March 27 (A.P.).—Mrs. Bertie Gentry, 36 years old, was acquitted today of a charge of murder in connection with the death of her 24-year old husband, who the State charges was poisoned by the woman for his insurance. The jury deliberated 25 minutes.

Gentry's death in the oil field section near here first was ascribed to pneumonia. Neighbors of the family later reported suspicious circumstances and the body was exhumed. A State chemist testified he found evidence of poison in the viscera. A druggist at Strong, where the family lived, testified Mrs. Gentry had bought poison from him some time before his death. Mrs. Gentry said her husband had hinted of suicide and contended he took the poison without her knowledge.

Young Plan Before Belgian Senate.

Brussels, Belgium, March 27 (A.P.) The Young plan for reparations is now before the senate. Ratification is expected by the end of next week.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Society Head Is Hostess at Eckener Fete

Dr. Grosvenor Entertains for Graf Zeppelin Commander.

By JEAN ELIOT.

NEWS that the Duc de Richelieu has recently given to the Sorbonne his great chateau in the Loire country has considerable interest for Washingtonians. For, although he has inherited two splendid estates in France, the Duc de Richelieu is half American. He married an American, the charming Miss Eleanor Douglas Wise, of Baltimore, and he spends most of his time in America. Indeed, the duc has been an occasional visitor in Washington and the charming Duchesse de Richelieu comes to town more frequently, as she has many friends here and as she now has a sister, Mrs. James D. Wise, living in the Capital.

Surrounded by 1,000 acres of rolling woodland, the chateau which the Duc de Richelieu has presented to the great French university is to be used as a holiday home for the professors. Lying off the track beaten by the tourist, the chateau is little known despite its associations with the great Cardinal Richelieu. It has heretofore not been open to visitors, although its park might be explored.

In the seventeenth century Cardinal Richelieu built this somewhat grandiose pile on the order of the Palais Royal in Paris. However, he seldom lived there and except for a pavilion the original buildings were destroyed early in the nineteenth century. A famous marble table from this chateau is now in the Louvre.

The Duc and Duchesse de Richelieu are now in this country and the duchess has been spending some weeks in Florida. She is gifted with a charming voice and frequently gives recitals for various charities in which she is interested. Washingtonians have had opportunity to hear her from time to time, and more recently she has given a concert or two in Florida.

The Ducs de Richelieu, descendants of the cardinal's family, have figured prominently in various ways. One much in evidence in the latter half of the eighteenth century made Bordeaux wines popular in Paris. The next duke, at the time of the French revolution, emigrated to Russia and remained there many years, becoming a great friend of Czar Alexander I, and was made Governor of Odessa. During the early Bourbon restoration he became premier of France and, through his ties with Alexander I and his repute with the Duke of Wellington, ended the occupation of France by foreign armies of 1819.

Mrs. John B. Henderson entertained at dinner last evening in honor of Mr. George Clapp, of Pittsburgh. Among the guests were a number of scientists, friends of the late Mr. John B. Henderson, jr., author of "American Diplomatic Questions" and "The Cruise of the Barrera," the narrative of a scientific expedition to Western Cuba and the Colorados Reefs, with observations on the geology, fauna and flora of the region.

Bishop Freeman to Visit Minneapolis' Friends.

The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, will leave Chicago today for Minneapolis, where he will remain over the week-end. For many years Bishop Freeman was rector of St. Mark's Church, Minneapolis. He has been in Chicago attending the special meeting of the House of Bishops, called to elect a presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church.

Mrs. D. Buchanan Merryman has as guests Mrs. E. Pinckney Collins and Miss Bessie Montague Collins, of Morristown, N. J., who are with her in her apartment at 1911 R street. Maj. Collins will come from New Jersey to spend the week-end.

Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose was hostess to a small company at an informal dinner last evening in her apartment at the Mayflower.

Mrs. Raymond Belmont has motored to Washington from her home in Middleburg, Va., accompanied by Miss Maddox, and is staying at the Carlton. She came to be near Mr Belmont, who is in Emergency Hospital suffering from injuries in a fall from his horse.

Senator and Mrs. Jones Have Guest From Home.

Senator and Mrs. Wesley L. Jones have had as their guest in their apartment at the Hotel Roosevelt Mr. W W. Robertson, of Yakima, Wash. Mr Robertson is the editor of the Yakima Herald and Republican. He has now gone to New York, where he will visit his daughter before returning to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Alfred Ricker, formerly of Washington and now residing in Chicago, will be in the Capital from April 5 to April 12 attending the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at the Mayflower Hotel. During the latter part of the week they will be guests of friends here.

The newly appointed Attache of the Legation of Switzerland, Mr. Pierre de Salis, will arrive in Washington about April 6 and will make his home at the Wardman Park Hotel. Mr. de Salis will succeed Mr. Walter Rufenacht.

Mrs. Jouett Shouse To Receive at Club.

Mrs. Jouett Shouse, wife of the chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic national committee, will be at home at the Woman's National Democratic Club this afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Shouse will be assisted by Mrs J Borden Harriman, former Gov Nellie Tayloe Ross, Mrs. Waller B Hunt and Mrs. William Preston Wooten.

Mrs. Andrew Baldwin, with her daughter, Miss Nancy Jane Baldwin, and her cousin, Miss Eugenia George of Grosse Pointe, Mich., is passing a week at the Wardman Park Hotel.

Mr. W. W. Rapley entertained at luncheon in the crystal room at the Willard yesterday in honor of Mr Burton Holmes.

Mrs. C. J. Nourse, jr., of New York is at the Carlton for a few days, accompanied by Mrs. Schuyler Van Vechten and the Misses Van Vechten, of Short Hills, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Armstrong, of Minneapolis, who have been passing a week in Washington, will leave today for their home in the West.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Leighty will entertain at the dinner dance Saturday evening at the Wardman Park Hotel in honor of Mrs. Frank H. Ellis, of Chicago, who is visiting Representative and Mrs. E. C. Ellis at the Hotel Roosevelt.

Marchesa Louise de Rosales has joined Mrs. Arthur Bullard at the Gladstone Hotel in New York.

Mrs. George Mesta entertained at dinner last evening for Mrs. Gay Ellis, of Chicago, who is stopping in Washington for a short visit on her way from Bermuda.

Col. Cooper Plans Monday Musicale.

One of the interesting events taking place during the Lenten season is the mid-Lent musicale and tea to be given by Col. Wade H. Cooper at the Mayflower on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Following the musicale by Miss Helen Howison, lyric soprano; Mr Henry Sokolov, violinist, concert master of the National Symphony Orchestra, and Mr. Michael Shvetz, basso, formerly of the Russian Imperial Theater, in an interesting program, which has been specially prepared for the occasion, tea will be served. Col Cooper will be assisted by the following hostesses:

Senora de Tellez, wife of the Ambassador of Mexico; Senora de Davila, wife of the Ambassador to Chile; Mme. Veverka, wife of the Minister of Czechoslovakia; Senora Diez de Medina wife of the Minister of Bolivia; Mrs. Claude A. Swanson, Mrs. Morris Sheppard, Mrs. James E. Watson, Mrs. W. F. George, Mrs. Porter Dale, Mrs. Guy D. Goff, Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenburg, Mrs. William E. Brock, Mrs. John A. Hull, Mrs. Stephen O. Fuqua, Mrs. Joseph E. Washington, Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, Mrs. Frank B. Freyer, Mrs. Robert Whitney Imbrie, Mrs. Robert Love Taylor, Mrs. John Allen Dougherty, Mrs. George C. Thorpe, Mrs. Charles B. Drake, Mrs. Alice B. Carrier and Mrs. Elonzo Tyner.

Society Reads With Interest Of Ducal Gift

Sorbonne Gets Chateau Built by Cardinal Richelieu.

As a preliminary to the presentation of the National Geographic Society's gold medal to Dr. Hugo Eckener last night, Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the society, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Cosmos Club for the distinguished German whose round-the-world flight in the Graf Zeppelin was commemorated at ceremonies last evening. At the same time Mrs. Grosvenor was hostess at Wildacres to fifteen ladies, asked to meet Frau Eckener.

Because of the recent death of former President Taft, a trustee of the Geographic Society, Dr. Grosvenor's luncheon was informal in character, but it was attended by a distinguished company, including trustees of the Geographic Society and a number of men interested in aviation and kindred problems.

The German Ambassador, Dr. von Prittwitz und Gaffron, was a guest, as was the Postmaster General, Mr. Walter F. Brown. Others present were Senator Hiram Bingham, Senator Frederic C. Walcott, the Counselor of the German Embassy, Herr O. C. Kiep; Mr. von Meister, Dr. Charles G. Abbot, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution; Dr. Lyman J. Briggs, of the Bureau of Standards; Mr. A. H. Bumstead, Dr. George K. Burgess, director, Bureau of Standards; Rear Admiral Colby M. Chester, retired; Dr. Lucius Clark, chancellor, American University; Dr. Frederic V. Coville, Dr. J. W. Crabtree, secretary, National Education Association; Mr. Knut Eckener, Mr. John Joy Edson, Mr. Franklin L. Fisher, Mr. Robert V. Fleming, Dr. John A. On the Rules of Traffic

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

There was a time when Washington motorists could not be penalized if they parked their cars in areas reserved for buses or other public vehicles. That time, however, has passed and motorists would profit by realizing it.

This provision of the regulations is soundly based upon recognition of the rights of public vehicle users. It also takes into consideration the fact that stopping buses in the middle of the street when loading and unloading may result in considerable blocking of traffic.

Example: A driver of a private vehicle after looking in vain for a parking space, pulls into the rear of a zone reserved for buses. He remains but a few minutes. It constitutes a violation of the regulations, nevertheless, and lays the driver open to arrest and fine.

"My scalp began to itch and burn and I was troubled with dandruff. Later a rash broke out all over my scalp. I could not sleep on account of the continual irritation. My hair came out in combfuls and was dead and brittle. I usually wore a hat so that people could not see the condition of my hair and scalp.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. After using it the burning and itching sensation left so I purchased more, and in about two months I was healed." (Signed) Miss Hattie M. Martin, Offerman, Ga., June 11, 1929.

WORK ON BRIDGE

We continue today the consideration of opening leads against a No Trump when partner has not bid.

Lead the fourth best unless your suit contains three honors, in which case generally lead the top of touching honors (honors in sequence). Exceptions:

(a) With Ace-King-Queen, lead the King unless you want your partner to play his highest card on the first trick (this lead is discussed below).

(b) From Ace-King-Ten or Ace-Queen-Ten, lead fourth best.

(c) Lead Queen from Queen-Jack-Nine with one or more others; lead Jack from Jack-Ten Nine or Jack-Ten-Eight with one or more others; lead Ten from Ace-Ten-Nine, King-Ten-Nine or Queen-Ten-Nine with one or more others.

The Ace-lead referred to in paragraph (a) above is made when the leader is so long and strong in a suit that he wants his partner to play his highest card, no matter how high that card may be. Ace should be led from Ace-King-Jack-Ten-x-x or Ace-King-Queen-Ten-x. With this convention understood, when the partner does not play the missing high card, and it is not exposed in dummy, the leader knows that it is in the closed hand and can manage his hand accordingly: when the partner does play the high card, it clears the leader's suit and makes it impossible for the partner to block it.

Many a game has been lost by a partner who, holding Queen and two small, has blocked the suit by not dropping the Queen on an initial Ace-lead made from Ace-King-Jack-Ten and two or more others. With King-x-x, the King should be played when a dependable leader demands it by leading the Ace against a No Trump. But even this rigid rule is subject to exceptions when the cards exposed in the dummy show that the play would lose a trick. For example, if dummy held Ten-Nine-x-x and the Ace-leader's partner had King-x-x, Queen-x-x or Jack-x-x, playing the honor in answer to Partner's call for the highest would make good a card in dummy and lose a trick which might be saved by playing second best.

GOOD NEWS, BRIDGERS.

We are pleased to announce we can now renew the offer of Milton C. Work's great Contract and Auction booklet entitled "THE PLAYING PROBLEMS." Bridgers who received copies from previous offers are most enthusiastic over it.

"PLAYING PROBLEMS" presents eighteen hands, the complete auction and contract bidding for each hand with reasons for each bid, the answers to every question and the reason for each answer in complete detail.

"PLAYING PROBLEMS," which will be of much greater value to the auction and contract player than many high-priced textbooks, is not for sale. It has been prepared exclusively for readers of this newspaper by special arrangement with Mr. Work. One copy will be mailed to you upon request if you send self-addressed stamped return envelope, together with 6 cents in stamps to defray part of the cost of printing and handling this 48-page booklet. Requests not complying with these conditions will be ignored.

American Buys Romney Painting.

London, March 27 (A.P.).—Sir Armine Morris, of Glamorgan, is understood to have sold from his collection the noted Romney portrait of "Mrs. Morris and Child" to an American named Col. Carstairs for £18,000 (about $90,000). The picture shows Mrs. Morris, a famous beauty of her time, with her son standing on her lap.

Dan C. INTERPRETS the MODE

Paris, March 27.

"AND where do you want this one?" mumbled the Russian count with his mouth full of thumb tacks, holding up an old-fashioned drawing of four years ago and trying to find the most advantageous place to hang it alongside of the others he was nailing up for me in my new studio.

"Aw, I say, over heah," said the Englishman with the all-but-a-monocle.

"Oh, no, over here," said the Italian with the big brown eyes, reproachfully.

"I don't care where you put it—Zut! Is the spaghetti boiling over?" says Dare—"no, hold on a minute, give it to me, the drawing, not the spaghetti."

* * * *

Four years old, and with just an extra belt threaded through here at the normal waistline, and lower décolletage front and back, a longer skirt and one of those trick evening hats that everybody adores and hopes they will have nerve enough to wear this season, this would look very much like a Lanvin or a Patou or a Poiret model, on my word of honor.

'Nn wouldn't that amuse my dear publique? she mused, picking up a pen and completely forgetting the spaghetti and the semisuspended count.

She guessed it would, so there is a 4-year-old Dare illustration for you today, with the above-mentioned alterations—and all I can say is that it's too bad we can't have more of them!

And there are the loveliest silver evening jackets, made of that soft, rich and not glittery lame (lah-may). Stitched in a quilting effect, into tiny squares or circles or diamonds, the stitching gives them a certain form and body they would not otherwise have. They are very seldom fur-trimmed, excepting perhaps the lovely one I saw with its small scarf-collar edged with a lavish band of monkey fur, and its sleeves edged with the same band.

Have you a little glove and bag set in your wardrobe? Yes, they are terrifically expensive, but, oh how de-e-e-elightfully inexpensive they can be if you put the little pieces together according to Dare's directions. A hat shape and a pair of gloves—the crown of the hat shape will make the bag, and the brim the matching cuffs to sew on the gloves. And there you are! Or will be—after you send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post.

And no procrastinating about it, either, or you'll be sorry to find that all these popular leaflets are gone!

Marriage Licenses Fall As Only Five Are Issued

With Dan Cupid resting up for his spring offensive yesterday, only five licenses to marry were issued during the entire court day. The number is one of the smallest ever recorded.

Ordinarily spring is the busiest season of the year in the Marriage License Bureau, the nearest approach being around the Christmas holidays. Last June was the banner month, more than 500 licenses being issued.

What Today Means to You

"ARIES."

IF March 28th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from noon to 1:30 p. m., from 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. and from 10 p. m. to 11:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 a. m. to 9:15 a. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

Influences on this date will clear the cobwebs from your mind and you will spend your time outlining and laying foundations for future development. Temporary financial worries of which Fate has already taken care, will be experienced. Little visible progress will be made.

The child born on this March 28 will be eminently practical and material in many things, and will be more intellectual than emotional. It will not easily lose its head, and seldom lose its heart. It will be guided by reason and logic.

You have always been a "modern" minded person, and in many respects your thoughts are in advance of the times. There are few who take a keener interest in the so-called scientific miracles of the age and the evolutionary changes throughout the world. Your views are not limited by a fixed horizon and your thoughts are not centered on self and self-interests. You have a generous outlook and a philosophical sense of humor.

If you be a woman there is nothing hard, self-seeking or intolerant about you. You are strong-minded, fearless, frank, capable and reliable, but you are not heartless and you have all the womanly traits of your ancestors. You are a charming, sympathetic companion to both men and women—a good sport and a good pal. You may scoff at customs and conventions, and you are probably not on speaking terms with Madam Grundy, but there is nothing unclean or bad about your mind or nature. You are open and above-board in your wisdom and your foolishness. You do not pretend one thing and do another. You are what you appear to be.

If you be a man you have great executive ability and great foresight. You are able to pluck ideas from the future which prove to be of material benefit to you. You will make a devoted and loyal husband and a splendid family man as well as business man.

Successful people born March 28:

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

MEASURING CHILD'S MENTALITY.

DR. GESELL holds that the mental capacity of a child grows according to a pretty definite schedule. By measuring performances by this schedule we can judge whether the child is running late or not. If he is found to be running late the reason should be sought for without much putting off until tomorrow. Noting that the child is behind time lies within the range of tasks of the parent. Finding the cause is the job of some one of greater experience and more training. In some instances the cause is removable.

A baby one month of age shows some power of discrimination in feeling different parts of its mother's face. At the end of the second month he follows with his eyes the movement of objects. At the third month he makes crude movements to grasp a rattle. At four months he grasps toys. At five months he can pick up toys with some trace of skill. At six months he reaches for things that he sees. At seven months he can pick up a tiny pellet. At eight months he will look about for his spoon. At nine he associates a spoon with a cup in connection with eating. At ten he picks up a pellet with precision. At eleven he can pass a rod into or through a hole. At twelve he can articulate one or two words.

In addition, there are acts such as sucking, breathing, crying—the capacity for which is acquired by the normal child before birth. There are also the better known capacities, such as holding the head up, sitting and such.

The growth rate of mentality is greatest in the first month of life. It declines thereafter at a rather definite rate. Gesell, assuming the rate of increase of mentality at two months of age as 100, gives the rate of increases by months thereafter as follows: Third month, 80; fourth, 33 1-3; fifth, 25; sixth, 20; seventh, 16 2-3; eighth, 14 2-7; ninth, 12½; tenth, 11 1-9; twelfth, 9 1-11.

The slowing up of the rate of mental growth continues. He says, taking the rate of mental growth at two years as 100, that during the third year should be 50.

TUBERCULOSIS FACTS.

Mrs. McC. writes:

1. Can tuberculosis be inherited?
2. Is there much danger of infection from the disease?
3. Can it be transmitted from the father to the children?
4. Can one be entirely cured if it is caught in time and if one is young?
5. Are birthmarks inherited?

REPLY.

1. Practically speaking, no.
2. The danger in children is rather high; in adult life, less so.
3. Yes, by contact.
4. Yes.
5. No. They are congenital, however.

GUARD THE CHILDREN.

M. B. writes: Please tell me if it is safe to have any one with tuberculosis around children. My children are 6, 10, and 12. My uncle is staying with us and my wife and I are worried, as he almost always has an odor around him and is careless when he coughs. He hardly ever opens a window or goes out for air.

REPLY.

It is not, particularly if the person affected is careless. In many places it is against the law for children to stay in the home with a consumptive.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"Take It Easy!"

"Take it easy, dad, take it easy, it is all right." A youth who looked not unlike a million other youths, and a father who looked not unlike a million other fathers. But the father was sobbing heart brokenly, and the youth had just been sentenced to the death chair. One looks on at these scenes, but never becomes accustomed to them, never can reconcile them with everyday life. Dumb-faced fathers helplessly staring at their boys who have chosen crime instead of the labor that sweetens life.

"Take it easy, dad, it's all right." All right? An old man at the end of the long journey looking on while the boy who once trotted bravely at his side is sent the "short walk" that ends in a yellow oak chair with many straps, and bolts and wires.

"Take it easy." How account for these things? How account for society that still goes on being very careful about licenses to drive cars, about training before licenses are issued, but happily, crassly indifferent as to licenses for parenthood, childbearing. Not every one can qualify to drive a car. But any one can marry, give birth, wring helpless hands, and fill prisons. Why are we housing in this country today hundreds of thousands of youths who are far from vicious yet who can not be trusted at large among their fellow beings? Who reared them? Who bore them? What were their qualifications for the responsibilities they assumed? "The Lord will provide," says the complacent mother who recently added triplets to a family already numbering 10. Her husband is a laborer and makes $38 a week when he has work. And the Lord will provide. It is high time some of his burden was removed from the Lord, for prisons and State hospitals seem to be assuming it. In New York City, it is no unusual thing for parents to pack up and move when a contagious disease sends their unfortunate children to the hospital. It is their opportunity to begin all over again! And in some other part of swarming New York they proceed to breed more waifs, more victims, more idiots, more inmates for prisons, more occupants for the "death chair." All of which leads up to Mrs. D's letter to this column. Should society permit such irresponsibles to become the parents of helpless human beings.

"I wish to know where I can put my three oldest children, and also my three youngest. The oldest are 15 and 16 and downright bad. The girl stays out all night and goes off for days. The boy steals and gets arrested. When their father is home he beats them both good. But it only keeps them at home till they look all right again. Then worse than ever. And he isn't home much as he leaves me whenever he likes. It is five times now in 12 years and I sometimes don't see him for a year. And no support. Then he walks in and sits down to the table same as if he was never out of my sight. We have nine children. The two youngest just born are twins and very sickly. The next is only 14 months old. My husband has been gone again now for six months. The charity society is paying my rent. My boy will not work. I beat him, but he won't help me. My girl only comes home to wash and iron her clothes, then goes off I do not know where. I want the oldest ones put in a home to learn a trade to support the young ones. I do washings and make out for food, since the rent is paid. But I can not wash and tend two sick babies. Please answer in the paper as there certainly should be help for a mother."

There should! And a suitable penalty for every child she brings into the world well knowing it will starve, fight, kill and be killed because she bore it.

"Take it easy, dad, I am just going to be slaughtered, that's all, but don't worry on my account."

A nice word for these children that are nobody's business. They are borne and beaten, and abandoned by those who gave them life and finally slammed by the State and the majesty of the law. Why not slay these innocents at birth instead of photographing the proud mother and the triplets for which no one intends to provide? And a few years later photographing the fingerprints of the triplets after their battle with existence and the law? Take it easy, everybody, it's perfectly all right."

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

COOKING AN OLD HAM.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

Soak several hours, thoroughly remove all mold and loose pieces and rinse well.

Cover with cold water, add two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, one-half cup brown sugar, four cloves and one bay leaf and heat to boiling. (The amount of cloves and bay leaf may be increased if desired, especially for larger hams.)

Reduce the heat to a constant simmer and allow to cook at this temperature at the rate of twenty minutes for each pound weight.

Remove from the fire, but keep the ham in the liquor in which it was cooked, until cold; then remove from the container and allow to drain.

Take off the skin, score the fat in inch blocks and cover with a coating of brown sugar and crumbs. Stick with cloves one inch apart.

Bake in a slow oven until nicely browned, basting at intervals with one-half cup of water and one tablespoonful of vinegar. A ham should always be well cooked before it is eaten.

SCALLOPED CLAMS WITH ELBOW MACARONI.

1 package elbow macaroni
1 quart clams
3 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon flour
1½ cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
⅛-teaspoon paprika
⅛-teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon minced parsley
Buttered bread crumbs

Parboil the elbow macaroni for 9 minutes in 4 quarts rapidly boiling water to which 1 tablespoon salt has been added. Drain. Clean the clams, steam to remove from shell (or remove from the can), reserving ½-cup of the liquor. Mince the clams, rejecting the tough parts. Make a white sauce by melting the butter and blending in the flour and the milk. Add the salt, pepper, paprika and parsley and cook till the sauce thickens. Then add the strained liquor. Into a well-buttered baking dish put alternate layers of macaroni and clams, finishing with the macaroni. Pour the sauce over this, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a quick oven 15 minutes.

DAIRY DRIVERS SAY UNION LOCKED OUT

SERVICE IS THREATENED

Charges and denials flew thick and fast yesterday in dairy delivery service difficulties, which threaten to affect all major milk companies in town. At the Chestnut Farms Dairy, where the trouble originated yesterday morning, Vice President E. M. Brawner said that 21 drivers were out because "they refused to go to work."

The drivers said that they were "locked out" because they joined a milk drivers' union several days ago. "When we went to work yesterday morning," one of the drivers said, "we were told that we were fired unless we withdrew from the union. We refused to do so and left."

J. E. Toone, organizer of the union, supported the drivers' contention of a "lockout" but Mr. Brawner countered with the claim that the dairy was not opposed to union labor. "We have more than a score of union drivers working with us who are not involved in this trouble," he said. "No official of this company told the drivers that they would be fired if they remained in the union. The trouble seems to be due to a split in the union's ranks."

Following a meeting at the Central Labor Union headquarters at noon yesterday, the dissatisfied drivers made plans for getting others to join in the walkout, and Mr. Toone announced that he would attempt to organize drivers of the Chevy Chase Dairy and Thompson's Dairy. These firms, he charged, had sent drivers to take the place of those who left the Chestnut Farms Co. Officials of the companies reported no walk-outs yesterday, and Mr. Brawner said that he did not anticipate any further trouble at Chestnut Farms. "The milk will be delivered on schedule," he added.

Taxi Firm Enters Bankrupt Petition

With Several Suits Pending, Wardman Park Co. Files Request.

The Wardman Park Taxicab Co. yesterday filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy. No schedule of liabilities or assets was filed, the 10-day period of grace being reserved.

Filing of the petition followed a meeting of the board of directors Tuesday at which time it was voted to authorize the company to seek relief from its financial troubles through the bankruptcy court. Elwood J. Seiler, secretary-treasurer, was designated to file the petition, and the papers bear his signature. Attorneys Wolf & Wolf appear for the company.

A judgment of $10,000 against the company was returned by a jury in District Supreme Court early in the month in favor of Thomas F. Sheridan, administrator of the estate of his son, Francis B. Sheridan, who was fatally injured in a collision between the automobile in which he was riding and one of the company's taxicabs on October 29, 1926. Several other suits against the company are now pending.

FOX FILM LITIGATION GOES TO NEW JURIST

Judge Coleman Holds That Prejudice Charge Against Him Is True.

PACT DECISION IS ASKED

New York, March 27 (A.P.).—Declaring that the facts in an affidavit of prejudice filed against him are true, Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman today entered an order referring all of the proceedings before him in the Fox Film and Fox Theaters Corporations litigation to Judge John C. Knox, presiding jurist of the United States District Court here.

His action was based on an affidavit of prejudice filed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., in each of three receivership proceedings brought against William Fox and the Fox Corporations.

The only thing he could do under the law, Judge Coleman said, was to decide whether the affidavit was true. This he had done, he asserted, and found that the principal facts outlined in it are true. He concluded his remarks by expressing appreciation to counsel for creditor banks for their cooperation in attempting to save the Fox Corporations from receiverships.

After Judge Knox ascended to the bench to take over the case, Samuel Untermyer, attorney, declared there is but one question to be decided in the entire matter and that is whether the trust agreement under which Mr. Fox, H. L. Stuart and John E. Otterson were to control Mr. Fox's stock is in force or has been abrogated. With this point settled, Mr. Untermyer said, the entire situation can be easily cleared up.

Ralph Harris, counsel for all three trustees, read a lengthy statement to the court in which he maintained that Mr. Untermyer had given a biased view of the situation. He said there are "dozens of legal questions to be answered."

Judge Knox set next Monday afternoon for the next hearing.

Important Notice to Candidates in The Post $20,000 Campaign

Only nine more days remain in which to make yourself a winner of one of the 12 Automobiles or 16 Radios which will be given away by The Post following the close of this campaign on April 5, and it is of greatest importance that you should be familiar with the rules governing the final lap of this exciting race. Your attention is also invited to the FINAL VOTE SCHEDULES on both subscriptions and second payments. From now on all previous tables are superseded and votes will be awarded strictly and irrevocably in accordance with the lists below. It will be noticed that the vote values of subscriptions have been increased at the rate of 80,000 additional votes for each $20 worth of new subscriptions, as announced for the final period at the beginning of the campaign on January 12 . . . There is positively no advantage in holding back subscriptions now—Send them in as rapidly as possible and receive your official ballots—all of which must be placed in the locked and sealed ballot box, or at least be within the campaign office by 9 P. M. on Saturday, April 5.

Study the Following Rules and Tables Carefully

Rules and Regulations
Governing Final Period of Campaign

As a matter of caution, and to guard against the possibility of loss to candidates through misunderstanding during these last days of the campaign, final instructions are herewith appended, which should be observed. All candidates, especially those who live in the outside districts, should read and weigh every line carefully.

(1) All remittances mailed from now on should be mailed special delivery to insure their reaching us in time. If you live outside of Washington and intend to mail subscriptions take the precaution to find out what time your postoffice closes, also obtain all possible information as to train service on the railroad which will carry your mail to the campaign office the last day of the campaign, April 5.

(2) You are allowed the privilege of mailing your subscriptions up to Saturday, April 5, 9 p. m. These subscriptions must reach the campaign office by Tuesday noon, April 8, and show a postmark of having been mailed on or before 9 p. m., April 5. The Washington Post will not be responsible for any mail, even though properly postmarked, which fails to arrive within the specified time.

(3) All remittances should be carefully addressed to the Campaign Manager, Washington Post, Washington, D. C. This will assure absolute accuracy and will prevent any of them from going astray.

(4) Examine your official voting ballots carefully and see that the correct number of votes have been issued on same. Pay particular attention to "second payments" and be sure that the proper votes have been issued. If there are any corrections notify the Campaign Manager in person or in writing and proper corrections will be made. The Campaign Department will not be responsible for clerical errors unless notification is given, after which correction will be made.

(5) UNDER NO CONDITION WILL VOTES BE TRANSFERRED FROM ONE CANDIDATE TO ANOTHER. THIS IS AN ABSOLUTE RULE, AND WILL BE STRICTLY ENFORCED.

(6) Be sure and mark your subscriptions properly, Old or New. Be sure they are marked correctly. Every subscription is verified and switching will only result in regret and disappointment.

(7) "Second payments" must be marked as such on the remittance sheet which is sent to the Campaign Department. Also give the amount of the first payment and the name of the candidate obtaining the first payment, if other than yourself.

(8) All remittances sent in after Monday, March 31, must be either postal money order, express money order, certified checks or drafts, excepting the individual checks of subscribers.

(9) Absolutely no subscription money will be refunded. If you don't receive prompt acknowledgment of remittances you send in during the last few days of the campaign notify the Campaign Department immediately.

(10) Only bona fide subscriptions will be accepted. No sums of money will be accepted, the names of subscribers to be supplied later. All remittances should be accompanied by the usual remittance sheets, properly filled out with the amounts.

(11) On the last day of the campaign the campaign staff will be unable to serve any contestant in any way other than by answering questions pertaining to subscriptions, second payments, &c. Contestants must have their subscriptions properly listed on remittance sheets, taking care that these sheets are properly balanced in relation to the amount of money necessary to cover subscriptions listed. Contestants will then seal their final remittances in envelopes provided for that purpose, personally dropping them in sealed and locked ballot box. Thus no one but the candidate in person will know the amount of final remittances until the auditors break the seal and start the final count.

FINAL VOTE SCALE

The final vote scale tabulated in accordance with the original announcement of the campaign, is in effect until the close; remittance sheets should be marked accordingly.

MOTHER KILLS BOYS AND HANGS HERSELF

RELATIVES FIND BODIES

Harriman, Tenn., March 27 (A.P.). Because she was "in trouble," a 28-year-old mother hanged herself in her log cabin home and drowned or smothered to death her three young sons some time last night at D'Armond, a hamlet near here, John Hendrix, chief of police of Harriman, said today. Hendrix said the mother, Mrs. Dorothy Welsh, left a note addressed to an aunt, Lizzie Hammond, saying she was "in trouble" and asking her aunt to forgive her for her act.

Mrs. Welsh's husband, Sherman Welsh, left this section recently to find work in railroad yards in Cincinnati. Hendrix said his investigation indicated that Mr. and Mrs. Welsh were on good terms and that the husband recently had sent money for the support of his wife and their three children, Freddie, 8; Edgar, 7, and Sherman, 5.

Relatives Find Body.

Relatives today found the body of Mrs. Welsh hanging from a rafter in the kitchen of her little house at D'Armond and recovered the bodies of the three children in a pond near the home. The body of each child was wrapped in blankets, tied at each end.

The note did not say what the "trouble" had been, Hendrix said, but instructed that all of Mrs. Welsh's belongings be given to her "Aunt Lizzie." Chief Hendrix said the note went on to say that she did not want her mother to have anything, saying that her mother had driven her away from home.

Hendrix said there was "no doubt but what it was a plain case of suicide and that Mrs. Welsh killed her boys."

Lamp Found Burning.

The police chief said Mrs. Welsh must have been alive as late as last night, since an oil lamp was found lighted in the house when officers entered it this morning. Mrs. Welsh's mother, Mrs. Mary Ellis, who lived nearby, told officers that she had not seen the Welsh children all day Wednesday, and fearing that some of them might be sick, she went to the house today. Finding it locked, she telephoned Sheriff Will Davison, of Roane County. Together, they broke down the doors. After finding Mrs. Welsh's body they began a search for the children.

Coroner M. C. Ellis said a bottle of ether had been found in the Welch house and that the investigation tomorrow would be directed toward the probability that Mrs. Welch administered ether to the children before she put their bodies in the pond.

Gem Salesman Robbed Of $100,000 Diamonds

Chicago, March 27 (A.P.).—Harry Beck, New York diamond salesman, reported to police today that he was robbed of gems valued at $100,000 by three men in the lobby of a downtown building. He said the robbers pressed revolvers against his side and snatched two wallets containing diamonds.

Beck was waiting for an elevator in a Wabash avenue building. The three robbers stepped up behind him, threatened him and frisked his pockets for the wallets. Detectives hurried to the scene but could find no witnesses to the robbery and Beck went to the Central Police Station to make his report. Beck is an employe of the S. Kaplan Co., 64 Fulton street, New York.

Cabaret Owner Freed In Death of 22 Patrons

Detroit, March 27 (A.P.).—Martin Cohn was acquitted today of a manslaughter charge in connection with the deaths of 22 men and women in a fire and panic at the study club, a cabaret of which he was proprietor, last September.

A recorder's court jury returned the verdict after more than twelve hours' deliberation. The State based its charge against the cabaret owner on the claim that he was criminally negligent in failing to provide adequate safety facilities at the club.

MAN SEEKS TO KEEP WIFE FROM OFFICE

CITES PHONE ANNOYANCE

John B. Showalter, real estate broker, with offices at 927 Seventh arteet northwest, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to restrain his wife, Mrs. Madeline Elizabeth Showalter, from molesting or in any manner interfering with him.

Showalter was recently sued for absolute divorce by his wife, and through his attorneys, O'Shea, Burnett & Goldstein, he tells the Court that since the suit was filed January 10 he has been paying her $50 a month alimony. He asserts, however, that his wife bothers him a great deal, telephones him night and day, and threatened to move her belongings to his office.

He alleges that several days ago she came to his office and created a scene. There were two business prospects in his office at the time, and he states that his wife insulted them and maligned him in such a manner that he was unable to conduct his business.

The petition is supported by an affidavit signed by Showalter's stenographer which alleges that the wife interferes with her employer's business, and that on at least one occasion she heard the woman use obscene language.

Showalter recently was sentenced in Police Court on a statutory charge growing out of a police raid. The woman involved in the charge was named corespondent in the wife's divorce action.

Mrs. Showalter several days ago sued a manager of a local apartment house for $5,000, alleging that he had permitted her husband to remove trunks containing clothing and valuables from the apartment storage room without her permission.

Biggest Land Airplane Claims World Records

Dessau, Germany, March 27 (A.P.). The Junkers four-motor G-38, the biggest existing land plane, today claimed two world records for speed and distance.

The big plane flew from Dessau to Leipsic at a speed of 174 kilometers (about 109 miles) an hour and also covered a distance of 206 kilometers (about 130 miles). Both tests were made with a useful load of 5 tons. The Junkers works claimed that the machine is capable of even greater speed.

400 Pupils Saved as School Burns.

Fort Worth, Tex., March 27 (A.P.). More than 400 pupils evacuated the M. G. Ellis Grade School without injury here today while flames roared through the basement, up stairways and down a hall. Principal G. L. Adams sounded the alarm when fire was discovered in the basement. Children on the first floor marched out, and those on the second floor slid down fire escapes at windows.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

THE Thursday Afternoon Travel Club, of which Mrs. Harry Rapley is president, met yesterday in the National Theater to hear and see an inspiring travelogue by Burton Holmes: "Motoring Through La Belle France." So convincing are these pictures most of the membership in the newly formed club have engaged passage to Europe. The Rapleys are to sail April 9, for a two-months' sojourn in southern Europe, an itinerary mapped out by no less a guide and master than Burton Holmes himself.

Another world traveler, Sir Harry Lauder, comes to town tomorrow night, making of Washington a one-night stand. Sir Harry will play the Auditorium. "Duke" Fosse, the eminent manager of that mammoth playhouse, is looking to a packed house and a merry one; for he believes there are enough followers of the noted Scotch comedian to force the putting out of "Standing Room Only" signs. This is a request for the Duke not to sell The Post review seats.

Just before the Harry Lauder festivities get under way, members of the Community Drama Guild of Washington will start the second annual drama conference with a get-together dinner at the Central Community Center, Thirteenth and Clifton streets. This takes place tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. There, Dr. Dewitt C. Croissant will preside over the opening exercises, with Dr. Henry Grattan Doyle as toastmaster.

In a very interesting letter from Mrs. William Hamilton Bayly, several interesting facts about "Jonica," the new musical comedy at the National, are brought to light. It seems that Dorothy Heyward, niece of Mrs. Bayly, is a graduate of the National Cathedral School here. Later, she studied at Columbia University. There, her prize play won for her the McDowell fellowship at Harvard, and it is Mrs. Bayly's belief that this same play formed the basis for "Jonica," the musical comedy. At least the play was sold to William Friedlander, the producer. After the early rehearsals, Moss Hart was called in; but the major structure of "Jonica," according to Mrs. Bayly, is the work of her niece. That can readily be believed when it is recalled that Dorothy Heyward dramatized the novel of her husband, Du Bose Heyward—a play recalled as the Theater Guild success, "Porgy."

The Washington branch of the American Association of University Women is endeavoring to raise $40,000 to endow an international fellowship as its share in the million-dollar campaign being conducted by the national A. A. U. W.

For this purpose, it has bought out the house for the production "Journey's End" on Monday, March 31, at Poli's. Establishment of international fellowships will form the women who hold them into a living cable along which will flow to and from all parts of the world currents of international understanding and cooperation, according to Mrs. Frederick W. Crocker, who writes that 130 women from all parts of the world applied for the eight fellowships now available through the American Association of University Women. The A. A. U. W is only a part of the great International Federation of University Women in which 33 countries are represented. All these countries are actively engaged in raising funds to make available more fellowships for women of scholarly worth.

A Washington woman, Effie Marie Roas, social worker at Walter Reed Hospital, was awarded one of these eight fellowships for 1930-31.

Three Are Injured By X-Ray Machine

Doctor Is Seriously Hurt When Head Touches Live Wire.

Canton, Ohio, March 27 (A.P.).—Accidental short circuiting of wires on an X-ray machine in the photographic room at Molly Stark Tuberculosis Hospital, between here and Alliance, today caused the serious injury of Dr. Stanley S. Sidenberg, acting head of the hospital, and slight injury to another man and a child patient.

William E. Hahn, Alliance, custodian of the children's ward, was shocked but not seriously when he touched Dr. Sidenberg's hand after the latter's head had come in contact with the live wire. The child patient, whose name was not disclosed, was only slightly injured, hospital officials said.

Snowstorm Aids Chicago Jobless

Business and transportation, both all but paralyzed during the storm, which brought a record of 19.2 inches of snow, were rapidly being restored to normal operation and the whole city was rejoicing at one piece of good luck which blew in with the preverbial ill wind—jobs for 40,000 men clearing away slush and chopping through the packed drifts.

School board officials announced they would open all schools tomorrow. It was expected every street in the city and every highway leading into the city would be passable for traffic in the morning. All the main thoroughfares were open tonight.

Machine Gun, Airplane Prison Plot Balked

Ionia, Mich., March 27 (A.P.).—A plot in which machine guns and an airplane were to have helped six prisoners to liberty was believed to have been frustrated at the Michigan State Reformatory today.

Details of the plot were contained in letters written by the six inmates and intercepted by Warden Charles Shean. Five of the prisoners are said to have confessed. The warden declined to reveal to whom the letters were addressed. Friends of the prisoners were to toss weapons over the prison walls. After escaping the prisoners planned to go to Grand Rapids, steal an airplane and fly it to Chicago.

Patient's Life Saved By Operation at Sea

S. S. Washington, March 27 (A.P.). The skill of three American physicians in performing an appendicitis operation on the high seas today saved the life of Andre Guinier, of Paris, who is making his first trip to America.

Mr. Guinier was operated on while the ship was 750 miles distant from New York, after Capt. A. B. Randall had ordered the engines stopped long enough to make the work of the doctors easier. Dr. W. C. Ballard, ship's surgeon, was assisted by Roy P. Sandidge, of the United States Department of Hea"h and Dr. Louis Feldman, of Chicago. The patient was out of danger tonight.

Three Sisters Die in Fire During Parents' Absence

Honduran Ministry Resigns.

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, March 27 (A.P.).—Rafael Diaz Chavez, minister of finance, resigned today, and with that the resignation of all the cabinet members were in the hands of the president. The president has not yet accepted any of the resignations.

BULLS DRIVE STOCKS UP IN 4,707,030 DAY

Several Shares Make New High Records, but Bears Stage Rally.

UTILITIES OFF SHARPLY

New York, March 27 (A.P.).—A runaway bull market again made traders nervous in today's stock market and prompted heavy realizing. Furthermore, a late ticker, as on Tuesday, gave the bears a chance to intensify the unsettlement.

Bulls made powerful efforts to keep control of the movement, however, and the result was one of the most confusing sessions of the year, trading was in huge volume during the early hours of trading, but tapered off during the afternoon. Sales aggregated 4,707,030, which, with the exception of yesterday, was the largest turnover of the year.

The market opened with the execution of a tremendous volume of buying orders attracted by the sharp upturn in the utility shares late yesterday. A score of transactions of 5,000 to 25,000 shares appeared on the tape during the first half hour. Heavy selling appeared during the morning, and the market declined rapidly until afternoon, when large-scale buying of several leading industrials and coppers checked the decline, and irregular recovery was accomplished. Further selling flurries appeared in the last half hour. Net losses were slightly in the majority at the close, although the price index of 90 stocks showed a loss of less than half a point, and that of 50 industrials rose fractionally to a new high for the year.

Firmer Money Aid to Bears.

Renewed firmness of money aided the bear cause. Banks called more than $80,000,000 in loans, evidently in preparation for the mid-weekly settlement at the Federal Reserve and to build up their balances against the heavy quarterly dividend and interest payments over the month-end. Call money renewed at 3½ per cent, and moved up to 4.

The weekly brokers loan figures, after the close, however, provided a pleasant surprise, showing a reduction of $21,000,000, while Wall street had looked for a gain of $100,000,000, or more. As had been rather confidently forecast, the New York Federal Reserve Bank made no further reduction in its rediscount rate. Its weekly statement, however, showed that it was once more liberating credit through heavy open market purchases of bankers' acceptances.

Conspicuous in the day's corporation news was declaration of the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 by Anaconda. There had been some concern over the possibility of a smaller disbursement, in view of the recent slow movement of the red metal. Maintenance of the regular rate was interpreted as indicating confidence in the copper outlook, and caused a substantial rally in the copper shares, Anaconda rising about 3 points to within little more than a point of its 1930 peak.

U. S. Steel Closes With Loss.

Among shares selling up to new high ground for the year were such issues as American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Corn Products, General Motors, Du Pont, Foster Wheeler, Public Service of New Jersey, and Worthington Pump, with extreme gains of 2 to 7 points. These were sharply reduced later, however, U. S. Steel actually closing with a fractional net loss. Among the strong spots at the close were Barnsdall A, Associated Dry Goods, Lambert, and General Gas A, up 2 to 4 points. Rails were comparatively quiet, although Chicago Great Western preferred rose 2 points to a new 1930 high, reflecting one of the few favorable February railway earning statement and merger prospects.

Utilities suffered most heavily in the selling. The sharp advance late yesterday appeared to have been far too rapid. American Power & Light, American & Foreign Power, Columbia Gas and Consolidated Gas were among issues losing 2 to 4 points. Other soft spots were Macy, which dropped 6 points to a new low for the year, 137. Montgomery Ward sagged more than a point, dipping a shade below its previous 1930 minimum. A. M. Byers, Manville, Vanadium, Standard of New Jersey, and Westinghouse Electric closed about 2 to 4 points down.

Commodities eased a little. After an early advance, wheat futures sagged fractionally below the previous close in sympathy with heaviness at Winnipeg, and in response to beneficial rains in Texas. Corn closed off about ½ to 1 cent. Cotton futures ended the day 10 cents higher to 40 cents lower.

Foreign exchanges sagged further, leading to reports that Europe was again buying stocks in this market. Sterling cables again dropped ¼ of a cent, touching $4.86½.

CARRIER BONDS SAG IN QUIET TURNOVER

U. S. Shares Drop Sharply in Generally Firm Market.

UTILITIES PROVE STEADY

New York, March 27 (A.P.).—Except for activity in a few convertibles whose movements are governed by stock prices, trading in bonds was quiet today. The market eased in places, especially among the rails where some selling was met on a stiffening of money, but on the whole the list presented a firm undertone.

United States Government securities reflected firmer interest rates by declining rather sharply. Treasuries were the chief sufferers, the 3¾s losing 31-32 of a point and the 3¾s of 19 43-47 dropping 26-32. Call loans renewed at 3½ per cent, but there was considerable calling during the forenoon and the rate was raised to 4 per cent. Ninety-day time accommodations were also advanced.

An increase in the day's volume of business was largely accounted for by the heavy dealings in American Telephone convertible 4½s. These debentures sold in new high ground for the year throughout the session, ranging between 170 and 172½, the best prices since last fall. They closed at 170¾ for a net gain of 1¼. Baltimore & Ohio 4½s and Warner Brothers Pictures 6s were active and firm.

Easiness of the rails was in the face of the fact that yields from high-grade issues are above money rates. The steady flow of new financing, however, tends to divert attention from seasoned bonds, although the market appears to be absorbing these flotations satisfactorily. Losses of about a point in Santa Fe 4s, Great Northern 4½s, Missouri Pacific general 4s, Northern Pacific 4½s, St. Louis & San Francisco prior lien 4s and Union Pacific first 4s resulted from small transactions.

American Natural Gas 6½s, carrying warrants, traded briskly and rose more than a point, but the utilities without stock features were dull and steady. Active industrials included Goodyear Tire 5s, Humble Oil 5½s, Reading Coal & Iron convertible 6s, and United States Rubber 5s but price movements in all held to fractions.

Foreign bonds eased. German Republic 7s came within a shade of their highs, recorded yesterday, and then sold off coincident with the cabinet's resignation. A substantial transaction in British 4s was made at 89½, up ⅛. Chile bank issues advanced.

On approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad is to issue $15,000,000 in general mortgage long-term 4¾s. They will be publicly sold at 98.

ACACIA WILL STRESS NEW SPECIAL POLICY

April Will Be "Protection Month;" Business Said to Be Better.

BANKING AWARDS GIVEN

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Acacia Mutual Life Association with headquarters in Washington at the Temple of Service, First street and Indiana avenue northwest, has designated April as "Special Protection Month." During the forthcoming 30-day period the association, through its District of Columbia home office branch and its numerous other branches located in principal cities throughout the country, will emphasize the particular advantages of its new "Special Protection" policy which is said to have attracted widespread attention on the part of life insurance executives generally upon its introduction.

Reports coming into the home office from Acacia's nation-wide network of branches indicate clearly, it is explained by officials, that the business upswing is definitely underway. Acacia's business at this time compares favorably with that of last year and officials are confident that as spring wears on volume will continue to grow most encouragingly.

Mr. Arthur N. Mitchell, cashier of the Columbia National Bank, is retiring from his position April 5. At his own request, due to ill health over the past several years, the board of directors of the bank have, with regret, placed him on its retirement roll.

Started to Work in 1898.

Mr. Mitchell entered the employ of the bank in February, 1898, and in working up to his present position, through faithful and conscientious service, has seen service in all departments of the business, and is highly regarded in the financial district.

He has a host of friends in and out of the financial district, who are wishing him peace and happiness in his well-earned retirement.

The report of operations of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. of Baltimore just filed with the Public Service Commission shows telephone operating revenues for February to be $1,120,841. Expenses during the month were $885,021 making net revenues $235,820.

Telephone operating revenues for the twelve months ending February 28 amounted to $13,766,021. Expenses during this period were $10,864,344, making net revenues $2,901,677. This is equivalent to 6.63 per cent on the average value of the company's property as fixed by the Public Service Commission as of December 31, 1924, plus additions. This value on February 28, 1930, was $44,797,942.

Taxes assignable to operations in February were $116,841, which was an increase of $2,489 over the same month last year. For the twelve months ending February 28 the company's taxes in Maryland amounted to $1,325,975.

Expenditures at $798,460.

Capital expenditures for plant and equipment in Maryland during the first two months of the year amounted to $798,460. Retirements during this period were $380,732, making net additions $417,728. Net additions to plant for the twelve months ended February 28 amounted to $2,513,089.

In February 999 telephones were added to the system in Maryland, making $209,610 in service.

At the midyear open meeting of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, at Langley Junior High School, last night, attended by more than 400 members of the chapter and their guests, President A. E. Henze, of the chapter, presented 50 certificates to graduates from institute courses and 24 credit cards to those completing the semester successfully.

The comedy, "A Lucky Break," presented by the Security Club of American Security & Trust Co., which had a successful premiere before an audience of 800, including many bank officials, Wednesday night, was given a second performance following distribution of the honors. The play was followed by dancing.

Net income of Washington Railway & Electric Co., for February was $407,656.88, an increase of $40,482.05 over the month last year. That of the Potomac Electric Power Co. was $458,485.70, a gain of $115,672.44 over February, 1929.

WALL STREET GOSSIP

New York, March 27 (A.P.).—Cotton goods in fair demand in the gray cloth division. More business reported on finished lines. Trading steadier on fall men's wear. Raw silk unchanged. Manufacturers making commitments slowly. Finished silks doing better this week. Burlaps advanced sharply at Calcutta and remained steady to firm here.

The weekly statement of the Bank of France shows the following changes in francs: gold decreased 42,000,000; sight balances abroad decreased 5,000,000; bills discounted at home decreased 218,000,000; bills discounted abroad increased 14,000,000; advances increased 46,000,000; circulation decreased 383,000,000; current accounts decreased 26,000,000.

The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes in pounds: total reserve decreased 1,662,000; circulation increased 3,414,000; bullion increased 1,751,000; other securities decreased 2,907,000; public deposits increased 5,904,000; other deposits decreased 7,178,000; notes reserve decreased 1,728,000; government securities increased 3,285,000.

Total operating revenues of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Co. in February were $9,895,110, compared with $10,950,410 in February, 1929. Operating expenses dropped from $8,758,611 in February, 1929, to $7,997,977 last month.

Continued drastic curtailment of oil production in flush pools of Oklahoma for 90 days after April 1 was ordered today by the corporation commission at the request of the operators. The order contains virtually the same provisions as those issued by the commission last January.

Acquisition of the American Founders Corporation, an investment trust, by the United Founders Corporation, a similar organization, has been effected, it was learned today, with the announcement that the latter company had come into possession of approximately 75 per cent of the shares of American Founders through an exchange of stock on a share-for-share basis. The offer to exchange United Stock for that of American Founders will expire at the close of business tomorrow.

Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern Railway, said today that traffic over his road continues to run below that of this time last year, and that the March earnings will show a decline from a year ago in about the same proportion as in February. Business in the Northwest generally is quiet, he said.

DEFEAT OF MERGER SEEN BY STEEL MAN

Youngstown, Ohio, March 27 (A.P.).—Cyrus S. Eaton, commanding 412,571 votes of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. stock, today turned his siege guns on the proposal to merge Sheet & Tube with Bethlehem Steel, and with a 2,000-word bombardment directed against alleged "weak spots" of the Bethlehem Co., declared the merger's chance of approval is almost nil.

The Cleveland financier made his attack before directors of the Youngstown Chamber of Commerce, before whom Charles M. Schwab, chairman of Bethlehem; Eugene G. Grace, its president; James A. Campbell, chairman of Sheet & Tube and Frank Purnell, its president, spoke yesterday in favor of the merger. Eaton, chief of the antimerger proxy committee, answered them with statements and statistics.

A thorough poll of Sheet & Tube stockholders shows that 510,756 shares are pledged for the merger, 412,571 shares against it and 262,273 shares undetermined, Eaton said. A total of 395,201 shares opposed or not voting is sufficient to block the deal.

To approve the merger, its friends would have to win all of the undetermined votes and an additional 17,371 of the votes now pledged against it, he said.

If proponents of the merger should accomplish the "seemingly impossible" task of winning enough votes to consummate the plant, Eaton said stockholders controlling more than 20 per cent of Sheet & Tube stock would refuse to accept Bethlehem stock in exchange, and would demand cash value for their stock, "which would be arrived at through arbitration or in the courts."

Stockholders of Sheet & Tube have been told that the company would grow more rapidly in combination with Bethlehem than by any other alliance; that dividends would be larger and more certain, and that the association in all ways would be a "happy one."

Eaton today called the offer of higher dividends a "delusion and a snare in the light of Bethlehem's past history," and said the offer of one and one-third shares of Bethlehem for one share of Sheet & Tube was too low. "A fair basis of exchange would be one and two-thirds shares of Bethlehem for one share of Sheet & Tube," he said.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, March 27 (A.P.).—Further covering by near-month shorts was supplied on a moderate opening advance in cotton today and prices again reacted under realizing and scattered selling, accompanied by rumors that some cotton was being prepared for delivery in the South. The volume of business tapered off on the declines and fluctuations were rather irregular with near months relatively easy in the late trading, in contrast with their ruling of yesterday. May contracts sold up to 15.95 at the start and broke to 15.68, closing at 15.78. The general market closed steady net 2 points higher to 8 points lower.

The opening was steady at an advance of 10 points to a decline of 3 points with May and July contracts selling 12 to 15 points net higher during the first few minutes on continued covering by trade or speculative shorts. May at 15.95 made a new high for the movement, while January sold up to 15.90. New Orleans was comparatively little response to the old crop strength, however, with the new October advancing to 15.20, or only 11 points net higher.

The May premium over the new October widened to about 75 points at one time while the opening price of May in New York was above parity with New Orleans. New Orleans is said to be among the early sellers. There was also selling of May against purchases of new crop months, presumably to transfer commission house long accounts, and after the initial demand for near months had been supplied the market turned easier.

Realizing was promoted later by rumors that the May premiums were likely to attract deliveries, and while nothing very definite developed in this connection, May sold off to 15.68, or 12 points net lower, while the new October held around 15.08 or within 1 point of yesterday's closing quotations. Last prices were a few points up from the lowest on renewed covering. Liverpool cables said that continental buying had been supplied by Bombay selling in the Liverpool market, but reported a marked improvement in the demand for goods from India, although smaller sales were noted at the Shanghai auctions.

Exports today, 1,510, makins 5,834,916 so far this season. Port receipts, 10,900. United States port stocks, 1,860,622.

PICARD, OUTSIDER, LEADS NORTH-SOUTH OPEN FIELD

THE HAND THAT FEEDS TAKES A CHANCE

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, N. Y., March 27.—This is about the time of the year when various societies of newspaper editors, gathered together for a little serious contemplation of their responsibilities, annually devote fifteen or twenty minutes to the proposition that a baseball or prize fight reporter can not travel and subsist at the expense of an exhibition company and yet tell the truth as he sees or hears it.

I have not read of the adoption of any resolution to this effect this year, but there is still time and whether the editors reiterate their misgivings or merely decide that this is just one of these things which civilization is not yet ready to do anything about, the fact will remain that many of them deplore the custom.

So also, for that matter, do the baseball and prize fight reporters who are placed in this position. The custom would seem to subsidize the columns of those papers which accept the hospitality for their journalists and, in theory, the whole business has the look of one of those things which aren't right.

Freedom of Expression Very Noticeable.

But judging from the dispatches from the baseball training camps down South and remembering the sort of publicity that came out of Miami, Fla., in the weeks just preceding the Garden Corporation's prize fights of 1929 and 1930, I am inclined to doubt that the theory governs the practice. It says in the New York papers that John McGraw's baseball team is not very good this year, being strong in pitching, but distinctly so-so in other lines of work.

There are even some exceptions to Mr. McGraw's judgment, which is a very sensitive point with the host of the tour. In the baseball items appearing in other cities I have been noticing a similar freedom of expression and, although there is no way of telling which of the correspondents are beholden to the baseball firms for their tables d'hote, still it is reasonable to suppose that some of them are.

Biting the Hand That Feeds 'Em.

Thus it may be concluded that some of the chaps are biting the hand that feeds them and, in certain cases, chewing it off close up to the shoulder. This would seem to reflect on the social ethics of such candid authors, but, on second thought, perhaps it only means that as between failing in manners and failing in candor to the customers, they have made a commendable, if unpleasant choice.

A journalist placed in this situation might feel that the offense against hospitality was not his own doing and, therefore, should be scored as a dead ball in his personal social averages. The paper accepted the hospitality and therefore should accept the odium, if any. Still, there is a personal relationship and a man might ruin his digestion while signing meal-tickets with the same hand that bats out disparaging, or, at any rate, discouraging reports about the progress of the team.

Rights of the Public Unimportant.

If it is the rights of the public which the societies of editors have in mind when they take up this subject year after year, they may reassure themselves by referring to the sport material which I have mentioned. It might be plausibly argued beforehand, however, that the public has no important interest at stake, for I can not see how any citizen can be affected one way or another by the truth or lenity of a story about a ball club or prize fighter.

If the customers wish to bet on the games or fights, then their motive disqualifies them. If they merely want to know whether some ball club or prize fighter will win the pennant or the fight, honest opinion is no more likely to be right than a guess which is shaded in the interest of the exhibition company. The experts never know. The only remaining question concerns the writer's opinion as a critic of a form of entertainment.

Ball Clubs Usually Give Money's Worth.

In other words, are the ball players or fighters likely to provide an amusing show for the money? As to the ball clubs, one may conscientiously answer "yes" in all cases. Even the weakest teams of sufficient rating to justify the presence of accredited correspondents play a brand of baseball well worth the modest price of admission. Concerning the prize fighters, the situation is slightly otherwise, for it is generally possible to predict the sort of fight the gladiators will put up from knowledge of their styles and other characteristics.

But experience has shown that the prize-fight customers are not amenable to advice, for they insisted on crowding the most expensive areas in the Miami Beach arena last year, notwithstanding thousands of words of excited warning. It was a bit of a

Was 3-Letter Man at Maryland; Played With Apaches.

COMPLICATIONS following the extraction of an infected tooth caused the death yesterday in University Hospital, Baltimore, of Fred Linkous, three-letter sports star and popular student at the University of Maryland for four years prior to his graduation in June, 1928. Linkous was operated upon at the hospital Tuesday when blood poisoning set in after the extraction of the infected tooth. A blood transfusion yesterday proved futile.

Linkous was one of the most popular athletes ever to sport the Black and Gold of Maryland. He starred in football, basket ball and lacrosse. He was named to the all-America lacrosse team at in-home in his senior year and was selected all-Maryland State full back in 1927. He captained the Maryland Basket Ball Team in his senior year.

Since graduating from Maryland, Linkous has devoted most of his attention to teaching and coaching athletic teams at the Severn School. He has been coaching the Severn lacrosse in preparation for its season for several weeks.

Played Football Here With Apaches.

Linkous came into closer contact with local sport lovers after his graduation from Maryland, when he played with the Apache football team along with Zube Supplee, a former Maryland teammate. Last fall he again came into local amateur football prominence, playing with a Baltimore eleven against the Apaches and Mohawks.

Linkous, who is a native of Pylesville, Harford County, Md., was a popular student both on the athletic field and on the campus while at Maryland and he had the same distinction at Severn School. When news of his serious condition reached that school Wednesday night, more than a score of students offered their blood in an effort to save his life by transfusion.

News of Linkous' death was received regretfully by members of the faculty and the student body at College Park.

Linkous was a member of Alpha Sigma Chapter of the Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity and was active in interfraternity activities while at Maryland.

Browns Buy Hassler, Baltimore Infielder

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 27 (A.P.).—Business Manager William E. Friel announced today that the St. Louis Browns had purchased Joe Hassler, infielder, from the Baltimore Club of the International League. Hassler will serve the Browns as utility infielder, Friel said.

Street Spends Time With Young Pitchers

Bradenton, Fla., March 27 (A.P.).—Manager Street, of the St. Louis Cardinals, has decided the team will need considerable help from its young pitchers to be a contender for the pennant. Street now is devoting most of his attention to Bill Hallahan, Fred Frankhouse and Al Grabowski.

The Cardinal skipper is disappointed in the showing of the veteran hurlers, especially Bill Sherdel, the little southpaw, who was badly treated by Rochester yesterday.

"Big Ed" Walsh, Scout, Undergoes Operation

Meriden, Conn., March 27 (A.P.).—"Big" Ed Walsh, former pitching ace of the American League, and at present a scout for the Chicago White Sox, was operated on at the Meriden Hospital this afternoon for appendicitis and peritonitis. Dr. I. S. Otis, who performed the operation, said "Mr. Walsh is a very sick man."

Walsh had been in the South for about six weeks where he witnessed the spring training of several of the league clubs. A few days ago he started to drive to his home here and Tuesday while en route was taken sick. Rather than stop he continued his trip and arrived here yesterday.

COEN WINS AT GAMES.

Cannes, France, March 27 (A.P.).—Wilbur F. Coen, jr., Kansas City protege of Big Bill Tilden, played brilliant tennis today to defeat Charles H. Kingsley, of England, former Oxford University captain, in the third round of the Cannes tournament. The scores were 4—6, 6—4, 6—2.

J. C. C. PAIR GAINS RING FINALS

FOUD title aspirants weathered hard battles in the semifinal bouts of the District A. A. U. boxing championship tournament at the Knights of Columbus Hall last night. As many others advanced to the finals without donning a glove. What the program lacked in quantity was made up for in quality.

Max Kosof and Jocko Miller, both Jewish Community Center 135-pound class contenders, battered out decisions over City Club representatives to earn the right to meet in the finals Monday night at the Jewish Community Center. Gus Mirman, another J. C. C. slugger, and Henry Irving, of the City Club, fought their way into the 160-pound class finals, in which they will clash.

Injury Forces Allen To Forfeit.

Harry Allen, who injured a hand in the preliminary round, was unable to carry on and forfeited to Nevin Barber, of the Knights of Columbus, in the 126-pound semifinals, and John Ryon, of the City Club, advanced in the same class when Mike Tardugno was unable to appear due to a ruling by the Georgetown University athletic officials, who have prohibited students from representing other organizations.

Eric Sonnichsen, of the Knights of Columbus, moved into the finals to meet William Miller, City Club, who drew a bye, when Charley Fish was unable to appear because of the Georgetown ruling. Angie Targuno, J. C. C., will meet Douglas Swetman, City Club, in the 118-pound final, by virtue of a forfeit last night from a teammate, Leon Shub.

Miller Beats Winters After Game Stand.

The four bouts brought together well-matched foes. Harry Winters of the City Club made a stubborn stand against the hard hitting Jocko Miller, in the feature fight, and earned popular approval in defeat. Ernest Grissett of the City Club gave Mirman a game battle, but was outpointed. Both Kosof and Irving had to do an extra round to gain decisions over Jack DeLacey, City Club, and John Peruzzi, also of the City Club, respectively.

The finals will be staged at the Jewish Community Center Monday night, starting at 8 o'clock.

Myer Beating Hayes Out For Post

Superior Hitting Is Factor; Nats' Infield Virtually Set.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post.)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 27. Manager Walter Johnson stated tonight that the Nats' infield for the coming season has been virtually decided upon, although, of course, a change will be made any time that a bench warmer displays that he is better than the regular. The only doubt now existing is whether Jack Hayes can beat out Buddie Myer for the second-base berth, and Myer's recent hitting practically has removed this.

In the early stages of the training period it appeared that Jimmy McLeod might give Joe Cronin a battle for the short-field job, but Johnson is now convinced that the "San Francisco Kid" is the better man, although he rates McLeod highly and considers him quite a find and one who likely will see lots of service before the coming season ends.

Cronin is still behind his mates in training, but he is making up for lost time, and should be in top form within another week. He is showing up particularly well at bat, cracking two balls into the stands in deep left at this morning's workout in Engel Stadium. Despite the clever fielding Cronin displayed last season, he had one weakness, making most of his errors on comparatively easy chances—on balls hit directly at him.

Sets Self Improperly For Ground Balls.

This failing has been due to the fact that Cronin has not set himself properly so that, even if he failed to catch the ball cleanly, he could at least block it with his body and have a chance to recover in time to nail his man at first. Myer, who has exceptionally short arms and is too stiff-kneed while fielding grassers of the same type, also needs to improve in this respect, and both he and Cronin are being coached along this line in the daily drills and already are showing signs of improvement.

The Nationals will take on the New York Giant second stringers here tomorrow afternoon. The visitors originally were scheduled to tackle the Lookouts, whom they also met today, but Manager Johnson coaxed President Joe Engel to give the Nats, who need competitive work, the Friday date. Adolph Liska and Bobby Burke will pitch for Washington.

The weather was chilly this morning, but the Nationals went through their daily workout under wraps and, with the aid of the sun, managed to derive considerable benefit. Jack Hayes reported that his sore arm was in good shape again and proved it by his throwing, while both Buddie Myer and Sam West declared that their stiffened flippers were improving and that they would be as supple as ever in a couple of more days.

Secretary Edward B. Eynon, jr., of the Washington Club, is scheduled to join the team here tomorrow night.

Meet Memphis Twice During Week-End.

Assistant Trainer Frank Reilly (Bobo) Baxter will be in charge of the stay-at-homes when Manager Johnson takes his charges to Memphis for games there with the Chicks on Saturday and Sunday. Those not slated to make the trip are Pitchers Garland Braxton, "Sad Sam" Jones, Don Savidge and Herb Pyle. Catcher Gordon Phelps and Outfielder Alvin Powell.

Although Myles Thomas has not done any pitching in exhibition games since the one against the Louisville Colonels at Biloxi on March 16, this does not mean that he is not ready. As a matter of fact, Manager Johnson said this evening it is because Thomas is just about ready right now and does not need work as much as do some of the others that he has not been called on. He has been working overtime pitching to batters during the regular wand drills, however, and is showing plenty of both speed and curves.

Players Are Guests At Service Bouts.

The Washington players last night were guests of honor at some boxing bouts staged by the soldiers at Fort Oglethorpe, two buses being needed to take the gang to the military reservation 9 miles away, just over the Tennessee line in Georgia. All of the players were introduced by President Joe Engel, of the Lookout, and Altrock and Schacht staged their slow movie boxing act before the regular program got under way.

The veteran flinger, Sam Jones, is showing plenty of pep these days but is being allowed to come along as slowly as he wants. He showed last spring, when assigned to work in the season's opener, that he does not thrive in cold weather, and Manager Johnson is not counting on the old-timer for much help until a week or so after the opening gong sounds.

Babe Herman, Holdout, Will Report to Robins

Winter Haven, Fla., March 27 (A.P.).—Babe Herman, Brooklyn right fielder, who has been a persistent holdout, sent word today from New Orleans that he would report to Manager Wilbert Robinson at the training camp in Clearwater tomorrow.

Herman has not yet settled his contract dispute, but it is believed he will accept the club's terms. Runner-up for National League batting honors last year, he demanded a salary of $25,000, but two weeks ago reduced the figures to $18,000. Robinson has stuck to his offer of $16,000.

TRAFTON BAN ORDERED IN MISSOURI

Is Suspended Indefinitely for Fiasco With Carnera.

KANSAS CITY, March 27 (A.P.).—George Trafton, Chicago heavyweight novice, was indefinitely suspended by the Missouri Boxing Commission today for failing to offer any semblance of fight in his 54-second swooning session in the ring here last night with Primo Carnera, immense Italian.

Announcement of the suspension, which is expected to extend to other States affiliated with the National Boxing Association, was made by Harry Davis, Kansas City member of the State commission.

While not criticizing Carnera for the outcome of the bout, Davis said the Italian would not be permitted to box in Missouri again unless a "worthy opponent" is produced.

Italian Matched With McAuliffe Tonight.

The European invader, who, under the crafty managership of the French boxing stable owner, Leon See, has collected more than $100,000 by bowling over a dozen selected second and third rate foes on his tour of the United States, is scheduled to sacrifice Jack McAuliffe, one of the ancients of the industry, at Denver tomorrow night.

This despite the ruling of the Colorado Boxing Commission that the venerable Jack is not a "suitable opponent" for Primo. The West Side Athletic Club of Denver obtained a court injunction restraining the Colorado commission from interfering with the spectacle. District Judge Henry Bray decided the club had gone to considerable expense and should be permitted to go through with the bout.

Kansas City fans in protesting to the Missouri commission today bemoaned the price they paid to see Carnera dispose of Trafton, who apparently had no desire to do any work for the $2,500 purse he received.

Failed to Land A Clean Blow.

The former Chicago football player took three trips to the canvas before he was counted out and he failed to land a clean blow on Carnera, who had a weight advantage of 40 pounds.

"To me it looked as if Trafton went down both the first and second times without being hit," Commissioner Davis said. "I saw him hit the last time, but, of course, I could not then determine whether the blow was sufficiently powerful to knock him out."

Don, Delayed by Beach Condition, Asks Time

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 27 (A.P.).—Application for an extension of the dates for the annual speed trials was made to the City of Daytona Beach today by Kaye Don, British contender for the world's automobile speed record. His original sanction expires March 30.

Decision to request an extension was reached by Don when it became apparent that the Beech Speedway, where he expects to make his attempt, would not be in condition before the sanction expires. The city, which has supervision over the proposed trials, plans to present the application to the American Automobile Association, with recommendation that an extension be granted if necessary.

BURROUGHS INSECTS PLAY.

Burroughs A. C. Insect players will meet tonight as usual and tomorrow will clash with the Columbians on Burroughs Field, Eighteenth and Otis streets northeast, at 2 o'clock.

HITTING THE BASEBALL TRAIL

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 27 (A.P.).—Rube Marquard's Jacksonville Tars rallied in the ninth to defeat the New York Yankees, 4 to 3, today. Pinch Hitter Hutton's double in the ninth scored the tying and winning runs for the Florida nine.

Herb Pennock, the starting Yankee hurler, was nipped for two runs before he gave way to Henderson, who finished the contest. The Yanks have now lost eight to their fourteen exhibition games.

Youthful Charleston Pro Has Card of 74-72—146.

By DILLON GRAHAM.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 27 (A. P.).—The stubborn, subtle No. 2 Pinehurst golf course joined forces with the elements today to hold its par barrier of 71 unbroken through the first two rounds of the twenty-eighth annual $5,650 North and South open tournament. More than 100 links experts, led by young Henry Picard of Charleston, S. C., matched prowess with the treacherous layout.

With a cold, driving wind sweeping across the tricky course, the youthful South Carolina pro started out to match perfect figures and clung near standard marks throughout the two rounds to post A-146 for the 36 holes and gain a 1-stroke lead over the field.

Today's play saw Horton Smith, defending champion, thrust far back to the rear, eight strokes behind the leader. The blonde shotmaker who placed second in the La Gorce open at Miami last week, shot a poor 79 this morning and came back in the second round for a 75. His lack of a putting touch cost him most of his lost strokes.

New Jersey Pro Sets First Round Pace.

Picard shot the first round in 74 and landed in a four-way tie for second place, two strokes behind the pace setter, Paul Runyan, of Bloomfield, N. J. He opened his bag of tricks in the afternoon for 72, which included six birdies.

Tie for second place with the tournament half over were Frank Walsh, of Chicago, and the veteran, Tommy Armour, of Detroit. They had 147s.

Henry Picard, Charleston, S. C., 74, 72—146.
Tommy Armour, Detroit, 74, 73—147.
Frank Walsh, Chicago, 75, 72—147.
Paul Runyan, Bloomfield, N. Y., 72, 77—149.
Whiffy Cox, Brooklyn, 75, 75—150.
Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del., 76, 74—150.

EAGLES ROUT FRENCH A. C. FIVE, 33-16

Atone for Previous Independent League Beating Easily.

THE championship of the Independent Basket Ball League was practically clinched by the Skinker Brother Eagles when that team last night demonstrated a vast superiority over the French A. C. Five to win by an overwhelming score of 33 to 16 in the George Washington University Gymnasium. The Eagles have only to conquer the Woodlawn Five, which has won but two league battles in order to be officially crowned the champions.

In avenging an early season defeat by the same foe which they met last night, the Eagles secured a 4-0 advantage in the first few minutes of play and for the rest of the evening were never threatened by the vain-struggling French tossers. Completely outclassing their foes, the Eagles scored at will by all possible methods, including several fancy shots by Jack Faber and Joe Sweeney, both of whom were well-nigh unstoppable. Ralph Bennie also contributed several well-aimed shots.

Eagles Lead, 15-6, At Half Time.

The French Team tried two different combinations in an effort to stop the Eagles, but without result. At half time the score stood 15-6, and although French scored 3 points at the resumption of play to give their followers some hope, the rally was short lived.

ACACIA WILL STRESS NEW SPECIAL POLICY

April Will Be "Protection Month;" Business Said to Be Better.

BANKING AWARDS GIVEN

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Acacia Mutual Life Association with headquarters in Washington at the Temple of Service, First street and Indiana avenue northwest, has designated April as "Special Protection Month." During the forthcoming 30-day period the association, through its District of Columbia home office branch and its numerous other branches located in principal cities throughout the country, will emphasize the particular advantages of its new "Special Protection" policy which is said to have attracted widespread attention on the part of life insurance executives generally upon its introduction.

Reports coming into the home office from Acacia's nation-wide network of branches indicate clearly, it is explained by officials, that the business upswing is definitely underway. Acacia's business at this time compares favorably with that of last year and officials are confident that as spring wears on volume will continue to grow most encouragingly.

Mr. Arthur N. Mitchell, cashier of the Columbia National Bank, is retiring from his position April 5. At his own request, due to ill health over the past several years, the board of directors of the bank have, with regret, placed him on its retirement roll.

Started to Work in 1898.

Mr. Mitchell entered the employ of the bank in February, 1898, and in working up to his present position, through faithful and conscientious service, has seen service in all departments of the business, and is highly regarded in the financial district.

He has a host of friends in and out of the financial district, who are wishing him peace and happiness in his well-earned retirement.

The report of operations of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. of Baltimore just filed with the Public Service Commission shows telephone operating revenues for February to be $1,120,841. Expenses during the month were $885,021 making net revenues $235,820.

Telephone operating revenues for the twelve months ending February 28 amounted to $13,766,021. Expenses during this period were $10,864,344, making net revenues $2,901,677. This is equivalent to 6.63 per cent on the average value of the company's property as fixed by the Public Service Commission as of December 31, 1924, plus additions. This value on February 28, 1930, was $44,797,942.

Taxes assignable to operations in February were $116,841, which was an increase of $2,489 over the same month last year. For the twelve months ending February 28 the company's taxes in Maryland amounted to $1,325,975.

Expenditures at $798,460.

Capital expenditures for plant and equipment in Maryland during the first two months of the year amounted to $798,460. Retirements during this period were $380,732, making net additions $417,728. Net additions to plant for the twelve months ended February 28 amounted to $2,513,089.

In February 999 telephones were added to the system in Maryland, making 209,610 in service.

At the midyear open meeting of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, at Langley Junior High School, last night, attended by more than 400 members of the chapter and their guests, President A. E. Henze, of the chapter, presented 50 certificates to graduates from institute courses and 24 credit cards to those completing the semester successfully.

The comedy, "A Lucky Break," presented by the Security Club of American Security & Trust Co., which had a successful premiere before an audience of 800, including many bank officials, Wednesday night, was given a second performance following distribution of the honors. The play was followed by dancing.

Net income of Washington Railway & Electric Co., for February was $407,656.88, an increase of $40,482.05 over the month last year. That of the Potomac Electric Power Co. was $458,485.70, a gain of $115,672.44 over February, 1929.

WALL STREET GOSSIP

New York, March 27 (A.P.).—Cotton goods in fair demand in the gray cloth division. More business reported on finished lines. Trading steadier on fall men's wear. Raw silk unchanged. Manufacturers making commitments slowly. Finished silks doing better this week. Burlaps advanced sharply at Calcutta and remained steady to firm here.

The weekly statement of the Bank of France shows the following changes in francs: gold decreased 42,000,000; sight balances abroad decreased 5,000,000; bills discounted at home decreased 218,000,000; bills discounted abroad increased 14,000,000; advances increased 46,000,000; circulation decreased 383,000,000; current accounts decreased 26,000,000.

Acquisition of the American Founders Corporation, an investment trust, by the United Founders Corporation, a similar organization, has been effected, it was learned today, with the announcement that the latter company had come into possession of approximately 75 per cent of the shares of American Founders through an exchange of stock on a share-for-share basis. The offer to exchange United Stock for that of American Founders will expire at the close of business tomorrow.

Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern Railway, said today that traffic over his road continues to run below that of this time last year, and that the March earnings will show a decline from a year ago in about the same proportion as in February. Business in the Northwest generally is quiet, he said.

DEFEAT OF MERGER SEEN BY STEEL MAN

Youngstown, Ohio, March 27 (A.P.).—Cyrus S. Eaton, commanding 412,571 votes of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. stock, today turned his siege guns on the proposal to merge Sheet & Tube with Bethlehem Steel, and with a 2,000-word bombardment directed against alleged "weak spots" of the Bethlehem Co., declared the merger's chance of approval is almost nil.

The Cleveland financier made his attack before directors of the Youngstown Chamber of Commerce, before whom Charles M. Schwab, chairman of Bethlehem; Eugene G. Grace, its president; James A. Campbell, chairman of Sheet & Tube and Frank Purnell, its president, spoke yesterday in favor of the merger. Eaton, chief of the antimerger proxy committee, answered them with statements and statistics.

A thorough poll of Sheet & Tube stockholders shows that 510,756 shares are pledged for the merger, 412,571 shares against it and 262,273 shares undetermined, Eaton said. A total of 395,201 shares opposed or not voting is sufficient to block the deal.

To approve the merger, its friends would have to win all of the undetermined votes and an additional 17,371 of the votes now pledged against it, he said.

If proponents of the merger should accomplish the "seemingly impossible" task of winning enough votes to consummate the plant, Eaton said stockholders controlling more than 20 per cent of Sheet & Tube stock would refuse to accept Bethlehem stock in exchange, and would demand cash value for their stock, "which would be arrived at through arbitration or in the courts."

Stockholders of Sheet & Tube have been told that the company would grow more rapidly in combination with Bethlehem than by any other alliance; that dividends would be larger and more certain, and that the association in all ways would be a "happy one."

Eaton today called the offer of higher dividends a "delusion and a snare in the light of Bethlehem's past history," and said the offer of one and one-third shares of Bethlehem for one share of Sheet & Tube was too low. "A fair basis of exchange would be one and two-thirds shares of Bethlehem for one share of Sheet & Tube," he said.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, March 27 (A.P.).—Further covering by near-month shorts was supplied on a moderate opening advance in cotton today and prices again reacted under realizing and scattered selling, accompanied by rumors that some cotton was being prepared for delivery in the South. The volume of business tapered off on the declines and fluctuations were rather irregular with near months relatively easy in the late trading, in contrast with their ruling of yesterday. May contracts sold up to 15.95 at the start and broke to 15.68, closing at 15.78. The general market closed steady net 2 points higher to 6 points lower.

The opening was steady at an advance of 10 points to a decline of 3 points with May and July contracts selling 12 to 15 points under the final level of the few minutes on continued covering by trade or speculative shorts. May at 15.95 made a new high for the movement, while January sold up to 15.90. New crops made comparatively little response to the old crop strength, however, with the new October advancing to 15.20, or only 11 points net higher.

The May premium over the new October widened to about 75 points at one time while the opening price of May in New York was above parity with New Orleans. New Orleans was said to be among the early sellers. There was also selling of May against purchases of new crop months to transfer commission house long accounts, and after the initial demand for near months had been supplied the market turned easier.

Realizing was promoted later by rumors that the May premiums were likely to attract deliveries, and while nothing very definite developed in this connection, May sold off to 15.68, or 12 points net lower, while the new October held around 15.08 or within 1 point of yesterday's closing quotations. Last prices were a few points up from the lowest on renewed covering.

Liverpool cables said that continental buying had been supplied by Bombay selling in the Liverpool market, but reported a marked improvement in the demand for goods from India, although smaller sales were noted at the Shanghai auctions.

WASHINGTON: FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 1930. 15

PICARD, OUTSIDER, LEADS NORTH-SOUTH OPEN FIELD

THE HAND THAT FEEDS TAKES A CHANCE

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, N. Y., March 27.—This is about the time of the year when various societies of newspaper editors, gathered together for a little serious contemplation of their responsibilities, annually devote fifteen or twenty minutes to the proposition that a baseball or prize fight reporter can not travel and subsist at the expense of an exhibition company and yet tell the truth as he sees or hears it.

I have not read of the adoption of any resolution to this effect this year, but there is still time and whether the editors reiterate their misgivings or merely decide that this is just one of these things which civilization is not yet ready to do anything about, the fact will remain that many of them deplore the custom.

So also, for that matter, do the baseball and prize fight reporters who are placed in this position. The custom would seem to subsidize the columns of those papers which accept the hospitality for their journalists and, in theory, the whole business has the look of one of those things which aren't right.

But judging from the dispatches from the baseball training camps down South and remembering the sort of publicity that came out of Miami, Fla., in the weeks just preceding the Garden Corporation's prize fights of 1929 and 1930, I am inclined to doubt that the theory governs the practice. It says in the New York papers that John McGraw's baseball team is not very good this year, being strong in pitching, but distinctly so-so in other lines of work.

There are even some exceptions to Mr. McGraw's judgment, which is a very sensitive point with the host of the tour. In the baseball items appearing in other cities I have been noticing a similar freedom of expression and, although there is no way of telling which of the correspondents are beholden to the baseball firms for their tables d'hote, still it is reasonable to suppose that some of them are.

Biting the Hand That Feeds 'Em.

Thus it may be concluded that some of the chaps are biting the hand that feeds them and, in certain cases, chewing it off close up to the shoulder. This would seem to reflect on the social ethics of such candid authors, but, on second thought, perhaps it only means that as between failing in manners and failing in candor to the customers, they have made a commendable, if unpleasant choice.

A journalist placed in this situation might feel that the offense against hospitality was not his own doing and, therefore, should be scored as a dead ball in his personal social averages. The paper accepted the hospitality and therefore should accept the odium, if any. Still, there is a personal relationship and a man might ruin his digestion while signing meal-tickets with the same hand that bats out disparaging, or, at any rate, discouraging reports about the progress of the team.

If it is the rights of the public which the societies of editors have in mind when they take up this subject year after year, they may reassure themselves by referring to the sport material which I have mentioned. It might be plausibly argued beforehand, however, that the public has no important interest at stake, for I can not see how any citizen can be affected one way or another by the truth or lenity of a story about a ball club or prize fighter.

If the customers wish to bet on the games or fights, then their motive disqualifies them. If they merely want to know whether some ball club or prize fighter will win the pennant or the fight, honest opinion is no more likely to be right than a guess which is shaded in the interest of the exhibition company. The experts never know. The only remaining question concerns the writer's opinion as a critic of a form of entertainment.

Ball Clubs Usually Give Money's Worth.

In other words, are the ball players or fighters likely to provide an amusing show for the money? As to the ball clubs, one may conscientiously answer "yes" in all cases. Even the weakest teams of sufficient rating to justify the presence of accredited correspondents play a brand of baseball well worth the modest price of admission. Concerning the prize fighters, the situation is slightly otherwise, for it is generally possible to predict the sort of fight the gladiators will put up from knowledge of their styles and other characteristics.

But experience has shown that the prize-fight customers are not amenable to advice, for they insisted on crowding the most expensive areas in the Miami Beach arena last year, notwithstanding thousands of words of excited warning. It was a bit of a

Was 3-Letter Man at Maryland; Played With Apaches.

COMPLICATIONS following the extraction of an infected tooth caused the death yesterday in University Hospital, Baltimore, of Fred Linkous, three-letter sports star and popular student at the University of Maryland for four years prior to his graduation in June, 1928. Linkous was operated upon at the hospital Tuesday when blood poisoning set in after the extraction of the infected tooth. A blood transfusion yesterday proved futile.

Linkous was one of the most popular athletes ever to sport the Black and Gold of Maryland. He starred in football, basket ball and lacrosse. He was named to the all-America lacrosse team at in-home in his senior year and was selected all-Maryland State full back in 1927. He captained the Maryland Basket Ball Team in his senior year.

Since graduating from Maryland, Linkous has devoted most of his attention to teaching and coaching athletic teams at the Severn School. He has been coaching the Severn lacrosse in preparation for its season for several weeks.

Played Football Here With Apaches.

Linkous came into closer contact with local sport lovers after his graduation from Maryland, when he played with the Apache football team along with Zube Supplee, a former Maryland teammate. Last fall he again came into local amateur football prominence, playing with a Baltimore eleven against the Apaches and Mohawks.

Linkous, who is a native of Pylesville, Harford County, Md., was a popular student both on the athletic field and on the campus while at Maryland and he had the same distinction at Severn School. When news of his serious condition reached that school Wednesday night, more than a score of students offered their blood in an effort to save his life by transfusion.

News of Linkous' death was received regretfully by members of the faculty and the student body at College Park.

Linkous was a member of Alpha Sigma Chapter of the Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity and was active in interfraternity activities while at Maryland.

Browns Buy Hassler, Baltimore Infielder

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 27 (A.P.).—Business Manager William E. Friel announced today that the St. Louis Browns had purchased Joe Hassler, infielder, from the Baltimore Club of the International League Hassler will serve the Browns as utility infielder, Friel said.

Street Spends Time With Young Pitchers

Bradenton, Fla., March 27 (A.P.).—Manager Street, of the St. Louis Cardinals, has decided the team will need considerable help from its young pitchers to be a contender for the pennant. Street now is devoting most of his attention to Bill Hallahan, Fred Frankhouse and Al Grabowski.

The Cardinal skipper is disappointed in the showing of the veteran hurlers, especially Bill Sherdel, the little southpaw, who was badly treated by Rochester yesterday.

"Big Ed" Walsh, Scout, Undergoes Operation

Meriden, Conn., March 27 (A.P.).—"Big" Ed Walsh, former pitching ace of the American League, and at present a scout for the Chicago White Sox, was operated on at the Meriden Hospital this afternoon for appendicitis and peritonitis. Dr. I. S. Otis, who performed the operation, said "Mr. Walsh is a very sick man."

Walsh had been in the South for about six weeks where he witnessed the spring training of several of the league clubs. A few days ago he started to drive to his home here and Tuesday while en route was taken sick. Rather than stop he continued his trip and arrived here yesterday.

COEN WINS AT GAMES.

Cannes, France, March 27 (A.P.).—Wilbur F. Coen, jr., Kansas City protege of Big Bill Tilden, played brilliant tennis today to defeat Charles H. Kingsley, of England, former Oxford University captain, in the third round of the Cannes tournament. The scores were 4—6, 6—4, 6—2.

J. C. C. PAIR GAINS RING FINALS

FOUD title aspirants weathered hard battles in the semifinal bouts of the District A. A. U. boxing championship tournament at the Knights of Columbus Hall last night. As many others advanced to the finals without donning a glove. What the program lacked in quantity was made up for in quality.

Max Kosof and Jocko Miller, both Jewish Community Center 135-pound class contenders, battered out decisions over City Club representatives to earn the right to meet in the finals Monday night at the Jewish Community Center. Gus Mirman, another J. C. C. slugger, and Henry Irving, of the City Club, fought their way into the 160-pound class finals, in which they will clash.

Injury Forces Allen To Forfeit.

Harry Allen, who injured a hand in the preliminary round, was unable to carry on and forfeited to Nevin Barber, of the Knights of Columbus, in the 126-pound semifinals, and John Ryon, of the City Club, advanced in the same class when Mike Tardugno was unable to appear due to a ruling by the Georgetown University athletic officials, who have prohibited students from representing other organizations.

Eric Sonnichsen, of the Knights of Columbus, moved into the finals to meet William Miller, City Club, who drew a bye, when Charley Fish was unable to appear because of the Georgetown ruling. Angie Targuno, J. C. C., will meet Douglas Swetman, City Club, in the 118-pound final, by virtue of a forfeit last night from a teammate, Leon Shub.

Miller Beats Winters After Game Stand.

The four bouts brought together well-matched foes. Harry Winters of the City Club made a stubborn stand against the hard hitting Jocko Miller, in the feature fight, and earned popular approval in defeat. Ernest Grissett of the City Club gave Mirman a game battle, but was outpointed. Both Kosof and Irving had to do an extra round to gain decisions over Jack DeLacey, City Club, and John Peruzzi, also of the City Club, respectively.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post.)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 27. Manager Walter Johnson stated tonight that the Nats' infield for the coming season has been virtually decided upon, although, of course, a change will be made any time that a bench warmer displays that he is better than the regular. The only doubt now existing is whether Jack Hayes can beat out Buddie Myer for the second-base berth, and Myer's recent hitting practically has removed this.

In the early stages of the training period it appeared that Jimmy McLeod might give Joe Cronin a battle for the short-field job, but Johnson is now convinced that the "San Francisco Kid" is the better man, although he rates McLeod highly and considers him quite a find and one who likely will see lots of service before the coming season ends.

Cronin is still behind his mates in training, but he is making up for lost time, and should be in top form within another week. He is showing up particularly well at bat, cracking two balls into the stands in deep left at this morning's workout in Engel Stadium. Despite the clever fielding Cronin displayed last season, he had one weakness, making most of his errors on comparatively easy chances—on balls hit directly at him.

Sets Self Improperly For Ground Balls.

This failing has been due to the fact that Cronin has not set himself properly so that, even if he failed to catch the ball cleanly, he could at least block it with his body and have a chance to recover in time to nail his man at first. Myer, who has exceptionally short arms and is too stiff-kneed while fielding grassers of the same type, also needs to improve in this respect, and both he and Cronin are being coached along this line in the daily drills and already are showing signs of improvement.

The Nationals will take on the New York Giant second stringers here tomorrow afternoon. The visitors originally were scheduled to tackle the Lookouts, whom they also met today, but Manager Johnson coaxed President Joe Engel to give the Nats, who need competitive work, the Friday date. Adolph Liska and Bobby Burke will pitch for Washington.

The weather was chilly this morning, but the Nationals went through their daily workout under wraps and, with the aid of the sun, managed to derive considerable benefit. Jack Hayes reported that his sore arm was in good shape again and proved it by his throwing, while both Buddie Myer and Sam West declared that their stiffened flippers were improving and that they would be as supple as ever in a couple of more days.

Secretary Edward B. Eynon, jr., of the Washington Club, is scheduled to join the team here tomorrow night.

Meet Memphis Twice During Week-End.

Assistant Trainer Frank Reilly (Bobo) Baxter will be in charge of the stay-at-homes when Manager Johnson takes his charges to Memphis for games there with the Chicks on Saturday and Sunday. Those not slated to make the trip are Pitchers Garland Braxton, "Sad Sam" Jones, Don Savidge and Herb Pyle, Catcher Gordon Phelps and Outfielder Alvin Powell.

Although Myles Thomas has not done any pitching in exhibition games since the one against the Louisville Colonels at Biloxi on March 16, this does not mean that he is not ready. As a matter of fact, Manager Johnson said this evening it is because Thomas is just about ready right now and does not need work as much as do some of the others that he has not been called on. He has been working overtime pitching to batters during the regular wand drills, however, and is showing plenty of both speed and curves.

Players Are Guests At Service Bouts.

The Washington players last night were guests of honor at some boxing bouts staged by the soldiers at Fort Oglethorpe, two buses being needed to take the gang to the military reservation 9 miles away, just over the Tennessee line in Georgia. All of the players were introduced by President Joe Engel, of the Lookout, and Altrock and Schacht staged their slow movie boxing act before the regular program got under way.

The veteran flinger, Sam Jones, is showing plenty of pep these days but is being allowed to come along as slowly as he wants. He showed last spring, when assigned to work in the season's opener, that he does not thrive in cold weather, and Manager Johnson is not counting on the old-timer for much help until a week or so after the opening gong sounds.

Babe Herman, Holdout, Will Report to Robins

Winter Haven, Fla., March 27 (A.P.). Babe Herman, Brooklyn right fielder, who has been a persistent holdout, sent word today from New Orleans that he would report to Manager Wilbert Robinson at the training camp in Clearwater tomorrow.

Herman has not yet settled his contract dispute, but it is believed he will accept the club's terms. Runner-up for National League batting honors last year, he demanded a salary of $25,000, but two weeks ago reduced the figures to $18,000. Robinson has stuck to his offer of $15,000.

TRAFTON BAN ORDERED IN MISSOURI

Is Suspended Indefinitely for Fiasco With Carnera.

KANSAS CITY, March 27 (A.P.).—George Trafton, Chicago heavyweight novice, was indefinitely suspended by the Missouri Boxing Commission today for failing to offer any semblance of fight in his 54-second swooning session in the ring here last night with Primo Carnera, immense Italian.

Announcement of the suspension, which is expected to extend to other States affiliated with the National Boxing Association, was made by Harry Davis, Kansas City member of the State commission.

While not criticizing Carnera for the outcome of the bout, Davis said the Italian would not be permitted to box in Missouri again unless a "worthy opponent" is produced.

Italian Matched With McAuliffe Tonight.

The European invader, who, under the crafty managership of the French boxing stable owner, Leon See, has collected more than $100,000 by bowling over a dozen selected second and third rate foes on his tour of the United States, is scheduled to sacrifice Jack McAuliffe, one of the ancients of the industry, at Denver tomorrow night.

This despite the ruling of the Colorado Boxing Commission that the venerable Jack is not a "suitable opponent" for Primo. The West Side Athletic Club of Denver obtained a court injunction restraining the Colorado commission from interfering with the spectacle. District Judge Henry Bray decided the club had gone to considerable expense and should be permitted to go through with the bout.

Kansas City fans in protesting to the Missouri commission today bemoaned the price they paid to see Carnera dispose of Trafton, who apparently had no desire to do any work for the $2,500 purse he received.

Failed to Land A Clean Blow.

The former Chicago football player took three trips to the canvas before he was counted out and he failed to land a clean blow on Carnera, who had a weight advantage of 40 pounds.

"To me it looked as if Trafton went down both the first and second times without being hit," Commissioner Davis said. "I saw him hit the last time, but, of course, I could not then determine whether the blow was sufficiently powerful to knock him out."

Don, Delayed by Beach Condition, Asks Time

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 27 (A.P.).—Application for an extension of the dates for the annual speed trials was made to the City of Daytona Beach today by Kaye Don, British contender for the world's automobile speed record. His original sanction expires March 30.

Decision to request an extension was reached by Don when it became apparent that the Beech Speedway, where he expects to make his attempt, would not be in condition before the sanction expires. The city, which has supervision over the proposed trials, plans to present the application to the American Automobile Association, with recommendation that an extension be granted if necessary.

BURROUGHS INSECTS PLAY.

Burroughs A. C. Insect players will meet tonight as usual and tomorrow will clash with the Columbians on Burroughs Field, Eighteenth and Otis streets northeast, at 2 o'clock.

HITTING THE BASEBALL TRAIL

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 27 (A.P.).—Rube Marquard's Jacksonville Tars rallied in the ninth to defeat the New York Yankees, 4 to 3, today. Pinch Hitter Huuton's double in the ninth scored the tying and winning runs for the Florida nine.

Herb Pennock, the starting Yankee hurler, was nipped for two runs before he gave way to Henderson, who finished the contest. The Yanks have now lost eight to their fourteen exhibition games.

Armour Tied For Second With 147

Youthful Charleston Pro Has Card of 74-72—146.

By DILLON GRAHAM.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 27 (A. P.).—The stubborn, subtle No. 2 Pinehurst golf course joined forces with the elements today to hold its par barrier of 71 unbroken through the first two rounds of the twenty-eighth annual $5,650 North and South open tournament. More than 100 links experts, led by young Henry Picard of Charleston, S. C., matched prowess with the treacherous layout.

With a cold, driving wind sweeping across the tricky course, the youthful South Carolina pro started out to match perfect figures and clung near standard marks throughout the two rounds to post A-146 for the 36 holes and gain a 1-stroke lead over the field.

Today's play saw Horton Smith, defending champion, thrust far back to the rear, eight strokes behind the leader. The blonde shotmaker who placed second in the La Gorce open at Miami last week, shot a poor 79 this morning and came back in the second round for a 75. His lack of a putting touch cost him most of his lost strokes.

New Jersey Pro Sets First Round Pace.

Picard shot the first round in 74 and landed in a four-way tie for second place, two strokes behind the pace setter, Paul Runyan, of Bloomfield, N. J. He opened his bag of tricks in the afternoon for 72, which included six birdies.

Tie for second place with the tournament half over were Frank Walsh, of Chicago, and the veteran, Tommy Armour, of Detroit. They had 147s.

Henry Picard, Charleston, S. C., 74, 72—146.
Tommy Armour, Detroit, 74, 73—147.
Frank Walsh, Chicago, 75, 72—147.

EAGLES ROUT FRENCH A. C. FIVE, 33-16

Atone for Previous Independent League Beating Easily.

THE championship of the Independent Basket Ball League was practically clinched by the Skinker Brother Eagles when that team last night demonstrated a vast superiority over the French A. C. Five to win by an overwhelming score of 33 to 16 in the George Washington University Gymnasium. The Eagles have only to conquer the Woodlawn Five, which has won but two league battles in order to be officially crowned the champions.

In avenging an early season defeat by the same foe which they met last night, the Eagles secured a 4-0 advantage in the first few minutes of play and for the rest of the evening were never threatened by the vain-struggling French tossers. Completely outclassing their foes, the Eagles scored at will by all possible methods, including several fancy shots by Jack Faber and Joe Sweeney, both of whom were well-nigh unstoppable. Ralph Bennie also contributed several well-aimed shots.

Eagles Lead, 15-6, At Half Time.

The French Team tried two different combinations in an effort to stop the Eagles, but without result. At half time the score stood 15-6, and although French scored 3 points at the resumption of play to give their followers some hope, the rally was short lived.

FIELD OF 40 AWAITING TODAY'S GRAND NATIONAL

4 U.S.-Owned Jumpers in Classic

150,000 to Witness Historic Event at Liverpool.

Rain Soaks Course; Grakle Favorite in Fourth Attempt.

LIVERPOOL, England, March 27 (A.P.).—Two score horses peered through the cold mist over a rain-soaked Aintree course today as a world-wide crowd of 150,000 wended its way toward this historic track for the ninety-first running of the Grand National tomorrow.

The forecast of unfavorable weather augurs for heavy going in tomorrow's gruelling test—the kind of going that spelled disaster last year for the American-owned Easter Hero, which twisted a shoe in the sticky course, but finished second after leading almost to victory.

England's weather, however, is notoriously unreliable, and there's just as much chance of the sun bursting forth in the morning as there is for some 100-to-1 shot to win the world's premier steeplechase, which, as Grand National followers know, is possible.

Grakle, Sixth in 1929, Is Favorite.

Tomorrow's field is expected to number 40 unless there are a few last-minute scratches. The number is 26 less than the record number that went to the post last year. Among the starters are 4 American-owned horses, 2 of which are ranked among the favorites. They are John H. Whitney's Sir Lindsay and Victor Emmanuel's Royal Arch II.

Grakle, which finished sixth last year, was the favorite tonight for the big event. It will be his fourth attempt to win the race for his owner, Cecil R. Taylor, Liverpool. Grakle has had bad luck in other runnings of the famous steeplechase. In 1928 he suffered interference at the dangerous canal turn by Easter Hero and in 1927 was brought down by another falling horse.

Sir Lindsay is receiving the backing of the Americans though at long odds. The Whitney jumper gave a polished display of jumping in winning the National Hunt Steeplechase at Cheltenham recently. Although his rivals were of the common sort, many experts consider him more likely than most of the national contenders to stand up over the extremely difficult Aintree fences.

American Horses Boast Experience.

The four American-owned entries in the 4½-mile test over 31 fences have had considerable experience over the grand national country. Sir Lindsay finished third in 1929 in the Sefton Steeplechase, which is run over a part of the same course. The Whitney entry, a 9-year-old, will have 146 pounds in the saddle tomorrow. Stephen Sandford's Sandy Hook, which will carry 152 pounds, has placed in lesser events, while Gordon Selfridge's Ruddyman II has a record of finishing over the Sefton course. The last named has been handicapped with 142 pounds.

Nearly 150,000 tickets in the Liverpool Commercial Exchange National Sweepstake have been sold for 16 prizes aggregating £51,000 sterling ($255,000).

Lou Little to Talk On Radio Tomorrow

Lou Little, former Georgetown football coach and athletic director, now head football coach at Columbia University, will talk over the radio in New York tomorrow between 6:30 and 7 p. m. The broadcast is to be made from Station WABC in New York, which is hooked up with the Columbia system. Dick Glendon, Columbia University crew coach, will share the time with Little.

WOLVERINES PLAY TWO.

The Wolverine Nine has scheduled two practice games for Sunday to be played on the Fairlawn Field. The General Accounting Office will be met at 1 o'clock, with the Somersets to be encountered in the nightcap, starting at 3 p. m.

HOME DEBUT TODAY FOR G. U. NINE

Veteran Team Meets Franklin-Marshall on Barracks Field.

COLLEGE baseball makes its local 1930 debut this afternoon when Georgetown and Franklin-Marshall, of Lancaster, Pa., clash on Washington Barracks Field, starting at 3 o'clock. As the field is a part of a Government reservation, no charge will be made for admission.

Nothing is known here of the strength of Franklin-Marshall except that it is coached by an able diamond mentor, Jimmy Sheckard, former professional star. Georgetown, however, already has demonstrated power in three games played last week in North Carolina. The Hoyas won two of those contests and lost the other by a margin of one run in ten innings.

Georgetown will place on the field virtually the same team that represented it last spring. It is better fortified in pitching and catching than last year and has an abundance of reserve material, something it lacked in 1929.

Two Capital Youths In Line-Up.

Bill Rapp, a Washingtonian and son of the well-known Cleveland scout, will probably occupy right field for the Hoyas, while Walter Morris who, with Rapp, attended St. John's College here before entering the Hilltop, will hold forth at third base.

Georgetown and G. W. To Meet in Tennis

The probable highlight of the local college tennis season is in the making with Georgetown and George Washington having agreed to meet each other sometime in May

3 TRACK ACES LOST TO VA. SQUAD

Flippin, Turner and McIlhaney Not Available.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., March 27.—Virginia's track team will be handicapped this season by the loss of three valuable men, Capt. Harry Flippin, Louis McIlhaney and Dick Turner, all of wom were expected to compete for the Cavaliers throughout the spring.

Capt. Flippin and McIlhaney, who was captain of cross-country last fall, have been forced to give up on account of their work in the department of medicine. Turner has resigned to go into business in Pittsburgh.

Each of these men had been counted on as a winner during the season soon to start. Flippin holds two hurdle world records and has been valuable as a dash man and a broad jumper. McIlhaney will be much missed in distance events. Turner has been throwing the javelin and has done 175 feet several times in winter practice.

Flippin Winning Medals For Ten Years.

For ten years Flippin has been winning track medals. His first came in 1920, when he won an award as the best track man in the Charlottesville public schools. His last was received a few weeks ago, when he won the hurdles in the Virginia Indoor Games.

During his years of track competition Flippin averaged 17 points in each meet in which he competed. His prep school average was 13 points, his average as a first year track man at Virginia was 29 points, and his varsity average has been 15 points for each meet.

Flippin has never lost a hurdle race in the State of Virginia and has not been defeated in closed competition in prep school or varsity meets. His few reverses have come in open events.

Set 2 World Marks Last Winter.

Last winter Flippin set two new world records when he covered the 50-yard low hurdles in 6 1-5 seconds and the 60-yard high hurdles in 7 2-5 seconds. He was national junior metropolitan high hurdle champion in 1927 and won the national pentathlon championship the same year. Last spring he won the 120-yard high hurdles in the Penn relay carnival. Flippin also played end in football and received several all-Southern mentions.

The loss of these three men at one time will be a serious set-back to Virginia's track prospects, for this trio together was counted on to average about 20 points for the Cavaliers in dual meets this season.

Baltimore Masons in Capital.

More than 250 members of Hiram Masonic Lodge of Baltimore made the twentieth annual visit of the group last night to Naval Lodge, No. 4, of this city at its quarters on Pennsylvania avenue near Fourth street southeast. The Baltimore party made the round trip on a chartered train.

GOLF
AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

What is the cure for topping?

Answered by JOHNNY FARRELL,

Winner of Eastern, Metropolitan, Wheeling, Massachusetts, Philadelphia, Chicago and Pennsylvania Open Championships 1927; LaGorce Open, 1928; National Open, 1928.

Topping is caused by hitting the ball on the upswing. This happens when the player makes a marked effort to lift the ball into the air. He pulls the club away from the ball coming through, and as a result he hits the top of the ball instead of the bottom of it.

The best cure for this mistake is to play the ball more in center when addressing it, and to hit down a bit more as you are making the downward swing. This will usually combat the tendency to hit on the upswing which results in topping.

V. M. I. OPENS WITH 7-TO-0 VICTORY

Gillespie Yields Only 2 Hits to Bridgewater Nine.

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., March 27.—Virginia Military Institute won its first game of the season this afternoon, defeating Bridgewater, 7 to 0, behind the stellar pitching of Marvin Gillespie.

Biggs, the Keydet captain, smashed out a long home run to open the game for V. M. I. in the first inning. The Cadets went on a scoring spree in the third inning to count five times on four hits, doubles by Biggs and Grow, featuring this attack. Biggs made the final Cadet rally in tre sixth inning, after he had walked and scored on Williams' single.

The stellar pitching of Gillespie featured the game. He allowed only two hits in eight innings, only two of the men facing him getting as far as third base and one reaching second. Biggs carried off batting honors with a homer and double out of three attempts. A brisk cold wind blew across the field and made fielding fly balls difficult.

WE WERE SPEEDING TOWARD MARS IN OUR INTERPLANETARY ROCKET SHIP, THE "SATELLITE"
STODDARD WENT ALOFT TO THE ROCKET DECK, WHERE HE BUSIED HIMSELF TUNING UP THE MOTORS—
COPYRIGHT JOHN F. DILLE CO. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
SEVENTY-EIGHTY-NINETY THOUSAND MILES AN HOUR. WE CAN SHUT OFF OUR ROCKETS AND COAST ON OUR MOMENTUM SOON.
BELOW IN THE GENERATOR ROOM, JOE MARTIN BEGAN THE ELECTRONIC PRODUCTION OF RESERVE FOOD AND BALLAST.
I NEVER REALIZED HOW CLOSE THE MOON IS TO EARTH.
IT'S ONLY ABOUT 2.5 TIMES EARTH'S DIAMETER AWAY FROM IT.
WHAT WORRIES ME IS THE DANGER OF HITTING A STRAY METEORITE!
WHILE IN THE CONTROL ROOM.

ELLA CINDERS — Outside Looking In — By Bill Conselman and Charlie Plumb

I'LL SELL EVERYTHING I OWN, CLOSE UP THE HOUSE, AND SEARCH FOR SOME TRACE OF MY DARLING DAUGHTER, ELLA! O. WATTERS HEEK SAID SHE DISAPPEARED ON THE JUNGLE ISLAND AFTER THEY WERE SHIPWRECKED AND THAT WILD ANIMALS GOT HER!
BUT THE HEART OF A FATHER NEVER LOSES HOPE! MAYBE HEEK LIED! MAYBE ELLA IS STILL ALIVE! I WON'T GIVE UP UNTIL I'VE TAKEN THAT ISLAND APART PIECE BY PIECE AND PUT EVERY INCH UNDER A MICROSCOPE!
WON'T DAD BE GLAD TO SEE ME AND KNOW I'M SAFE! HE'LL BE AS SURPRISED AS THE POOR FARMER WHO DUG A WELL FOR WATER AND DISCOVERED OIL! I'LL SLEEP IN MY OWN LITTLE BED TONIGHT AND DREAM THAT I'VE NEVER BEEN AWAY!
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.; Copyright, 1930, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service
COMING HOME TO AN EMPTY HOUSE IS LIKE DIVING INTO A SWIMMING POOL AND FINDING THE WATER GONE! NO FAMILY REUNION CAN BE A SUCCESS WITH THE FAMILY MISSING! WONDER WHAT'S BECOME OF DAD?

GASOLINE ALLEY — Opportunity Knocks Again

I HEARD TODAY, MR. WALLET, THAT CORPUS IS IN LONDON WITH THE NEW FOUND CODA WILL. I SUPPOSE YOU KNEW IT.
YES, I HEARD ABOUT IT, MISS TOTSY, BUT THANKS FOR THE INFORMATION ANYWAY.
SO YOU DIDN'T WASTE ANN SENTIMENT ON LORA WHEN YOU FOUND SHE DIDN'T BELONG TO A MILLIONAIRE'S FAMILY, HI.
NO TOTSY, BUT I'VE GOT ANOTHER IDEA THAT I WANTED TO TALK OVER WITH YOU. MAYBE YOU CAN HELP ME OUT.
DO YOU KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT THIS MME. OCTAVE THAT SEEMS TO BE THE BIG FAVORITE RIGHT NOW IN THIS RACE FOR CODA'S COIN?
WHY? DON'T TELL ME YOU'VE GIVEN LORA THE AIR IN FAVOR OF OCTAVE?
NOTHING ELSE BUT, IF THE WIDOW IS SUSCEPTIBLE AND PROVES TO HAVE THE PROPER PROSPECTS.
HERE'S A TIP, HI. I'M A DARK HORSE MYSELF BUT I'VE GOT A GOOD CHANCE TO BE IN ON THE BIG MONEY. YOU'D BETTER APPRECIATE ME.

THE DYER DIAMONDS
EPISODE 23
IN WHICH "THE MAN HIGHER UP" IS CAUGHT
AS THE BIG CAR DROVE UP TO THE GANGSTERS HEADQUARTERS, INSPECTOR BOYD TOLD CAMMORA WHAT HE WAS EXPECTED TO DO WE'LL ALL BE BACK OF THESE CURTAINS WITH OUR GUNS TRAINED ON YOU! NOW ANSWER THE DOOR AND LET SMYTHE IN!!
HELLO, CHIEF!
SAY, WHAT THE DICKENS DO YOU MEAN, LOUIS, CALLING ME UP AND ASKING ME TO MEET YOU HERE?!
HAVEN'T I TOLD YOU NEVER TO PHONE ME BUT ALWAYS TO WRITE IN CODE, AND, ALSO, THAT I DON'T WANT TO BE SEEN COMING TO THIS PLACE?!
BUT I HAD TO SEE YOU ABOUT THE DYER DIAMONDS!!
WHAT ABOUT THEM? DIDN'T YOU DELIVER THEM TO MAX AS I TOLD YOU TO?!
AND NOW INSPECTOR BOYD HAD HEARD ENOUGH
LOOKS LIKE THE GAME'S UP, SMYTHE!! I'LL HAND IT TO YOU, THO', YOU HAD ME FOOLED!!
PUT THE BRACELETS ON HIM, DRISGOLL, HE'S COMING WITH ME!!
BUT, INSPECTOR, THIS IS AN OUTRAGE, A FRAME-UP!! I TELL YOU!!
BIG FINAL EPISODE HERE TOMORROW!!

THE GUMPS — A Turn About

OH MIN!
CAN YOU PUT A NEW SEAT IN THIS PAIR OF TROUSERS? I'D LIKE TO GIVE THE TAILOR THAT MADE THEM A GOOD PIECE OF MY MIND—
NO I CAN DO NOTHING WITH THEM— I HAVEN'T THE CLOTH TO MATCH— YOU'LL HAVE TO TAKE THEM TO THE MAN WHO MADE THEM—
HELLO— IS THIS BROWN THE TAILOR— WELL THE SEAT IS WORN OUT OF THAT LAST PAIR OF PANTS YOU MADE FOR ME— AND I'VE HARDLY WORN THEM— I'LL BE MUCH OBLIGED IF YOU'LL RE-SEAT THEM FOR ME— CAN YOU DO IT?
ABSOLUTELY— AND IF YOU'LL BE KIND ENOUGH TO BRING THE BILL I SENT YOU SIX MONTHS AGO— I'LL BE GLAD TO OBLIGE YOU BY RECEIPTING THAT— ALSO

Man and Boy Are Bitten When Attacked by Dog

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, holding a Bankruptcy Court. In the matter of William J. Rogers, Inc., a corporation, Bankrupt. In Bankruptcy, No. 2310. To the creditors of William J. Rogers, Inc., a corporation, of the City of Washington, District of Columbia: Notice is hereby given that on the 22d day of March, A. D. 1930, the said William J. Rogers, Inc., was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of its creditors will be held at my office in the Willard Building, 512 H street northwest, Washington, D. C., on the 5TH DAY OF APRIL, A. D. 1930, at 10 o'clock a. m., at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the officers of the bankrupt corporation and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting. Notice is hereby given given to the creditors that the owner of the premises on which the tangible assets of the bankrupt estate are located insists upon immediate possession being given, and as the removal of the said property could only be accomplished by the expenditure of a considerable amount of money, thus increasing the cost of the administration of this estate, the assets of the bankrupt, consisting generally of printing presses, cutting machines, hand press, cameras and other lithographing and photolithographing machinery and equipment, together with office furniture, safe, locker, typewriters, file cases, desks, &c., will be sold at public auction in detail on MONDAY, April 7, 1930, on the premises—namely, 627 F street northwest, Washington, D. C., commencing at 10 o'clock a. m., subject to the approval of the creditors at the meeting to be held on April 5. Information with respect to the property to be sold and inspection thereof may be had upon application to Messrs. Shefferman & Aronson, attorneys for the bankrupt, 500 Denrike Building, Washington, D. C. FRED J. EDEN, Referee in Bankruptcy. 28

PROPOSALS

PROPOSALS WILL BE RECEIVED BY the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, Navy Department, Washington, D. C., until 10 o'clock a. m., APRIL 8, 1930, for furnishing Diesel engine power plant, aircraft compass parts, compass lights, white oak, to the Navy Yard, Washington, D. C., &c. Apply for proposals to the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, or J. CHEATHAM, Paymaster General of the Navy. 28

SEALED PROPOSALS, IN TRIPLICATE, will be received in the office of the Chief Clerk, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., until 2 p. m. April 7, 1930, and then opened, for concrete supporting wall for stacker track. Blanks for submitting proposals may be obtained upon application to the Chief Clerk of the Department at the above address. Proposal No. 22062. 24.26.28

LEGAL NOTICES

IN COMPLIANCE WITH SECTION 2, Article 2, of the by-laws of the Universal Drug Manufacturing, Importing & Exporting Corp., a special meeting of the stockholders is called by stockholders representing one-fifth of the common capital stock of the outstanding of the company to be held APRIL 10, 1930, 10:30 A. M., at Barnes School Auditorium, 1410 Glenarm St., second floor, in Denver, Colorado, for the purpose of (1) considering the present status of the company; (2) status as to value of the stock; (3) to formulate some plan by which the value of the stock of the company may be stabilized and the stockholders may be saved from total loss in their investment in said company, and to consider and to do all other proper things which may be done to save the stockholders harmless in their investment herein, and to save said stockholders any part or portion of their investment herein which may be possible by the cooperation of all the stockholders working together to said end, and to do all such other things that may be necessary or desirable for the protection of the stockholders of said Universal Drug Manufacturing Importing & Exporting Corporation. Dated this 8th day of March, 1930, at Denver, Colo. Signed by RICHARD PRICE ADAMS, ROMANKIE, LAURA S. ROMANKIE, A. E. McKEEN, M. ELIA McKEEN, WM. H. ROONEY, MRS. MARGARET E. SPEER, MRS. NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

R. E. FREER TO HEAD LYON VILLAGE GROUP

Hoover Support Asked for Move to Have Byrd Land First in Virginia.

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Robert E. Freer was elected president of the Lyon Village Citizens Association at its annual meeting held last night at the home of the retiring president, Robert N. Anderson. Other officers are William D. Medley, vice president; I. C. Buchanan, secretary; Louis C. Carl, treasurer, and Mrs. Joseph Haley, assistant secretary.

The executive committee consists of the elective officers and Monroe H. Stockett, Groome Eareckson and Robert N. Anderson.

The president appointed the following committee to make a study of the proposal for the establishment of a Federal postoffice building in Arlington County: Walter U. Varney, Monroe H. Stockett and C. W. Clever.

Twelve new members were added to the rolls of the association.

Having the assurance that Gov. John Garland Pollard is in symphaty with the movement which has been started by a group of citizens from Arlington County and Alexandria City to have Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd land first in Virginia on his return to the United States from the South Pole, it was learned yesterday that a letter has gone forth to President Herbert Hoover asking his support to the project.

The letter to President Hoover was written following the receipt of a letter from representatives of Admiral Byrd in New York that nothing short of a command from the President of the United States could divert Admiral Byrd from first landing in New York as is now planned.

The Arlington County Monarch Club held its weekly luncheon meeting yesterday at the Ashton Heights Woman's Clubhouse with President A. B. Honts presiding.

With work progressing rapidly on the new firemen's hall for the Arlington Fire Department, announcement was made yesterday that the department will be able to hold its meeting in the new building Wednesday night of next week.

President Julian Tapp asks that all members attend the next meeting as plans for the holding of the annual carnival this year will be outlined and committees appointed.

While County Engineer C. L. Kinler set no definite time for improvement work to be started by the county, it is learned that plans are being considered at this time looking to the widening of the avenue and making slight changes in the route of Courthouse road, which meets Rucker avenue and continues to a point where it connects with the Wilson boulevard opposite Chestnut street.

Announcement was made last night by Norbert Milnick, noble grand of Arlington Lodge, No. 193, I. O. O. F., of the appointment of George H. McCrilois as general chairman of arrangements for the annual carnival to be given during the early part of the summer. Other members of the committee are: William Cleaver, Charles Edwards and D. W. Leary.

At a largely attended meeting of Arlington Chapter, No. 39, Order of the Eastern Star, held last night in the auditorium of the Cherrydale firemen's hall, the newly elected officers were installed by Mrs. Mary E. Teacheum, grand lecturer of the grand lodge of the District of Columbia.

Those installed are: Mrs. Emma B. Topley, worthy matron; Hugh Reid, worthy patron; Mrs. Ethel Wetzel, associate matron; Frank Chambers, associate patron; Mrs. Viola Walker, conductress; Mrs. Florence Donaldson, associate conductress; Mrs. Martha Rauth, secretary; Mrs. Mercedes Reid, treasurer; Mrs. Mattie Honts, organist; Mrs. Alberta Cox, Adah; Mrs. Mary Palmer, Ruth; Mrs. Mildred Rees, Esther; Mrs. Mabel Horner, Martha; Mrs. Dorothy Reynex, Electa; Mrs. Nettie Batchelet, chaplain; Miss Catherine Peffers, marshal; Benjamin Lusby, sentinel, and Mrs. Myrtle Doyle, warder.

More than 250 persons were served at the dinner given last night in the Parish Hall of St. George's Episcopal Church by the ladies' guild.

Among the guests who enjoyed the luncheon with the children were: Mrs. R. E. Woodyard, Mrs. G. S. Lynch, Mrs. John W. Walcott, Mrs. C. B. Austin, Mrs. R. Witt, Mrs. W. D. Wiseman, Mrs. L. R. Price, Mrs. A. B. Keys, Mrs. N. E. Sipher, Mrs. E. A. Golden, Mrs. M. E. Hann, Mrs. Percy A. Richmond, Mrs. Robert N. Meadows, Mrs. N. C. Watts, Mrs. Carrie T. Gibson, Mrs. Fletcher Kemp, Mrs. S. T. Scott, Mrs. Randolph Whitt, Mrs. Charles V. Ward, Mrs. H. H. Snarr, Mrs. Charles Wicks, Mrs. Mabel Coffman, Mrs. Ida A. Fishe, Mrs. J. S. Kemp and Mrs. Louise Leeman.

A benefit entertainment under auspices of the members of the Parent-Teachers Association of the Robert E. Lee School will be given in the school auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock.

The honor roll for the month at the James Monroe School, as given out yesterday by the principal, Miss Zola B. Payne, contains the following list of pupils by grades: Grade 1, Linnwood Andrews, William Collier, Carl Fuss, Norman Lamberson, Stanley Lusby, James Sprinkle, Lorraine Andrews, Betty Jane Brooks, Alice Coffman, Louise Hann, Mary G. Jones, Kathryn Kahl, Lillian Proctor, Kathleen Quinn, Dorothy Stewart, Jeanne Suttle, Bobbie Wolcott, Elizabeth Reiners; Grade 2, Kirke Sipher, Jack Farrall, Audrey Gennery, Dudley Golden, Virginia Groves, Robert Brown, Dorothy Lewis, Mary Lynch Margaret Martin, Walter Price, Madeleine St. Jacques, Maddus Thompson; Grade 3, Dorothy Parnell, Charlotte Smith, Lillian Andrews and William Atwood; Grade 4, Evelyn Thatcher, Florence Keller, Jack Golden, William McMillen, Anne E. Myers and Dorothy Kemp, and Grade 5, Walter Canhann, Lois Mason, June Reeves and Blanche Wolverton.

Mrs. Arthur A. Vaughan, 63 years old, died at her home, 134 North Oak street, Clarendon, yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock after an illness of only a few days.

The body will be at the undertaking parlors of C. J. Ives, Wilson boulevard and Spruce street, Clarendon, today from 4 to 6 o'clock. Tonight at 8 o'clock it will be shipped to Orange, Mass., where the funeral services will be conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the undertaking parlors of J. F. Higgins by the Rev. A. A. Blair, pastor of the Congregational Church. Burial will be in the Central Cemetery.

Mrs. Vaughan was born in Dana, Mass. She has been a resident of Arlington County for the past five years, where she has been active in club circles. She was a member of the Creative Arts Club of Arlington County, the Woman's Club of Lyon Village and Washington Centennial Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

She is survived by her husband and one sister, Mrs. William E. Towne, of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Finding of $6,165 Is Cause of Suit

Court Asked to Determine Which of Two Estates Money Belongs To.

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., March 27.—Discovery recently of $6,165 in currency and gold in three cans in a closet at the home of the late Robert J. Layne, Pittsylvania farmer, precipitated an unusual injunction proceeding at Chataw today.

When Mr. Layne died in 1927, leaving $18,000, he provided a trust fund by which Miss Alice Susan Dalton was to benefit. She died twelve months ago. Recently two baking powder tins and a molasses can were found in a dark closet of the Layne home, the money being in them. The question for the court to determine is whether the money belonged to Miss Dalton or was part of the estate of Mr. Layne which had been overlooked.

The executor of the Layne estate sued out an injunction against the administrator of the Dalton estate to enjoin him from distributing the $6,165 among the heirs. Miss Dalton has 25 heirs and Mr. Layne an equal number.

CITY'S GIRL SCOUTS ACQUIRE CAMP SITE

IN SHENANDOAH VALLEY

Lease of a new summer camp site at Stokesville, Va., on the north fork of the Shenandoah River has been negotiated by the Girl Scout organization of Washington, and more than 1,000 scouts are expected to participate in the summer activities there this year.

The new camp, leased from the United States National Forest, is regarded as one of the most beautiful in the Shenandoah Valley, ideal for camping purposes and offering special attractions which have not been present in previous camps of the scouts.

Stokesville, years ago a busy lumber town and more recently the railroad shop center for the Chesapeake Western Railway, is expected to take on a new lease of life with the influx of Girl Scouts this summer.

The town was named for the late W. E. D. Stokes, New York hotel owner, who dreamed of a day when the place would be the big railroad terminal for a coal line from West Virginia fields to Gloucester Point. After building a railroad from Stokesville to Elkton across Rockingham County, Mr. Stokes endeavored to sell the line and its rights of way to Gloucester Point to the late H. H. Rogers. This offer was turned down by Mr. Rogers because of the cost of tunneling west of Stokesville with the result that the mountain railroad town was abandoned last year by the Chesapeake Western as its terminus and home of its shops.

A year ago the Girl Scouts camped at Eds Park, near Rawley Springs, Va., with more than 800 girls using the noted summer resort during the course of the season. The new camp at Stokesville is 12 or 15 miles to the south of last year's site.

Dorothy Greene, director of Girl Scouts, is now at work on plans for the summer schedule at Stokesville. Many girls are expected to spend the entire summer at the camp, while others will visit the site for periods of a week or longer. Due to the fact that the lease has just been signed, no definite dates or schedules in connection with camp activities have been prepared, but these will be announced soon, it is said.

Friends Liberate Pair In Jail at Lynchburg

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., March 27.—Friends of Elmer Williams and Lowell Massie broke into the Amherst County Jail this morning about 2 o'clock, opened a cell in which the youths were confined and liberated them. Entrance to the jail was made by breaking the lock of a back door.

Williams and Massie were awaiting grand jury investigation on charges of attempting to steal an automobile. Other prisoners advised Jailer B. L. Stinnett of the delivery and he made a search, but failed to find the fugitives. The two prisoners were taken away from the jail in an automobile.

Three Killed, Two Hurt As Bridge Girder Falls

Richwood, W. Va., March 27 (A.P.).—Three men were killed and two hurt today when a steel girder fell from a railway bridge under construction near Swiss. The men were engaged in erecting a bridge for the Nicholas, Fayette & Greenbrier Railroad. The injured were taken to a Montgomery hospital. Physicians said their condition is critical and New River State College students were called to give blood for transfusions.

The dead are H. C. Lytle, Columbus, Ohio; John Swan, Fort Pitt, Pa., and Homer Smith, Pomeroy, Ohio. The injured are A. C. Davidson, South Point, Ohio, and Ray Johnson, Grove City, Ohio.

Woman Auditor Falls Five Stories to Death

Richmond, Va., March 27 (A.P.).—Miss Esther Thalheimer, 46, in charge of the auditing division of a large department store here, jumped or fell to her death today from the roof of the five-story building in which she worked.

A number of persons on the street saw her as she made her way across the roof of the building and climbed upon the parapet. She plunged into a narrow alley and was killed instantly.

PROPOSAL TO RAISE FARES IS CRITCIZED

300 Residents of Alexandria Meet to Lodge Protest on Proposition.

COMMITTEE IS NAMED

Numerous protests against the proposed raise in fares by the A., B. & W. Bus Co. and the Washington-Virginia Electric Railway were voiced last night at a meeting of about 300 residents of Alexandria and vicinity in Elks Hall. Harry F. Kennedy presided.

Following a prolonged discussion, a committee was appointed to confer with the auditor of the two transportation companies, owned by R. L. May, this afternoon to determine the exact financial condition of the concerns and the reasons for the request for higher rates. This committee will then report to the general citizens' committee at an other meeting next Wednesday night.

The special group is composed of Frank W. Noxson, Benedict Weil, J. Barton Phillips, Harry Newton, J. Fred Birrell and Mr. Kennedy.

Mr. May has obtained a Hearing before the State corporation commission April 8 on the proposed fare increase, which would leave no fare rate under 10 cents.

A. H. Thomasson, 36 years old, employed as a brakeman at the Potomac Yards, died yesterday in the Alexandria Hospital as the result of an accident suffered while at work Monday morning, in which his left leg was so badly injured that it was found necessary to amputate it. The body has been taken to his home in Manassas for burial.

Robert Ferguson, colored, of Gum Springs, Fairfax County, died late Wednesday night at the Alexandria Hospital from gunshot wounds inflicted by his brother, Joseph Ferguson, during a quarrel Sunday night. Joseph Ferguson was arrested in Alexandria shortly after the shooting and turned over to the Fairfax County authorities, who were holding him on charges of being drunk and felonious shooting. According to Captain of Police Heywood J. Durrer, this charge will now probably be changed to that of murder.

The brothers, according to the police, quarreled over the wife of one of them, and the shooting with a shotgun followed.

Two new building projects, to cost in the aggregate $40,000, are now under way bids having been received by the American Agricultural Chemical Co. for the construction of a frame building 82 feet by 60 feet, to replace their present rock storage shed at Princess and Union streets, at a cost of $30,000, work to be started June 1.

The other consists of the razing of the two-story brick and frame store building at King and Payne streets to make way for a modern one-story store building, 24 feet front by 85 feet deep. The contract amounts to approximately $10,000, the work to be completed shortly after May 1.

An automobile recently stolen from C. C. Brown, of the Citizens National Bank, has been found in Greenville, Tex., according to a report received by Police Capt. W. W. Campbell. The car is understood to have been wrecked and abandoned.

The Chapter, Council and Consistory of the Valley of Alexandria, Scottish Rite Masons, will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Masonic Temple, and will confer the eighteenth degree in full form.

Noah Benton Sinclair, 58 years old, a carpenter, died Wednesday at the Alexandria Hospital. His home was near the Theological Seminary of Virginia, and he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hattie Sinclair, and these children: Lewis Albert Sinclair, of Baltimore; William Sinclair, of the seminary, and Mrs. Bartlett Simms, also of the seminary; brother, L. W. Sinclair, of Kannapolis, N. C.; and a sister, Miss Bettie Sinclair, of Alexandria.

Funeral services will be held from Wheatley's Mortuary Chapel at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and burial will be in Bethel Cemetery.

John T. DeVaughan, 66 years old and unmarried, died yesterday after a long illness. He is survived by a brother, Samuel B. DeVaughan, of 1018 Mount Vernon avenue, Potomac.

Mr. DeVaughan was a member of the local carpenters' union, and of Alexandria Council, No. 5, Fraternal Order of Americans. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Bus Route Change Approved.

Change in the route of the Washington, Shenandoah Motor Lines, so as to permit buses to stop at the bus depot at 1421 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, was approved yesterday by the Public Utilities Commission. The buses will enter Washington over the Highway Bridge to Fourteenth street to Pennsylvania avenue to the depot to Fifteenth street to New York avenue to Twelfth to Pennsylvania avenue. The line runs buses between Washington and Roanoke, Va.

Cumiskey Indorsed for Marshal.

Cumberland, Md., March 27 (Special).—Former City Commissioner Charles J. Cumiskey today received the unanimous indorsement of the Republican State central committee of Allegany County for United States deputy marshal for this district to succeed the late John W. Doherty. The indorsement has been sent to Senator Phillips Lee Goldsborough, and United States Marshal George W. Collier, of Baltimore, who will make the recommendation.

Augusta Proposes $10,000 School Cut

Virginia County Budget Has Provision to Drop Tuition Fees.

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., March 27.—Augusta County's board of supervisors is about to cut another melon—one which will add approximately $10,000 to the pockets of parents whose children are enrolled in county high schools.

In the budget for the fiscal year 1930 presented at today's meeting of the board and to be acted upon finally at the April meeting, provision is made for operating the county schools system without the tuition fee charged children in the high school departments. This fee runs from $1.50 to $2.50, from the first through to the fourth grades. In addition to lopping off the tuition charge, the budget provides for financing a $10,000 addition to the school at Churchville and $25,000 for a new high school plant at Moscow—without raising the tax rate.

The board also has set aside $44,000 for debt curtailment. The ensuing year's budget totals $636,899.95. No reduction in tax rate in any of the districts or the town of Waynesboro is contemplated this year in the budget, elimination of the tuition and work on the two school projects with funds out of regular revenues precluding a reduction. In 1929 the board reduced taxes 5 cents in all districts and Waynesboro, after doing the same thing in 1928. The present year is being closed with a balance of $34,000.

Entries Made for Races On Ernest Smith Farm

Special to The Washington Post.

Middleburg, Va., March 27.—Entries are being received by Walter H. West, racing secretary, for the annual races to be run on the farm of Col. D. C. Sands, known as the Ernest Smith farm, near Middleburg, Va., on Saturday, April 5. Entries close at 12 o'clock midnight, Monday, March 31.

The list of races includes the Middleburg Hunt Cup, a 4-mile race over timber jumps; the Loudoun Plate, a 2-mile steeplechase over brush jumps; the Rose Hill, a 3-mile steeplechase, and the Huntsman race, which is run over a distance of 8 miles across country. A puppy show will be held at 11 o'clock on the morning of April 5.

University Women Meet Next Month

South Atlantic Section and Virginia Division to Gather.

Williamsburg, Va., March 27 (A.P.).—The third annual conference of the South Atlantic section of the American Association of University Women will meet here simultaneously with the sixth annual conference of the Virginia State division April 4 and 5, with the Williamsburg group as the hostess chapter. Delegates from Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, the District of Columbia and Maryland will attend the conference. Fifty or more invited guests also will be present at the meeting.

Among the speakers will be Dr Mary E. Wooley, of Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., and Dean Mildred R. Bell, of Shorter College, Rome, Ga. Mrs. Harvey W. Harmer, section director, and Miss Jeannette S. Kelly, president of the Williamsbrg chapter and president of the State association, will preside at the meetings.

MAN IS SENTENCED IN FAIRFAX MURDER

Second-Degree Verdict Gets Defendant Five-Year Prison Term.

APPEAL PLEA GRANTED

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Vienna, Va.
Phone Vienna 64.

Boston Williams, colored, was found guilty of second degree murder and sentenced to five years in the State penitentiary yesterday by a Fairfax County Circuit Court jury.

Williams shot and killed Howard Sims, also colored, March 1, 1930, during a fight which took place at a dance at the home of Ida Jones, colored, in Cookstown in Herndon. The trial yesterday occupied the entire day of the court, which did not adjourn until after 6 o'clock.

Williams based his defense on a plea of self-defense, and about 30 witnesses testified. The accused took the stand in his own defense. During the trial many exceptions were noted by former State Senator Walter Tansil Oliver, attorney for the defense and at the conclusion of the testimony he made a stirring plea for his client.

Commonwealth's Attorney Wilson M. Farr led the prosecution and asked for a second degree murder verdict.

Following the verdict the defense attorney made a motion to have the verdict set aside as contrary to the law and evidence. The motion was denied by the court. A motion for a new trial on ground of newly discovered evidence was also refused. Then Attorney Oliver had the many exceptions taken during the trial noted, and the prisoner was sentenced. The defense asked for a stay of execution for 60 days so that an appeal might be taken. This was granted by Judge Howard W. Smith.

Kenmore Council, Daughters of America, met last night at Andrew Chapel. Plans were completed for the "double minstrel" show, which is to be presented by the council April 5. The program will be under the direction of Mr. Millard. The committee from the council will consist of Mrs. William Day, chairman; Mrs. Katherine Leigh, Mrs. G. Ashley Money and William Cockerill.

The Citizens Association and Community League at Herndon will meet this evening in the schoolhouse. The musical program will be in charge of the Music Study Club, of which Mrs. Annie Robey Walker is president.

There will be a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade Unit in the St. James School hall at West Falls Church.

The Lenten Mission Study Class at Andrew Chapel, which meets tomorrow night, will be under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence Leigh.

Herndon Chapter, No. 55, Order of Eastern Star, held its regular meeting in the Masonic Hall Wednesday night. After the business meeting, an open meeting was held for the purpose of installing officers for the coming year. More than 100 visitors were present from Washington, Vienna, Potomac and Herndon. Mrs. Mary E. Teachum, Grand Lecturer of the District of Columbia, acted as installing officer, with Mrs. Lucille Allan, of Washington, as Grand Marshal.

The following officers were installed: Mrs. Esther Thompson, worthy matron; Edgar Gillette, worthy patron; Mrs. Eudora Armfield, associate matron; Dr. William Meyer, associate patron; Miss Marjorie B. Reed, secretary; Mrs. Katherine M. Kirk, treasurer; Mrs. Alma Breckenridge, conductress; Mrs. Lavinia Harrison, associate conductress; Mrs. Mary Middleton, chaplain; Mrs Minnie Matthews, marshal; Julian Thompson, sentinel; Mrs. Edith Thompson, organist; Mrs. Virgie Wynkoop, Ada; Miss Rebecca Middleton, Ruth; Mrs. Nellie Ferguson, Esther; Mrs. Nellie Wiley, Martha, and Mrs. Inez May Groff, Electa.

Following the installation an entertainment program was given. Miss Maxine Armfield sang two solos; Miss Louise Cockerille and Miss Louise McNair rendered two violin solos, accompanied by Miss Gladys Thompson on the guitar. Miss Willie Kirk gave two fancy dances. During the installation Miss Cogswell, of Washington, sang "Star of the East," with Mrs. Harold Hanes accompanying her at the piano. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

The Woodlawn Circle of the King's Daughters will give a supper and entertainment tonight in the Woodlawn Community House. The supper will be held from 6 until 9 o'clock; immediately following the entertainment program will begin. The features of the entertainment will be impersonatoin of several of the radio favorites, which will include "Amos n' Andy," "Mr. and Mrs." and "The Nit Wits." All of the numbers will be original and will be broadcast from the stage of the community house. The proceeds from the supper and entertainment will be used to repair and redecorate the community hall.

The high school baseball season in Fairfax County will be opened this afternoon with a game between the Lee-Jackson and Clifton High School Teams and between the Falls Church High School and the Floris Vocational Teams at Floris.

The Falls Church Guild will sponsor a moving picture entertainment tonight at 8 o'clock in the parish hall at Falls Church.

Sharon Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, at McLean, will install new officers for the coming year this evening in the Masonic Hall at McLean. Mrs. Mary Teachum, grand lecturer of the District of Columbia, will officiate.

A joint social program of the Young People's and Junior Missionary Societies of the Langley Church will be held tonight under the direction of Miss Dorothy Dodd.

Mrs. R. C. Stabner has been elected president of the Ladies Aid of the Columbia Baptist Church at Falls Church to succeed Mrs. H. H. Rodgers, resigned. Mrs. Townsend O. Marr was elected first vice president, and Mrs. H. H. Anderson second vice president.

The young women of the Hoge Fidelis class have elected Mrs. Milton Roberts, president; Miss Ouida Shotwell, first vice president; Miss Virginia Elliott, second vice president; Mrs. R. P. Storey, secretary, and Miss Virgie Shotwell, treasurer.

Woman, 99, Buried at Dry Run.

Keyser, W. Va., March 27 (Special).—Funeral services were held today for Miss Mary Susan Rawlings, of Dry Run, this county, who would have been 100 years old had she lived until fall. She spent her entire life at Dry Run. She was a daughter of Benjamin and Nancy Rawlings. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Joseph Rogers, of Cabin Run.

GRAND JURY URGES COUNTY QUIZ DELAY

Judge Peter Grants Request of Montgomery County Inquisitorial Body.

LEE ISSUES STATEMENT

While a crowd in the circuit court at Rockville waited breathlessly to hear the report of the Montgomery County Grand Jury on its investigation of the county government, the foreman, George C. Fry, stepped forward and dropped a bombshell in their midst by asking for permission to recess the grand jury until April 7. The request was granted by Judge Robert B. Peter.

Rumors around the courthouse that the grand jury had finished and was ready to report held the assemblage in the courtroom until 5 p. m. when the grand jury filed in. As the grand jurymen took their seats and Deputy Clerk Watkins asked if there were any presentments, Mr. Fry handed a paper to the clerk. Organization and antiorganization Democrats leaned forward in their seats as the foreman began to read from an official looking paper in his hands:

"We request that we be allowed to recess until Monday, April 7, 1930. We have not completed our deliberations and we feel we need the assistance of the State's attorney and we realize there are persons in jail who are entitled to a speedy trial and, therefore, ask permission to recess until the above date so that the cases on the criminal docket may be tried," he read.

Crowd Shows Disappointment.

The spectators gasped their disappointment. Suspense has held both sides since Maj. E. Brooke Lee, county Democratic leader and speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates, and the Board of County Commissioners appeared unexpectedly before the grand jury March 19 and interrupted the adjournment preparations of that body with a demand that charges printed in the Montgomery Independent, reflecting on the actions of the county officials be investigated and indictments returned either against the officials for malfeasance or against the publisher of the paper for criminal libel.

The grand jury had been unable to hold State's Attorney Robert B. Peter, jr., because of demands for his presence in court, where the criminal docket had been called.

Statement by Maj. Lee.

"I testified before t grand jury today as to the manner in which the 1928 general property reassessment was conducted in the Silver Spring section and throughout Montgomery County, and also testified about the location and general public justification of the Maryland extension of Sixteenth street to Silver Spring and Baltimore via Laurel, Colesville or Olney and the location, as well as with regar dto the reasons for building the new Silver Spring-Bethesda highway.

"I testified that the 1928 general property reassessments in the Silver Spring section were not only made fairly, equitable and openly made but that County Commissioner Lacy Shaw had even gone beyond requirements of the State and county assessment laws with regard to publicity of assessments by preparing a map showing the 1928 assessed value of lots, subdivisions and acreage in the entire Silver Spring District, which was posted in the county building at Silver Spring and which the public was invited through newspapers to inspect.

"More than 40 citizens of the Silver Spring neighborhood inspected this 1928 new assessment map and they were so thoroughly satisfied with the fairness of the assessment figures that affected the property of that section that only one protestant appeared before the county commissioners in response to the usual notices mailed every property owner that their new 1928 assessment would stand unless they appeared before the board of county commissioners. Further this particular taxpayer afterward wrote the board of county commissioners that she would not have appeared but for misinformation given her before her appearance before the board.

Further Testimony Cited.

"I further testified that the assessments in the Silver Spring business district were graded by city squares and were the same throughout each block and were the same on opposite sides of Georgia avenue extended, and that no tax discrimination existed in the Silver Spring business district or in any other section of the county as far as the county commissioners, assessors or other county officials knew.

"The equitable level of tax assessments throughout the county is substantiated by the fact that east Montgomery County borders on Prince Georges County, on the northeast on Howard County and on the north and northwest on Frederick County, and that $1,000 worth of property is assessed at equivalently the same figures for tax purposes in Montgomery County as it is assessed in the adjacent section of each of the other three neighboring and adjoining counties.

"My testimony on the East and West road included the statement that this road joins Chevy Chase and Bethesda with Silver Spring and Takoma Park in a new road distance of three and one-half miles, whereas the previously improved routes connecting these two Maryland areas (each with 20,000 population), required eight-mile detours, either south or north. Also, that two-thirds of a mile of the new road between Bethesda and Silver Spring also extends Sixteenth street to Baltimore via Laurel or Elliott City, and will ultimately become the main passenger auto road between the largest city in Maryland and the National Capital.

Holdings Are Denied.

"I testified that neither my father, my brother, myself, or any company in which I own stock, owns any land on the new highway between Bethesda and the B. & O. Railroad, a distance of over three miles of the entire three and one-half miles of this road, and that I or companies in which I own stock own approximately two-thirds of the property on about 1,000 feet of this highway east of Baltimore & Ohio Railroad to Georgia avenue in the business district of Silver Spring which property faces both on the east and west suburban road and the Maryland extension of Sixteenth street to Baltimore.

"I testified that the location in which the Bethesda-Silver Spring highway was built had been previously approved by engineers of the Maryland Roads Commission, the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission and the members of the Board of County Commissioners, and since its construction had been approved as to location and engineering by well-known city planners and numerous Montgomery County citizens' associations.

Charges Called False.

"I testified that the charge that tax and assessment "bargains" existed in great numbers in Montgomery County was unqualifiedly false and that I knew of no citizen, property owner or corporation enjoying or who had enjoyed an unfair or inequitable assessment. On the contrary, that each $100 worth of property was assessed on the same fair basis of valuation throughout Montgomery County.

"I renewed my statement made to the grand jury Wednesday of last week and which has been published in newspapers that either the charges of the Independent, if true, furnished ground for indictment of the county commissioners, county and district assessors and other county officials, including myself, or, if untrue, the charges constituted criminal libel against the county officials by those responsible for the charges appearing in the Independent."

Festival Attendance Is Voted by Students

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., March 27.—The entire student body of the State Teachers College at Harrisonburg and many of the faculty will attend the Shenandoah apple blossom festival in Winchester the latter part of April.

An invitation was put to a vote of the student body and was carried unanimously. In addition to attending and marching in a body in specially made costumes, they will bring with them an artistic float to compete for a prize. The Harrisonburg girls have attended nearly all the blossom festivals here and have never failed to win first or second prize for best artistic display. They will constitute one entire division in the queen's parade and will be escorted by a cadet band.

JAIL TERMS GIVEN TO 34 SMUGGLERS

Maryland Judge Sentences Two to Two Years and One to 18 Months.

FOUR BOYS ARE PAROLED

Easton, Md., March 27.—Sam Hill, alias Sam Stone, and George Bolton, alias Harry Cline, charged with smuggling merchandise into this country at Ocean City on December 30 last, were sentenced to two years at Atlanta Prison this afternoon by Judge Soper after the jury had brought in a verdct of guilty. Edward S. Murtha, alias McNichol, was sentenced to eighteen months, and Edward Miller, alias Edward Everett, got a fifteen-month sentence. The court, refusing to set bail pending an appeal, ordered the men taken into custody.

The 34 Ocean City men who pleaded guilty at the beginning of the trial were called before the court. The judge stated that in all his experience he had never witnessed such a scene. Men of families and young men barely out of their teens were awaiting sentences. The judge stated that it would be easy for him to discharge them, but that the law had to be upheld, and, after carefully considering each case, he sentenced the men according to the degree in which they had become involved in the operations.

Those men who had boats and trucks were sentenced to six and four months, while the rest of them got three and two months each. Four boys around 17 years old were paroled for two years.

The following are the names and the sentences imposed: Roland Driscoll, six months in jail; Eb B. Elliott, Spence J. Elliott and Crawford O. Savage, four months; Joe Buntng, John H. Elliott, Charles Hastings, George H. Jones and Harvey Lynch, each three months; James S. Bradford, Dorsey L. Cropper, Richard Hayward, Clifford Harmon, Sim Harmon, Richard Harmon, Charles Johnson, Kuna Kushela, Charles M. Kelly, Harry Powell, Orlie Powell, Elwood Parson, Thomas H. Purnell; John E. Quillen, Denard Quillen, Alfred Quillen, Walter Redden, Ralph Richardson, John W. Smith and Herman Wooten, each two months.

Man Held as Suspect In Highway Shooting
